RUSSIAN TROOPS ATTACK GERMANS SOUTH OF RIGA

Petrograd Reports That Enemy's First Line Trenches Have Been Penetrated at Several Points—Fierce Engagements Have Been Fought and Artillery Fire is Violent

GENERAL SAKHAROFF MAKES GREAT DRIVE ON LIPA

Total of 26,000 Prisoners Captured Since July 16—Teutonic Forces Retreat Rapidly—Several Successful Operations Undertaken Against Turks in Caucasus Region

PETROGRAD, July 22.—Fierce engagements have taken place south of Riga, and Russian troops have penetrated the German first lines at several points, says the official statement issued by the Russian War Office tonight.

In the Caucasus the forces of Grand Duke Nicholas have occupied Ardasa, about 13 miles northwest of Gumushkhaneh, on the Chiti Aiver.

The statement says:

"On the left wing of the Riga positions there have been several fierce engagements with the enemy. Our troops penetrated the enemy's first line works at several points. The artillery on both sides is engaged heavily.

"On the left bank of the Lipa, near the village of Sewenitchi, east of Gorsova, our patrols successfully raided a German position, capturing its entire force, consisting of an officer and 42 men.

"Our troops in the Caucasus, continuing their offensive, have occupied Ardasa, 20 versts (about 13 miles) northwest of Gumushkaneh, capturing 16 officers and 260 Turkish soldiers and 3 machine guns. The prisoners include the commander of the 29th Regiment."

Great Drive on Lipa

Russian forces have driven the Teutonic forces resisting them south of the River Lipa, in Volhynia, near the border of Galicia, beyond the town of Berestachk to the west.

More than 12,000 prisoners were captured by the Russians on Thursday and Friday, making a total of 26,000 captured since July 16.

An official statement issued today said:

"South of the Lipa we have driven the enemy westward beyond Berestechk.

"General Sakharoff on Thursday and Friday took prisoner 300 officers, including a general and a colonel, and 12,000 men, bringing captures of Austro-Germans in the operations since July 16 to a total of 25,000."

"In the region of Verokhta, on the road from Delatyn to Maramaros Sitget, we conquered heights yesterday, taking prisoners and three machine guns. West of Yaremtschie, in the same direction, we captured a company of Austrian troops and machine guns.

Turks' Position Taken

"Caucasus front—West of Platana, on the Black Sea coast, we dislodged the Turks from a series of fortified positions and advanced several versts in the direction of the Fol River. Among the prisoners taken here was Zia Bey, commandant and organizer of the tribal irregulars. We also captured the Turkish flag and hand grenade depots.

"In the capture of Gumuskhaneh, in the environs of which are abandoned silver mines, we took a number of prisoners, two guns and camp tents. Northeast of Kelkid-Chiftlik we took the offensive and captured seven officers and 120 men. Prisoners are still coming in. On the previous day in the same region we captured two field hospitals belonging to the fifth corps of the Turkish army, with their staffs and patients."

German Report

BERLIN, July 22.—An official statement issued today said: "Brandenburg regiments yesterday withstood strong Russian mass attacks on both sides of Ekau, south of Riga. The attacks were resumed in the afternoon and continued during the night hours. All attempts of the Russians broke down with the heaviest losses, the statement said."

Terrific Bombardment

PETROGRAD, July 22.—Interest is concentrated mainly on the fighting near Riga. In Riga itself there is great excitement and hopes are glowing. The noise of the bombardment is deafening and the windows in the town are rattling with the reverberations of the explosions.

Private telegrams state that the Russians already have taken three lines of German trenches and that the first party of German prisoners has reached Riga. Further news is awaited here with great eagerness.

ROYAL VISITORS SPEND BUSY DAY

Governor-General Reviews Girl Guides and Boy Scouts at Red Cross Fete—Pleasing Incidents of Visit.

The Duke of Connaught enjoyed every minute of his second day's stay in Victoria. Every item on yesterday's programme he entered into with the enthusiasm and wholeheartedness which have made him something more than the Governor General in the esteem of the people of Canada.

He was first to rise at Government House in the morning. He came downstairs, ordered an early breakfast and went out for his usual morning walk. Shortly before noon, with the Duchess, he motored over to the hospital for the Voluntary Aid Detachment at Stadacona Park. After inspecting the building and the corps of nurses there he returned to Government House, while the Duchess with Mrs. Barnard and Miss Yorke went out to the Provincial Royal Jubilee Hospital to see the Maternity Ward, which has been opened since the last visit of the viceregal party.

After that the Duchess, Mrs. Barnard and Miss Yorke motored to town and inspected the Red Cross Superfluities Shop in the Belmont Building. The Duchess was much interested in the working out of the superfluities idea, which originated in Victoria. She made a purchase to carry away as a souvenir.

Start for Oak Bay

At 3:40 o'clock the Duke and party, consisting of the Duchess, the Princess Patricia, Lieutenant-Governor Barnard, Mrs. Barnard, Lieut.-Col. Stanton, Capt. A. MacKintosh, A.D.C., Miss Yorke (lady-in waiting to the Duchess), and Mrs. Robin Dunsmuir, entered two motor cars at Government House and went out to the flower fete and country fair in aid of the Oak Bay Red Cross, held at the Oak Bay golf links. The party made the trip out by way of Foul Bay, Shoal Bay and the Marine Drive.

At the club house the party was welcomed by Mrs. Bullock-Webster and Mrs. P. S. Lampman, conveners of the fete; Mr. J. J. Shallcross, of the Oak Bay Red Cross; Mr. F. W. Jones, chairman of the Victoria and District Branch of the Red Cross; Mr. D. J. Angus, vice-chairman of the same organization, and Mr. Charles Williams, honorary secretary treasurer.

The Duke immediately went over to the inspection grounds, where the Victoria Boy Scouts were drawn up under Col. W. H. Cunliffe, district commissioner, and the Hon. T. R. Henniker, provincial scout commissioner. The Duke walked down the lines of the company, which was 96 strong, being particularly interested in two small recruits, who had joined so recently that they had not yet been able to get uniforms.

Praises Girl Guides

He then moved off to the other side of the field, where 74 Victoria Girl Guides under Guide Mistress Miss Leighton stood at attention. The Duke greeted Miss Leighton, took a quick glance at the Guides and then back at the Boy Scouts.

"You seem to be here in larger numbers than the Boy Scouts," he said.

Miss Leighton smiled with pride and then accompanied him along the lines of Guides, standing perfectly motionless. Th eDuke stopped and with much interest talked to Miss N. McFee, 11 years old, the youngest Guide on parade.

"I compliment you on the appearance of your company," he said to the Guide Mistress, when he returned to the head of the line. "They look very smart indeed."

He then went over to where the Boy Scouts had massed themselves in solid formation.

Medal for Hon. T. R. Henniker

"I am sorry I do not see you here in larger numbers," he said in a loud, clear voice. "But I am sure that all of you who are here are full of energy and courage.

"I regret that this is the last occasion on which I will see you, but I am sure you will prove worthy Boy Scouts and a credit to your country. The Boy Scouts is an institution that has come to stay and in its success I am much interested. From the Atlantic to the Pacific I never lose an opportunity of seeing the Boy Scouts."

LORD HALDANE'S VISIT TO BERLIN

LONDON, July 22.—An effort was again made in Parliament yesterday to obtain the publication of papers regarding Lord Haldane's visit to Berlin in 1912. It is believed that the exact terms of the proposals submitted to the German Government at that time would demonstrate more conclusively even than other evidence in the case, how great was the British effort to preserve the peace of Europe.

In various ways and times the British Government has been urged to publish the papers in question. Major Walter Guinness, M.P., yesterday repeated the question to the Prime Minister, who replied that conditions were unchanged since his reply last November, when he said there were reasons against the publication of the reports and correspondence relating to Lord Haldane's Berlin visit in February, 1912.

Sir Frederick Banbury suggested that Lord Haldane himself wanted the documents published, and Mr. Asquith replied that he would consult his noble friend.

The Daily Chronicle, in an editorial urging that these papers be made public, says:

"Indications of the contents of the ex-Lord Chancellor's report to the Government have leaked out from time to time, and it is quite well known that he discussed very fully in Berlin the question of any war in which France and Germany would be involved, and stated frankly what the attitude of this country would be. For instance, that Great Britain would regard the violation of the neutrality of Belgium as a ground for war, and that we were under obligations to defend France if she were invaded.

"The negotiators then, British and German, were unable to arrive at a formula which would insure peace between their two countries in the event of a Franco-German war, but one beneficial result of the visit to Berlin was that Lord Haldane brought home a serious warning as to the forward state of preparation of the German navy. The French Government was acquainted with the results of the conversations at the time, and in the public interest, and the interest of Lord Haldane alike, his despatch should now be published to the world. The publication would completely vindicate him, and his slanderers would be silenced. Anything there might be in the despatch relating to contemplated treaties could, if it were thought advisable, be omitted."

M. SAZONOFF LEAVES OFFICE

Resigns as Minister of Foreign Affairs for Russia—Duties Taken Over by M. Sturmer, Who Retains Leadership.

PETROGRAD, July 23.—Sergius Sazonoff, Minister of Foreign Affairs, has resigned. He is succeeded by Boris Vladimirovitch Sturmer, the Premier, who has taken over the office.

M. Sturmer retains the leadership. Alexei Khvostoff, the former Minister of the Interior, has been re-appointed to that office, while M. Makaroff has been appointed Minister of Justice.

M. Sazonoff retired from the Foreign Ministry at his own request.

The Emperor in a rescript referring to M. Sazonoff dwells on the zeal with which the minister followed His Majesty's suggestions, "inspired by justice and the country's honor."

The Emperor regrets that the state of M. Sazonoff's health compelled him to resign.

A recent dispatch from Petrograd by way of London reported the departure of Sergius Sazonoff for Finland to recuperate. The Assistant Foreign Minister, M. Neratoff, then assumed the headship of the Foreign Office. M. Sazonoff was appointed Foreign Minister in November, 1910. On several occasions since then he has been reported as suffering from serious illness. One of his latest official acts was the signing of the Russo-Japapese convention to maintain peace in the Far East.

Boris V. Sturmer was appointed Premier to succeed M. Goremykin last February. He also held the office of Minister of the Interior, which he now relinquishes.

Will Pay Swiss Claims

LUCERNE, July 22.—The Lucerne newspapers say that Germany and Switzerland have reached an agreement regarding the indemnities to be paid the families of Swiss victims of the sinking of the Sussex. Each government has appointed an expert who will consider the cases separately and fix the amounts to be paid.

Food Shortage in Germany

AMSTERDAM, July 22.—The Berliner Tageblatt says that at a recent conference at Damstardt with regard to the food situation, Adolph T. von Batocki, president of the German food regulation board, frankly admitted that there was a shortage of foodstuffs, especially in towns, which it was impossible to overcome. He added that he did not believe the present supply of potatoes would permit of the raising of the maximum allowance from 1½ to 2 pounds per week per head, as had been proposed.

Twenty-three of Crew Missing

ALGIERS, July 22.—A French mail steamship which arrived here today had picked up from a raft at sea seven survivors of the British ship Euphorbia, which was sunk several days ago by a submarine. No news has been received of the 23 other members of the crew.

FRENCH PROGRESS IN VERDUN REGION

Many Heavy Bombs Dropped by French Aeroplanes on Station Near Metz—British Destroy Six Air Machines.

PARIS, July 22.—The official statement issued tonight reads:

"On the right bank of the Meuse we made some progress in the region of Fluery, and captured seventy prisoners. There was no event of importance on the rest of the front.

"Contrary to the statement made in the communication of this morning, all the French aeroplanes which took part in the bombardment of the Metz-Sablons Station have returned to our lines."

The text of the afternoon statement follows:

"Between the Oise and the Aisne we dispersed a strong reconnoitering party of the enemy in the region of Moulin-sous-Toutvent.

"In the Argonne we exploded a mine with good results at Bolante. A surprise attack of the enemy against a small position at La Fille Morte was repulsed.

Shells and Bombs

"On the right bank of the Meuse there were violent bombardments of the sectors of Fleury and the Fumin wood. An attack by the enemy on a trench south of Damloup was beaten back by our fire

"In the Vosges, after a spirited bombardment, the Germans delivered an attack at 11 o'clock last night against our positions northwest of St. Die. It was repulsed with heavy losses.

"One of our aeroplane squadrons yesterday three times bombarded the railway station at Metz-Sablons, throwing 115 bombs of great size on the railway buildings and tracks. The bombardment caused great damage. In the course of one of these expeditions a German aviator who was pursuing our squadron was brought down. One of our machines was compelled to land after an attack and has not returned.

"This morning a German aviator dropped bombs on Belfort, causing neither casualities nor damage."

Aerial Successes

LONDON, July 22.—The official statement issued tonight says:

"The day passed without the occurrence of any important incident on the British front.

"Yesterday our airmen destroyed six hostile aeroplanes and forced several others to descend in a damaged condition. One of our machines was brought down by gunfire and two others are missing."

A spirited artillery duel along the British front in Northern France during which the British front line and supported trenches were bombarded with gas shells and projectiles containing eye irritants, is recorded in the earlier war office report.

The statement says:

"Nothing else of importance has occurred."

Berlin Statement

BERLIN, July 22.—The following official statement was issued today:

"In the Somme sector the enemy has been unable to resume his large uniform thrust after his defeat of the previous day. Separate attacks were repulsed without effort or stopped at their outset.

"While our troops were cleaning out a British nest in the Fourneaux wood, several dozen prisoners were made and nine machine guns were captured. Lively artillery duels continue without interruption.

"Early in the morning a French attack on several parts of the front north of Massiges failed.

"On both sides of the Meuse the artillery bombardment has temporarily increased to a higher intensity. Yesterday morning and last night enemy attacks in the Fleury sector, east of the river.

"German patrols captured 14 men in a French position northwest of St. Die, in the Vosges. On both sides there was lively activity night and day.

"Several of the enemy's air attacks caused only small military damage but losses among civilians. At Laon three children were killed and one woman severely wounded.

"The enemy lost seven aeroplanes, four of them south of Bapaume, one east of Arras, one west of Combies and one near Roye. Lieut. Wintgens disabled the tenth and Lieut. Hoehndorff his eleventh aeroplane. The kaiser bestowed the Order Pour le Merite on First Lieut. von Althaus, who conquered a biplane near Roye."

ARABS' SUCCESS AGAINST TURKS

Garrison of Medina Makes Sortie and Is Defeated With Heavy Loss—Arabs Bombarding Taif Barracks.

LONDON, July 22.—Authentic news has been received in Cairo, Egypt, says Reuter's correspondent there, that serious engagements took place recently near Medina, Arabia, between Arab revolutionists and the Turkish garrison.

The garrison made a sortie against the Arabs, who were besieging the town from the southern side.

In the fighting that followed, the Turks are said to have lost 2,500 men, while the losses of the Arab forces, under command of the Grand Sherif of Mecca, leader of the rebels, was 500. The Arabs captured a large quantity of arms.

Sherif Abdullah now is bombarding the barracks of Taif, where the Turks still are holding out. The rebels, however, expect that the garrison at Taif will capitaulate soon.

DEATH SUMMONS HOOSIER POET

James Whitcomb Riley Carried Away by Stroke of Paralysis—Death Unexpected by Doctor and Relatives.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 22.—James Whitcomb Riley died tonight at 10:50 o'clock tonight, while only Mr. Riley's nurse, Miss Clemenia Prough, was awake at the poet's home. He had asked for a drink of water, and reclined on his bed again. Miss Prough resumed her vigil, and, noticing that the poet seemed not to be resting easily, approached his bed. Mr. Riley died before she reached his side.

Mr. Riley's death was due to paralysis. He suffered a violent stroke about 7:30 o'clock this morning, and the members of his household were greatly alarmed, but under the doctor's ministrations the poet seemed to improve, and early this evening was regarded as much better.

Information was given to the public that Mr. Riley was in no danger, but within a few hours he was dead. Members of Mr. Riley's family were summoned immediately. They are his brother-in-law, Henry Eitel; his nephew, Edmund H. Eitel; and his niece, Miss Elizabeth Eitel.

Mr. Riley suffered his first violent attack of paralysis on July 10, 1910. He recovered, and seemed to be in good health until he was stricken a second time. This stroke caused a complete paralysis of his right side. The severity of the stroke wore away somewhat, until the poet's hand seemed the most affected. Mr. Riley's determination to battle against the illness was shown at that time, when he set about laboriously to learn to write with his left hand.

For several years Mr. Riley has spent his Winters in Florida, where he went accompanied by members of his household. He returned only last May, and "never felt better," as he expressed it. Since that time he has been in excellent health and spirits, and seemed unusually strong. Dr. McCulloch, the attending physician, said: Mr. Riley had been able to go to his publishers frequently, and was out in his motor car every day, even as late as Friday. The combination of his spirits and bodily strength seemed so convincing that he was far from being on the verge of a fatal illness. Mr. Riley was born in 1853, but was reticent as to his exact age. He never married. His nearest living relative is his sister, Mrs. Mary Payne, of New York.

James Whitcomb Riley, "The Hoosier Poet," was born at Greenfield, Indiana, in 1853, the son of a leading attorney of that place. He received a common school education, and, acquiring a taste for a roving life through accompanying his father about the circuits, gave up the study of the law, for which he was intended, taking to the road, first as a sign painter, then as assistant to a patent medicine peddler, and afterwards as a member of a strolling company of actors, for whom he composed songs and remodelled plays. He made a study of the "Hoosier" dialect; his poems in that vernacular were widely popular, and obtained him entrance to the magazines. Many of them appeared in The Indianopolis Journal, of whose staff he became a member.

Mr. Riley's first collection of verse, published in 1883, was "The Old Swimmin' Hole, and 'Leven More Pieces." In its publication he used the pen-name of "Benj. F. Johnson, of Boone." The combination of humor, pathos, and sentiment in Mr. Riley's verse appealed to high and low alike. Although styled "The Hoosier Poet," many of his most poetic pieces were written in ordinary English, such as "When She Comes Home," "Ike Walton's Prayer," "Dwainie," "Love's Prayer," and "Afterwhiles." His appreciation of children is manifested to a remarkable extent in many poems dealing with their experiences, and some of these are familiar to a wide circle of readers.

Mr. Riley was made a member of the American Academy of Arts and Letters, and was awarded its gold medal for poetry in 1912. He published a complete collection of his poetry in the Biographical Edition, in 1913.

SAVAGERY UNREINED

Count Zeppelin Announces That Airships and Submarines Will Be Given Full Freedom

LONDON, July 22.—A dispatch from Berne, Switzerland, to The Daily News says that Count Zeppelin in a speech to the workmen at Friedrichshafen, said:

"I have good news for you. The Kaiser has given his advisers a free hand regarding the use of airships and submarines. Be patient. Vital blows will soon be struck."

Various indications are believed here to point to the idea that Germany is about to resume submarine warfare along the old lines which in May last she undertook to abandon in deference to American representations. In some quarters it is even believed that the campaign is already under way.

Submarine activity certainly has increased recently, but no flagrant breach of the German undertaking has yet been reported.

Eugene Zimmerman's article in the Lokal Anzeiger is regarded as striking a preliminary note for German public opinion. The German representations that the Belgium relief commission utilise German ships for the conveyance of foodstuffs destined to Belgium are thought to have been devised with the object of preparing the way for a "sharpened submarine war." Several relief ships were torpedoed prior to the understanding last May.

Declared "Futile"

BERLIN, July 22.—British cavalry was employed in the offensive thrust along the Somme front on Thursday, according to yesterday's bulletin from German headquarters. Its use was futile, according to the statement.

CHIEF OFFENSIVE ON RUSSIAN SIDE

LONDON, July 22.—The Entente Allied offensive, which swings between the Western and Eastern fronts with almost clock-like regularity, and in a manner almost completely to prevent the Central Powers from making any considerable transfers of troops from front to front, now is centered on the Russian front. The forces under Gen. Sakharoff have taken the offensive energetically, and their victory in the salient formed by the junction of the Lipa and Styr Rivers, southwest of Lutsk, today, appears to be much more important than the official claims from Petrograd or the Austro-German admissions of yesterday indicate.

Gen. Sakharoff has the enemy retreating in disorderly flight before his forces. Having forced the passages of the rivers Styr and Lipa, the Russians already are beyond Berestechk, having in two days' fighting taken prisoners from the Austro-Germans 300 officers and 12,000 men. In addition, the Russians have captured a quantity of war booty. The number of Austro-Germans captured in the operations on the Eastern front since July 16, now totals 26,000.

By his success in driving the Austro-Germans from the Styr-Lipa salient, Gen. Sakharoff has established his forces firmly on the right bank of the Lipa up to 20 kilometres (about 13 miles) above its confluence with the Styr.

Meanwhile Gen. Kuropatkin is still pressing forward against the forces of Field Marshal von Hindenburg on the Dvina front, south of Riga and north of Smorgon. According to military critics in Petrograd, a battle is in operation in the neighborhood of Kovel, the objective of the Russian drive across the Stokhod, which will prove one of the most important conflicts of the whole war.

No striking news was received from the Western front today, except reports of heavy artillery actions by both sides.

The British press give great prominence to statements published in the French press and credited to General Joffre and Sir Douglas Haig, the British commander. The former is reported as saying that the Entente Allies now have the whip hand over the Central Powers, while Gen. Haig says the supreme direction of the war must be made on the Western front.

TURKISH FICTION

Statements in Last Wednesday's Report Declared by British War Office to Be Imaginary

LONDON, July 22.—An official communication issued by the War Office today states that the statement contained in the Turkish report of Wednesday last that seven vessels were captured by Turks on the Euphrates River in Mesopotamia, and that the British had been defeated near there, are imaginary.

A new advance of Turkish forces on the Sinai peninsula to within thirty miles of the Suez Canal, has been reported to the British authorities, who announced today that British cavalry had come in contact with the Turks, and that manoeuvres were being taken by the chief command in Egypt, to meet the Turkish movement.

FIGHTING FOR POSITIONS ON SOMME RIVER FRONT

Efforts of British Forces to Gain and Hold Higher Ground Meet With Difficulties—Enemy Brings Up More Men and Guns—Brave Deeds of Highland Troops.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN THE FIELD, July 20 (via London, July 22).—(By Philip Gibbs)—The present stage of our advance is causing us very hard fighting for important positions on high ground, which must be gained and held before new progress over the open country is possible. The enemy is gathering up reserves and flinging them against us to check the onward movement at all costs, and it seems to me that he has brought up new batteries of heavy guns, because his artillery fire is increasing.

The prisoners reveal the anxiety that reigns behind the German lines, where there is no attempt to minimize the greatness of our menace. The Germans are straining every nerve to organize a new and formidable resistance. Today, however, they lost many men and valuable ground, not only in fighting the British troops, but with the French, who at Maurepas and other positions on our right made successful advances.

Enemy Suffers

In the early hours of this morning, after a long bombardment, which made the night very dreadful with noise and the sky vivid with the light of bursting shells, the attack was made by our troops on high ground between Delville wood and High wood, and to the west of these positions. The enemy, in great strength, maintained a strong defence, but suffered severely, and was forced to retreat in disorder upon some parts of the line.

We were firing "grandmothers" and "aunties," those 15-inch and 12-inch shells, which go roaring through the air, and explode with vast earth-shaking crashes, and the Germans replied with "coal scuttles."

"They were the real Jack Johnson," said a Devonshire lad, who had a piece of one in his right shoulder. "Those brutes had not been seen, I'm told, since Ypres, except in one or two places, but they came over as fast as hand grenades. You know the kind of hole they make. It is forty feet across and deep enough to bury a whole platoon."

But they did not suffer from all this gunfire. As they manned the trenches in the darkness the shells passed over them, and few were hurt.

The attack was made before dawn on a rising slope of ground toward the high roads which used to go across the Bois de Foureaux, or High wood, as we call it, to Delville wood. Now there was no road, for our bombardment had torn up the earth into a deep crater. The Germans had a line of dugouts here, built since July 1, but well built.

As soon as our men were upon them, German soldiers who had been hiding below ground came up like rabbits when ferrets are at work. Most of them ran away, as hard as they could, stumbling and falling over the broken ground.

"They ran so hard," said one of our men, "that I could not catch up with them. It was a queer kind of race, us chasing them and they running. The only Germans I came up with were dead ones."

Eager to Surrender

But some of the Germans did not run. They came forward through the half darkness of dawn with their hands raised. A Cornish boy I knew took five prisoners, who crowded around him, crying, "Kamerad," so that he felt like the old woman in the shoe.

Up to that point our casualties were very slight, but later, on the higher ground, the German machine gun fire swept across the ground of the old trenches and above the high rims of the shell craters. But our men swept on. The troops were working round High wood on the left, and in the centre the men were advancing into the wood itself and forging forward over fallen trees and branches and the bodies of German dead. German shells crashed about them, but these segments of ours were determined to get on and hold on, and during the day they have organized strong patrols and captured the western side and all the southern part of this point.

The situation at Longueval and Delville wood has been very full of trouble for our men ever since taken by some of our Highland regiments on July 14. The enemy made repeated counter-attacks from the upper end of the village, where he still held some machine gun emplacements, and kept a way open through the benches here on the north so that he could send up supports and supplies.

From the north also he concentrated a heavy artillery fire on the eastern part of Delville wood, which was held by some of our South African troops, and maintained a vilent barrage.

Highlanders' Tenacity

Nevertheless the Highlanders have held on for nearly a week, with dogged endurance that frustrated all efforts of the enemy to get back to their old ground.

The gallantry of those men who wear the tartans of the old Scottish clans would seem wonderful if not habitual with them. Their first dash for Longueval was one of the finest exploits of the war. They were led forward by pipers, who went with them not only toward the German lines but across them and into the thick of battle.

It was to the tune of "The Campbells Are Coming" that one regiment went forward, and that music was heard with terror beyond doubt by the German soldiers. Then the pipes screamed out the charge, the most awful music to be heard by men who have Highlanders against them, and with fixed bayonets and hand grenades they stormed the German trenches. Here and there many concealed machine gun emplacements and dugouts were so strong that no shell could smash them. Some of them were great vaults and concrete chambers of great depth, where many Germans could find cover. But the Highlanders went down into them with great recklessness, two or three men flinging themselves into the vaults where their enemies were packed. I was told by one of their colonels that in the bombing down the communication trenches they threw all caution to the winds, and while some of the men went along the trenches, others ran along on top under a heavy fire, cheering their comrades on and leaping down upon the enemy.

Stubborn Defence

The Germans defended themselves with most stubborn courage, and even now, or at least as late as last night, they still served some machine guns at one point from which it had been found difficult to dislodge them. They are down in concrete emplacements, from which they can send out a continual sputter of bullets. Down the way of what was once a street the Highlanders dug trenches across the village. The enemy barraged the village with progressive lines of heavy shells, yard by yard, but by the best of luck his lines stopped short of where some ranks of Highlanders, lying down in fours, were using frightful words to keep up their spirits.

The casualties were heavy among the officers and men, but the Highlanders held on with wonderful spirit. It is this spirit which I saluted today with reverence when I met these men marching out of the fire zone. They brought their music with them, and the pipes of war were playing the love song, "I Lo'e nae Laddie but Ane, an' He Lo'es nae Lassie but Me." Their kilts were caked with mud, stained with blood and filth, but the men were beautiful, marching briskly with fine pride in their eyes. The officers and men of other regiments watched them pass, and saluted them as men who had fought with heroic courage, so that the dirtiest of them and the humblest was a fine gentleman and worthy of knighthood.

Many of them wore German helmets and grinned beneath them. One brawny Scot had the cap of a German staff officer cocked over the ear. One machine gun section brought down two German machines besides their own. They were very tired, but held their heads up, and the pipers who had been playing with them blew out their bags bravely, though hard up for wind, and the Scottish love song was running out across the fields.

HALF the comfort of a shirt is in the neckband. Isn't it strange then that men will go on struggling with shirts that pinch and bind at the neck when they might have ease and all the other things that go with a good shirt by simply asking for shirts bearing the "Red Label"?

ROYAL PARTY VISITS V.A.D. HOSPITAL

The Duke and Duchess of Connaught, accompanied by Mrs. Barnard, and attended by Miss Yorke and Capt. MacKintosh, went to Stadacona Park shortly before noon yesterday, to inspect the hospital of the Voluntary Aid Detachment, in which the sick of the 103rd Battalion were looked after during the four months previous to their departure from Victoria for England.

The vice-regal party were received at the Stadacona Avenue entrance by the officers of the Detachment. Mrs. Barnard introduced Mrs. Charles Wilson, the Commandant, to the Duke and Duchess, and Mrs. Wilson presented the following officers: Mrs. Curtis Sampson, quartermaster; Miss Kenpedy, the lady superintendent; Mrs. Hanington, chief nurse, and Dr. Home, medical officer and fleet surgeon, who appeared in uniform.

Others present were Ald. Dilworth, chairman of the parks committee of the City Council, to whom his Royal Highness expressed his admiration of the garden; Mr. A. J. Dallain, president of the St. John Ambulance Association; Mr. W. W. Grime, formerly secretary of the St. John Ambulance Association.

At the front of the hospital were drawn up the members of the Volunteer Aid Detachment, wearing blue and white uiforms, with red crosses and white caps. The Duke seemed to appreciate their appearance.

Dr. Home then read an account of the formation of the detachment.

"Luckily the militia department, just before the war had issued a pamphlet on Voluntary Aid," he said, "and several ladies in Victoria, who had attended courses and gained the St. John Ambulance Association's certificates in first aid and home nursing, realized they could best serve the soldiers, help the department, and satisfy their own patriotic enthusiasms by coordinated joint effort in a voluntary aid detachment. This they accordingly formed. You see it, sir, before you, and it has been recognized by the department and has received the mark of official approval in its registration as 'Canada 4.'

Training Work

"Throughout the Winter the detachment was working at drill and stretcher drill, and in Spring, when the soldiers did begin to return, the military hospitals commission had the hospital at Esquimalt prepared for them, and at the opening this detachment was able to do a good deal to help, but the plans of the commission were so complete that when things had once settled down voluntary aid was little wanted there. Now this detachment merely sends to Esquimalt a working party every Friday to see to the mending of the linen. But the detachment, finding there was not enough work for it at Esquimalt, appealed to the city, which lent it this commodious house in its so charming position, and the ladies set themselves at once to fit it for a hospital in case it should be at any time required.

"An opportunity soon came. The overseas battalions organized here were badly off for regimental infirmaries, which were equipped for them generally by the Daughters of the Empire or the Red Cross Society.

"But when this hospital was becoming available the 103rd Battalion, quartered in the new drill hall, had a specially uncomfortable sick-room and a particularly heavy sick list, and Col. Henniker asked the commandant to take their sick into this hospital, promising that the regiment would give all the help it possibly could, a promise fully carried out later.

Services Appreciated

"With great courage the ladies gave their consent, called on their friends for assistance, and opened this hospital on March 22. During the 116 days, or four months, it was in full swing, 240 patients were received, and the daily average number of beds occupied was 21.

"The patients were very satisfied with the care they got, and the regiment too was grateful, as shown both in word and deed at a special parade to which the detachment was invited, when the colonel thanked the ladies and marched the regiment past the Voluntary Aid Detachment to salute it. Besides they presented an illuminated address, which is in the hospital.

"The work has been at times strenuous, but it has all along been just the work that the ladies desired, giving them the opportunity to do something definite to help the Empire in the war and to serve the soldiers, to whom our indebtedness is unending and immeasurable. I am directed to say in conclusion that the fact that your royal highness should have graciously honored the detachment and its hospital with a visit is a deep gratification and a valued mark of appreciation

THOUSANDS GO TO RED CROSS FETE

Country Fair and Flower Show Under Royal Auspices Proves Eminent Success—Features Are Thoroughly Enjoyed.

A more beautiful site for a garden fete than the famous sea-girt golf links at Oak Bay could scarcely be imagined. Yesterday afternoon, when brilliant sunshine, picturesque costumes and flower-decked booths lent an air of gaiety, they were transformed into a veritable fairy-land. The magnificent expanse of rich green sward made a most fitting background for the various events of the festival.

The presence of Their Royal Highnesses, the Duke and Duchess of Connaught, and the Princess Patricia, whose approaching departure from Canada is so keenly regretted, was an added attraction to the many thousands in attendance. The vice-regal party evinced the greatest interest in the various events and attractions held during the afternoon.

The Royal visitors, with their party, arrived promptly at 4 o'clock, being welcomed and escorted to the parade ground by the committee in charge of the fete. The Duchess wore a white serge suit, with black and white hat. The Princess was charmingly attired in a white costume with rose-colored picture hat. Miss Yorke was in an attractive white costume and black hat. Mrs. F. Barnard, wife of Lieutenant-Governor Barnard, wore a rose silk suit, with large white hat. Lieutenant-Governor Barnard, with Mr. Muskett, were in attendance on the party.

Presented With Bouquets

When the vice-regal party arrived introductions followed, and Mrs. Bullock-Webster and Mrs. Lampman, who were the conveners of this festival, and Mr. Shallcross and Mr. Williams, were then presented to the Royal visitors and their suite. Miss Tina MacDonald presented a magnificent bouquet of fragrant mauve sweet peas and wistaria to the Duchess and one of wistaria and sweet peas in shades of pink to the Princess, who received the beautiful gift with a gracious smile. The entire party then proceeded to the centre of the links, where the inspection of the boy scouts and girl guides took place. While the Duke, with his aides, reviewed the two companies, the ladies of the party remained seated.

The distinguished party then walked back to the Club House for afternoon tea, stopping on the way to examine the various booths and attractions.

The ladies' card room in the commodious club house was transformed into a veritable bower of beauty for the occasion. Rare china and elegant silverware adorned the prettily decorated table, at which the most delicious refreshments were served to the visitors.

Mrs. Bullock-Webster and Mrs. Lampman performed very graciously the duties and in this instance privileges, of hostesses, prettily attired in stylish costumes. This little room, with its chintz curtain hangings, attractive wicker furniture, and soft rugs, was arranged in an effective color scheme of old rose and delft blue. The pretty bouquets and garlands of Dorothy Perkins roses, adorning the tables, chandeliers and walls, created a beautiful and decorative background befitting the occasion. The decorations of this refreshment room were the result of the untiring zeal and skilful handiwork of Mrs. Lampman, with Mrs. Evan Thomas, and Miss Stikeman as her clever assistants.

About 5:30 p.m., the party then re-entered their waiting cars, leaving as the strains of the National Anthem were being played by the 5th Regiment Band.

Maypole Dance

A very pretty feature of the afternoon's attractions was the Maypole Dance, performed by the following little girls in white garland-trimmed dresses: Dorothy Geake, Gladys Hemingway, Elsie Fisher, Audrey Lee, Iona Porter, Helen Cameron, Gertrude Gosse, Dorothy Neary, Marjorie Gibbons, Edna Hale, Kathleen Palmer and Neta Wrigglesworth. Little Queenie Ball made a very pretty May Queen. The yellow, pink and blue streamers attached to the Maypole, which was surmounted by a coronet of May flowers, were held by eight older girls in picturesque shepherdess costumes and holding flower-covered crooks, stood in the outer circle. They were the Misses Zelba Ormond, Jessie Greer, Marjorie Goss, Ella Simpson, Eleanor McLennan, Helen Straith, Myrtle Patrick,, Dorothy McAdam.

To Mrs. Geo. Simpson belongs the credit for the success of this pretty performance, as also the direction of the minuette dance performed by the following young people, dressed in the picturesque costumes of the Victorian era: Dorothy Geake, Marjorie Gibbons, Kathleen Gauns, Irene Bailey, John Davidson, Nellie Catterall, Ivy Phillips, Charlie Ozard.

Theatrical Act

On an elevated platform, with a background of square white pillars, each surmounted by a pot of flowers and decorated with Dorothy Perkins rose climber, the theatrical act, under the capable direction of Mrs. Davis, was staged. This performance attracted a large crowd of spectators, who applauded heartily the various numbers.

The following is the programme offered by this talented amateur company:

Opening Chorus—"Here We Are Again" ..... "Odds and Ends"
"Now Are We All Here?" ..... "Charlie Chaplin" and Chorus
Lce.-Cpl. Kenning
"The Pipes of Pan"..... "Peter Pan"
Grace Rosher
Little Pink Petti..."Miss Phyllis Dare"
Miss Hart
Duet—"Married and Single" .....

"He Was Very, Very Kind to Me"... ..... "Harry Lauder"

"Mary From Tipperary"..."Elsie Janis"
Mamie Fraser
"That Beastly Eyeglass"..."Vesta Tilley"
Mrs. Rochfort
"Put All Your Troubles in Your Old Kit Bag" ..... "Pte. Perks"
Mrs. Carlyle Quinn
"Keep the Home Fires Burning" ..... "Odds and Ends" Troupe

The minuette and Japanese Love Song were also presented on this platform, the Japanese act being given by Mona Hobbs, Francis Hall, Doris Baker, Doris Mattram, Elsie Fisher, Queenie Ball, Elsie White, Daisy Barrett and Chinese Sam Baker Sofe Staff, Thelma Young, Margaret Smith, Jane Staff, Rosy Phillips, Ada Phillips and Doris Morley, with little Dorothy Tribe as soloist. This was under the able direction of Mrs. J. C. Newberry.

Attractive Booths

A very pretty flower booth was in charge of Mrs. Rattenbury, and a sweet lavender booth in charge of Misses Mary Rattenbury, Dolly McBride, Mary Jameson did a flourishing business. In the lavender booth, a dog, loaned by Mrs. Duce, assisted in the sale of fragrant bunches of lavender and sachets.

The prettily decorated candy booth conducted by Mrs. Neame, with the Misses Pitts, Neame, Nation, Lawson and Helmcken, also attracted many generous customers. All the candy was arranged in red and white boxes, carrying out the Red Cross colors.

The ice cream booth also experienced a good business and was soon sold out. This booth was in charge of Mrs. Galley and Mrs. F. Woolaston, with Mrs. Curtis and the Misses Duncan, Crowther, Bridgman, Luxton, Jones, G. Pitts Hodgins, Oliver and Irving.

A "Touch and Take" booth, in charge of Mrs. Fleming and Miss Hilda Fleming, also conducted a flourishing business, many trying their luck in the selection of the wrapped packets, small and large, and many were the comic surprises given to the purchaser on opening the package. They reported their receipts as being $46.50.

The country fair was well carried out in the booth containing all kinds of goodies, jellies, preserves, cakes, eggs, cereals, biscuits, meat and many other articles of food. This booth was in charge of Mrs. Allison and Mrs. Monn and the Misses Homer, Watson, Isabel Munn and Jessie Campbell.

Mrs. Bessonette had charge of a rack on which were mounted wounded soldiers and sailors, at which many people tried their luck. A Punch and Judy show was also an amusing attraction given by the Rainbow Troupe.

Mrs. Ritet Hamilton was ensconsed in a corner of the clubhouse, converted into a studio for the occasion. She sketched the profiles of many prominent citizens.

Gypsy Encampment

The gypsy encampment, depicted in real gypsy fashion, was under the direction of Mrs. S. Maclure, Miss Bick and Miss Le Neveu. The little Misses B. Robertson, McGaffey, Findlay, Gibson and Master Gibson represented the children in the camp. Here were sold pottery, baskets, jewellery, china and old English curios, also a bracelet, donated by Mrs. W. J. Roper, to be raffled.

Mrs. Norman Lee in the picturesquely quaint costume of a market woman, sold various miscellaneous wares. Mr. Wright Hill also assisted in carrying out the idea of the Country Fair, acting as Town Crier, very efficiently indeed.

Many small children enjoyed a ride in the little cart, behind the little donkey, which was in charge of Toby Hodgins, Danny Lee and Dick Houghton, wearing quaint brown smocks and felt hats.

Mrs. M. P. Gordon had charge of the Archery competition in the unavoidable absence of Mrs. Roper. The clock golf game was in charge of Mrs. Wm. Todd, assisted by Mrs. Charles Todd and Miss Mara. Their receipts were $20. The putting green was under the direction of Misses MacDowall, M. Pitts and Pemberton, and their receipts were $10.25.

Mrs. Doe and Mrs. Floyd supervised very capably the work in the tea enclosure, and had as their assistants, Mrs. Gowan, Mrs. Homer, Mrs. Hewitt, Mrs. Fraser, Mrs. H. B. Johnson, Mrs. Lukes, Mrs. E. P. Johnston, Mrs. McB. Smith, Mrs. Baxter, Mrs. Perry, Mrs. Galt, Misses Grayson, Williamson and Miss Raper, with about forty young ladies, serving.

The Roman bag which was raffled was won by holder of ticket No. 308 and can be procured by applying at the Oak Bay Red Cross Rooms.

At a late hour last evening the total cash receipts were announced to be a little over the sum of $1,700. The sum received at the gates was about $1,000 and as the parents of all the Boy Scouts and Girl Guides, as well as all soldiers and sailors wearing uniforms were admitted free, it is estimated the number of people on the grounds during the afternoon as over 5,000.

The committee in charge of the arrangements desires to express its thanks to the residents of Gordon Head District, who, through Mr. McConnell, of "Madrona Farm," donated a very generous contribution of farm produce; to the band of the Fifth Regiment for the excellent programme; to the men of that regiment who assisted on the ground; to the pipers of the 50th Gordon Highlanders; to all others who so ably assisted and to the press.

The results of the children's sports held on the southern part of the grounds follow:

1. Wheelbarrow race for boys; three entries—1, S. George and M. George.
2. Skipping race for girls, three entries—1, Miss K. Fisher.
3. Potato race for boys and girls, six entries—1, K. Price.

THE SOLDIERS' VOTE

The Act to provide an opportunity for soldiers from British Columbia serving with the colors to exercise their franchise at the coming Provincial Election passed the House without a division. To the best of our recollection it passed without any adverse criticism. However, the Opposition members have felt about it, they dared not go on record as opposing it. They knew it would be carried and they did not want to appear as hostile to it; but they feared its result then and they fear it now. They realize that the Moratorium, the Allied Forces Exemption Act, the Acts providing for pre-emptors' free grants, for soldiers' homesteads and homestead loans and the War Relief Act will profoundly influence the opinions of the soldiers, as they ought legitimately to do, in favor of the Government. Something had to be done to offset this influence. Only one way was open, namely to create if possible, an impression that the measure is intended to be and will be employed as an instrument of fraud, and this the Liberals are now striving to do with the assistance of at least one Conservative malcontent. It is fondly hoped that a sufficient number of persons can be found to believe the soldiers ready to be a party to fraud to offset by their ballots at home what may be the voice of our troops outside of the Province. We say deliberately that they are endeavoring to convince Stay-at-Home British Columbians that their fellow-voters who are serving with the colors will be a party to fraud. This will appear from consideration of the provisions of the Act, which may be thus summarized: The volunteer who cast his ballot places it in an envelope which he himself seals and upon which he endorses his affidavit proving his right to vote. This envelope he places in a receptacle with which it is impossible for anyone to tamper. This receptacle is sealed in turn and that seal is not broken except in the presence of a Liberal scrutineer. Personation, always to be feared, is especially guarded against. The voter, before he casts his ballot, must make an affidavit as to his identity. There is no chance for fraud under these circumstances. It would puzzle even Mr. M. A. Macdonald's Seattle "plugging brigade" to discover how they could falsify a vote cast in this way.

The Liberals really do not fear fraud. What they fear is an expression of the political opinions of the soldiers. They dared not attempt by opposing the Act to disfranchise at least twenty-five per cent of the electorate; but knowing they have no chance of getting that vote, they do not hesitate to impugn the integrity of the soldier citizens of British Columbia. Nothing is safe from the venom of the men who parade as Liberals. They attack the honesty of the members of the ministry; they question the integrity of the Government supporters in the House; they malign every man suspected of an intention to support the Government and they fill up their cup of iniquity by suggesting that any one and all of the thirty-six thousand men who have gone out to serve the Empire may be parties to election frauds. When Mr. Macdonald brought his pluggers from Seattle, he did not require of them that they should perjure themselves before voting in the names of other people; but neither he, nor Mr. Brewster, nor the Liberal press hesitates about asserting that the sworn ballots of Canadian soldiers may be fraudulent. It is like them to assert that the soldiers of the King will be parties to fraud; they probably rate them no higher than they did the pluggers from Seattle.

THE GENERAL SITUATION

No particulars of importance were contained in yesterday's dispatches from the Western front, but such news as was given out was of a very encouraging nature. The German staff has been publishing a statement to the effect that the offensive of the Allies has ceased. This was issued immediately after the French had captured several miles of German first line trenches, and were simply of a piece with the other untruthful statements that have emanated from official quarters in Berlin. The tone of the Berlin announcements indicates an extremely nervous condition at German headquarters. They are flippant and extravagant, but are, of course, intended only for home consumption. There will be a [illegible] day of reckoning when the German people learn how they have been [illegible] being deceived.

An [illegible] feature of the Western [illegible] is the methodical way in which it is proceeding. There is no haste to achieve spectacular results. The British and French commanders are restraining the impetuosity of their men. This is the explanation of the lulls that occur from time to time in actual advancing. A Rotterdam dispatch says that the enemy is preparing for a great offensive along the Somme. We record this, although experience has shown that Rotterdam dispatches are not to be relied on.

All the news seems to show that the German offensive before Verdun has been brought to a standstill, at least, temporarily. It has been a ghastly performance. One may be justified in doubting if ever before in the history of war so many lives were sacrificed for so little purpose as the Crown Prince has offered up on the altar of dynastic ambition.

Russian successes on the Eastern front were reported from three spheres of activity, yesterday. One was before Riga, where they took three German lines of trenches, a novel experience for men under General von Hindenburg to be called upon to suffer. Another was on the River Lipa. Russian success here was reported on Friday, and it seems to have been pushed further, for we are told that the toll of prisoners taken now exceeds 26,000 men. The third success was in Transsylvania, where Russian cavalry has crossed the mountains and is in a position to threaten the Austrian lines of communication. Additional success is reported from the Caucasus and also from the Italian frontier.

PACIFISISM UP TO DATE

Mr. H. Sefton-Jones, who describes himself as "Pacifist and a Free Trader," has been expressing his ideas in a pamphlet, and The London Daily Telegraph gives the following summary of his programme for the Allies for at least five years after the war. Some of us, who have not claimed to be Pacifists, have hardly yet gone as far as Mr. Sefton Jones. Here is the summary:

Repatriation immediately after the war of all interned Germans throughout the British Empire. Unless this is carried out with relentless and systematic precision (1), the concealed war in our territory against the national welfare will be resumed by every underhand means which the perverted ingenuity of the foe can devise; (2) the thousands of interned Germans will compete with our returning soldiers for situations. Further the simultaneous return of all Germans to their Fatherland will transfer to that country the problem of their support, and thereby add further to the effectiveness of the international Interdict.

All ports of the Allies closed to German seamen, and to ships owned by Germans or sailing under the German flag.

All German investments, patents, royalties, copyrights and goodwill of every kind should, during the embargo, be held for the benefit of the State, Colony or Dominion in which they accrue, in liquidation of the war indemnities.

Imposition of a differential tariff on all goods of German origin, amounting to at least 25 per cent. ad valorem over and above any taxation imposed on such goods imported from elsewhere.

If this is the way a professed Pacifist and Free Trader thinks, what shall we expect from people of a more belligerent frame of mind? He lays down what certainly would be a highly effective programme, and if all readers will not be willing to accept it in its entirety, the majority of them will agree that he is thinking along right lines. Mr. Sefton-Jones refers to the repatriation of interned Germans, but he probably would include Austrians as well. But is repatriation sufficient? After the war the Teutonic Empires will be burdened with enormous taxation and millions of their people will seek to escape it by emigration. Shall the gates of the British Empire be left open to them? For ourselves, we answer in the negative, and we think we express the opinion of ninety-nine per cent. of Canadians. The gates should be closed against them for some years to come, for a long enough time to compel those empires by internal pressure to burst the bonds of the Habsburgs, the Hohenzollerns et hoc omne genus.

The Associated Press correspondent, who visited the Warspite, will find greater difficulty than ever in believing the German tale that she is reposing at the bottom of the sea.

Count Zeppelin says the Kaiser has given him a free hand, and that we may look for startling developments. Just what particular nursery has the grey-haired old reprobate in mind?

It has been mentioned to The Colonist that as the five battalions now at Vernon are not likely to go forward as units, but as drafts, it might be found advisable to permit a sufficient number of the smaller men in their ranks to join the Bantams so as to bring that corps up to strength. We are not in a position to express any opinion on this proposal, but give it whatever advantage there may be in publicity.

A correspondent speaks of the Conservative influence of women. Of course, he does not speak in a political sense. It would not have occurred to us so to describe the influence of women. Rather would be disposed to think their influence as aggressive in the direction of change. The demand of women for the ballot proves that they are dissatisfied with existing conditions, and this is the very reverse of conservatism. If our correspondent will refresh his memory as to the careers of the great women in history, he will hardly feel like describing them as exhibiting conservative tendencies.

An English contemporary comments favorably upon the fact that practically all Canadian officers were in civil life up to the breaking out of the war. This may be a surprise to some professional soldiers, to whom the possibility of men qualifying themselves in so short a time for commands seemed hardly possible, but it is fair to mention that a very great many Canadians though in civil life, had experience in the militia. Nevertheless, a surprisingly large number of them were wholly without military experience when the war began. We do not know that it is necessary to seek for an explanation. The fact is all that concerns us now.

A correspondent, who says she knows quite well why the expression "covers were laid," used in speaking of a dinner, means, would like to be told why it is so used. If our correspondent would like to be quite correct, she would write: "couverts were laid"—couvert being an English word recognized by all the best dictionaries. A "couvert," in the French originally meant a knife, fork, spoon and napkin. It has been extended to include all the utensils used by an individual at the table. The change from "couverts" to "covers" was natural enough, but was really the result of the confusion of two words of almost the same sound. It is now recognized as good English. The expression "covers were laid" is exactly the equivalent of "places were set." It is quite correct, although unusual, to say "a cover was laid" for one person.

ROYAL PARTY VISITS V.A.D. HOSPITAL

which will never be forgotten, and will give the ladies strength for whatever exertion the future work of the detachment may demand."

Work Merits Praise

The Duke, replying to this address, expressed his admiration of the work of the V.A.D.

"Your duties are as difficult as those performed by anyone else at this time," said he. "You have come forward at a moment when your services were needed, and I am sure that the whole nation is indebted to your organization as a whole for the very fine work which you have done. Here in Canada the Voluntary Aid Detachment is not quite so well known as it is in England, where the order is older and has done a great deal of work in connection with the present war. I thank you one and all."

Led by Mrs. Charles Wilson, the party went through the building. The visitors then signed the register and the Duke and Duchess noticing the pictures of Queen Victoria and King Edward, promised to send their own portraits to the hospital.

The Duke recalled that he had seen the 103rd Battalion on his way across the continent. He said that he had met Dr. Thomas, former medical officer of the hospital, and Colonel Henniker, whose father had been on the Duke's staff some years ago.

As they left the hospital the Royal Party found the detachment drawn up on the lawn and witnessed a stretcher drill in which Mrs. Burton, Mrs. Pierce, Miss Whitton, Miss Orwin, Miss Egerton and Miss Chadwick took part.

The Duke and Duchess were presented with a photograph of the members of the detachment, along with the officers of the 103rd Battalion.

TO START OVERSEAS AT AN EARLY DATE

No. 4 Tunneling Company, C.E.F., Commanded by Major J. R. Roaf, Receives First Orders

"Get ready for an early departure."

An order, in effect as quoted, has been received by Major J. R. Roaf, of this city, who is in command of No. 4 Tunneling Company, which was mobilized in Nanaimo and recruited from all parts of Vancouver Island. He expects to leave any day, and is making preparations to get away as soon as the final instructions come from Ottawa.

The authorized strength of the unit is 285 all ranks, and the present strength is approximately 160, or a trifle over half of the number required to make up a complete establishment. As will be seen, Major Roaf wants more men, and he stated yesterday, in the course of a visit which will extend over several days, that he will take any man of military age who proves to be medically fit and is suited to the class of work which the corps will undertake at the front. The opportunity, therefore, is presented to those who wish to start for England without delay. They can enter No. 4 Company, obtain complete equipment, and sail immediately for the Canadian training base in England, with a promise of being dispatched to the war zone in a comparatively short time.

Major Roaf, while without his full complement, considers that the response to his appeal for volunteers has been well above the average in results. He asserts that man have come forward from all districts of the Island in numbers which, when the many who already have gone forward is remembered, are not at all unsatisfactory. He is looking forward to the filling up of his company at Shorncliffe, Bramshott, Otterpool, or some of the other Canadian camps in the Old Country. Naturally, however, he is anxious to take as many Western Canadians with him as possible, and trusts that, before the last orders for embarkation come to hand, his corps will be brought nearer to the mark laid down by the regulations for such an establishment.

Every officer of No. 4 Company is a qualified engineer with actual practical experience in the work which they will be required to direct in France. A point mentioned in this connection is that there are two vacancies for commissions which will not be filled in Canada, it being Major Roaf's policy to give the men in the ranks, who make good, some chances for the reward of their services.

The members of the staff at present follow:

Major J. R. Roaf, commanding; Hon. Capt. James McKinell, quartermaster; Lieut. R. C. Thompson, formerly of the B. C. Horse; Lieut. Clarke Gamble, formerly of the 5th Regiment C.G.A.; Lieut. Gordon Stirrett, formerly of the 72nd Regiment Seaforth Highlanders; Lieut. L. H. Chittenden, formerly of the 72nd Regiment Seaforth Highlanders; Lieut. Monkton Case, formerly of the 103rd Battalion C.E.F.; and Lieut. E. S. Bate, formerly of the 30th B.C. Horse.

NOMINATING CONVENTIONS

Vancouver and Victoria Conservatives Will This Week Name List of Candates for Next Elections

At one of the most largely attended metings ever held by the party Conservatives of Vancouver, on Friday evening, it was unanimously determined to request the executive of the Conservative Association to hold a nominating convention for the purpose of naming a party ticket for the forthcoming Provincial elections. The names placed in nomination at the former convention will be withdrawn and a new list decided upon. The convention will be held on Thursday evening next, the 27th inst., the same date on which the Victoria Conservatives will select their ticket. At the Vancouver meeting, addresses were delivered by Mr. H. H. Stevens, M. P., Hon. Dr. McGuire and others and all were given a most enthusiastic reception.

Next Thursday's convention here will be one of the most representative gatherings of Conservatives in the history of Victoria. It will be held in the new quarters of the recently organized Conservative Club, in the Union Bank building. A full representation of delegates from the five wards of the city will be present. After the balloting, speeches will be delivered by the leading members of the party.

While the Scouts stood at attention, the Duke took from his aide a Silver Wolf medal hung on a ribbon, which he placed around the neck of the Hon. T. R. Heneage. This was presented to Mr. Heneage for "having done particularly good work as Scout Commissioner for British Columbia for a long time." It was given by the Duke of Connaught as Chief Scout.

The inspection over, the Duke called for three cheers for the King. The cheering was led by the Duke himself, with his cap in hand, and joined in by the Boy Scouts, with their broad-rimmed hats being waved on the end of their staves. Mr. Heneage then called for cheers for the Duke, which were followed by Col. Cuniliffe calling for cheers for the Duchess and the Princess Patricia.

The Boy Scouts and the Girl Guides then formed and marched past the Duke. After this the vice-regal party watched some exhibitions of scout craft by the boys.

Buy Flowers and Souvenirs

Mr. Shallcross took charge of the party and conducted them over the Fair. The attendants at every booth were presented in turn to the royal visitors, who bought several large bouquets of flowers, some candies, and many souvenirs. At the Gypsy encampment, in charge of Mrs. S. Maclure, the Duchess and the Princess became interested in a pair of small China blue dog ornaments from Nankin. Before the Duchess and the Princess were allowed to leave they had bought the pair for $2.

Afternoon tea was served them in the club house, and as they were about to enter the motor cars, to return to Government House, the Duke remembered that he had not seen the vaudeville show called "Mysterious Odds and ends," presented under the charge of Mrs. Davis. The Duke enjoyed the comedy immensely.

Girl Guides Again

While he was in that part of the grounds, he happened to notice Guidemistress Miss Leighton in the crowd. He greeted her again, telling her how well he thought the Girl Guides had marched and what a smart appearance they had presented. He said he was sorry that they had not been given a better chance in the review. He then presented Miss Leighton to the Duchess and the Princess.

Leaving the vaudeville, the party returned to their motor cars waiting in front of the clubhouse. Ranged around in a circle were several dozen amateur and professional photographers, who the police had great difficulty in keeping from pressing in on the motor cars. As the party were entering the cars, there was a continual click-click from the cameras and kodaks.

Thanks Mr. Shallcross

The cars were just about to start when the Duke suddenly stepped from the door of his car and came back towards the clubhouse, calling for Mr J. J. Shallcross, who had conducted the party over the grounds. The Duke said he had nearly gone off without thanking Mr. Shallcross and bidding him farewell.

The two shook hands. The Duke entered his car again. The Fifth Regiment Band struck up God, Save the King, and, amid cheers, the party set out on their return to Government House.

The vice-regal party were entertained at Government House, at an informal dance, last night, at which there were a dozen guests. There was a supper served at midnight.

At the request of the Duke, two pews have been reserved for the 11 o'clock service at Christ Church Cathedral, this morning. Last night, it had not been decided what members of the party would attend the service. This afternoon, it is likely that the party will take a long motor drive in the country.

Tomorrow, His Royal Highness will visit the military camp at Sidney.

Mr. Copley was 78 years of age, of French parentage, and had been in America since 1852. He had lived in Shawnigan since 1875. He died Friday week at Duncan hospital. PREMIER AT ROSSLAND

Accorded Hearty Welcome by Citizens of Golden City—Banquet Tendered by Business Men

ROSSLAND, B. C., July 22.—Premier Bowser and his Ministers, Hon. Lorne Campbell, Hon. W. Manson, and Hon. Ernest Miller, with Mr. H. B. Thomson, former member for Victoria, were accorded an enthusiastic welcome on arriving here this afternoon. They were met at the station by a large crowd of citizens. Piper Robert Stewart, known all through the Kootenays, had the pibroch sounding up and down the valley as the Premier descended from the car, and the martial airs of old Scotland continued until the forming of a procession was completed. Then, headed by the Eagles' band, of Rossland, the visiting party, escorted by a large number of local Conservatives under the marshalship of Mr. W. R. Braden, former member for Rossland and president of the Conservative Association, were escorted to their hotel.

At 6 o'clock a banquet was tendered the Premier and his Ministers at the Hotel Allan, the event being attended by some forty of Rossland's business men. The event was a purely social function, there being no speaking. Grace was spoken by Rev. W. Robertson, and after partaking of the delightful repast, the Premier held an informal reception, meeting the citizens of the city.

In the evening, a public meeting was held in the Miners' Union Hall, the place being crowded.

The meeting was addressed by Hon. Mr. Campbell, Mr. Wilson, the local Liberal candidate, and Premier Bowser.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Colonist, July 23, 1866)

Volunteer Hospitalities—A number of ladies and gentlemen availed themselves last evening of an invitation to a "tea and turnout" at the volunteer camp. About 7 o'clock visitors began to arrive and were seated around a large camp fire, where tea and refreshments were liberally dispensed by the Volunteers. After partaking of the good things purveyed to them, dancing commenced on the lawn and was kept up until a late hour. The romantic situation of the camp with the broad expanse of the Straits of Fuca before it, glittering beneath the rays of the moon, gave the scene quite an enchanting appearance.

Returned—Mr. G. R. Fardon, photographic artist, returned yesterday by way of Portland, from England.

The Ascent of Mount Baker—From a private letter received in town, we learn that Mr. Coleman and party started from Utsalady, Washington Territory, on the 21st inst. They were well provided with every requisite and were confident of success.

Dastardly Attempt—A shameful attempt was made yesterday morning to excite alarm in the Volunteers' Camp, which, but for the presence of mind of one of the Volunteers, might have been attended with serious consequences. Shortly after 2 a.m., the sentry, Mr. Alexander, observed something burning near the tent of Capt. Woods. On approaching the object, he was warned by a stranger, who was not visible, to watch out as it was explosive. Mr. Alexander, however, did not mind the warning and fired several blank cartridges at the unknown mischief-maker. The object that caused the conflagration was a bottle filled with dynamite and ground glass, attached to a fuse, which was extinguished before any damage was done. Those responsible for the dastardly attempt have not been found, but should be dealt with severely.

ARTILLERY UNITS BUSY AT PETEWAWA

B.S.M. S. R. Bowden, of Victoria, Gives an Account of Victoria Units in Eastern Canada.

That the officers and men of the 62nd Battery, C. F. A., and the Ammunition Column of the 15th Brigade, C. F. A., both of which are commanded by Col. A. T. Ogilvie, formerly D. O. C. of M. D., No. 11, are receiving a strenuous and thorough course of training for overseas service at Petewawa is indicated by all letters received from that source, but by none more forcibly than one coming from Battery Sergt.-Major S. R. Bowden, of Victoria.

His communication is very discursive but informative. Sergt. Kelly, formerly of Signal Hill, is one of the new instructors, and Sergt. Bowden states that he is getting results. "We are now training," he asserts, "on the 13-pounder Q. F., which is a nice piece of machinery and fairly simple—single action."

Petewawa, he says, is about two and a half miles away, and consists of a station, a restaurant and a store or two, besides a hotel and a bar, both of the latter being "out of bounds." "We have a Russian battery here," he goes on, "which fires at all times, so that it makes you think you are at the front. Quite a number have been given leave of absence to take part in the harvesting under the terms of the recently issued general order, and recently those in camp have been inoculated, which has made some unfit for duty. Sergts. Fleury and Payne are among those thus affected."

Reference is made to the brigade's "crack" adjutant, Capt. Ringwood, who is of the R. C. H. A., and, being thoroughly versed in artillery work, is a source of strength to it and is very popular among all ranks.

The letter concludes:

"We have a picture show here now. I went, last night, with Sergt. Gales and two S. M.'s from the R. C. H. A. Pretty good show at that. Also went for a swim this morning (Sunday), as it was raining too hard for church parade. The swimmers were Payne, Fleury, Farrier, Sergt. Clayton and myself. Water lovely."

Jesus a Ransom for All

Loss of Power and Lack of Spirituality in Church Due to Christendom Having Almost Lost Sight of Christ's Ransom Sacrifice

Important lecture to be delivered this evening at 7:30 in Princess Theatre (Yates Street). Special invitation to Bible Class leaders and Sunday School teachers.

JESUS IN GETHSEMANE

"There is one God, and one mediator between God and man, the man Christ Jesus; who gave himself a ransom for all, to be testified in due time."—1 Timothy, 2: 5-6.

The subject will be considered under the following heads:

1. The necessity of the Ransom, showing how we were bought by the precious blood of Christ.
2. How Jesus gave Himself a Ransom for all, to be made known to all in God's due time—1 Timothy, 2: 5-6.
3. False ideas of the Ransom briefly considered.
4. The Glorious Hope of the world, the resurrection and re-union of the dead, as the result of Christ's sacrifice, examined in detail.

CANADIANS SWEPT ENEMY FROM TRENCH

Pte. H. W. Clark, of Victoria, Describes Dashing Charge on German First Line Which Was Successful.

A graphic description of recent fighting in which the Canadian forces have played a leading part, and in the course of which a German first line trench was captured by the Highlanders, is contained in a letter just received from Pte. H. W. Clark, of Victoria, who is with No. 1 Field Ambulance Corps. The communication is dated July 3. It follows:

"Since last I wrote to you we have been through some very exciting times.

"On the night of Sunday, the 11th of June, I went up as usual to our dressing station with the horse ambulance. We had just finished unloading the rations when a shell came across and landed in front of the dugouts. We heard it coming and got down for safety. I had a very narrow squeak, as a piece of shrapnel hit me on the coat sleeve, which, luckily, was a heavy driving coat, and glanced off. All I had to show was a black and blue mark on my arm, but that was quite enough.

LIEUT. ARTHUR BRIN DU CHATELET

Victoria officer who left here in December last to join the Inns of Court Officers Training Corps and who has been gazetted a lieutenant in the Royal Engineers. He is now at Chatham and has been notified that he will shortly be sent to the front.

Canadians Charged

"On the night of Monday, the 12th, we started making preparations for retaking the lost trench. This consisted in a heavy bombardment of the Fritz line by all the artillery in our district. It lasted for an hour and a half, and then all was ready. The Canadian Highlanders led the charge, and such was their dash that they caught the Huns almost by surprise. It must have been a very stiff job, nevertheless, as it was raining in torrents, at the time, and the fierce bombardment had made 'No Man's Land' into a quagmire. The boys simply plunged through this bed of mud, at times almost waist deep, and put the Huns to rout.

Under Heavy Fire

"As soon as the trench was taken steps were at once started to establish themselves there and hold it. Then Fritz woke up and simply poured shells on the captured trench, but all in vain. The First Canadian Division was there and there they stayed. Of course, we had many killed and wounded, but they finished what they set out to do, and did it well.

"As you will have seen by the papers, we took over one hundred and fifty prisoners, and a sorry lot they were—mostly young lads, and undersized at that, and middle-aged men. In fact there wasn't half a dozen big fellows amongst them. They looked scared and cold and very dejected.

"Now came our turn at the work. We started hauling out wounded at four on Monday afternoon, and I was never off the road until noon on Wednesday, when I was forced to give up, as Madame Nature couldn't stand it any longer.

"It was raining most of the time, and this, while being a nuisance, also proved our salvation, as if the weather had been clear it would have been impossible to move along the roads in the daytime.

Had Close Shave

"After we had got rid of the big rush, things quieted down a bit and we had only to work nights. During these past few days I have had some pretty close calls, but came through with a whole hide. We had one horse killed and three men wounded when a shell burst handy to the road, but my horseshoe luck was with me, as I was inside the ambulance looking after a bad case. The man next to me was hit and the man who sat in my place beside the driver also got hit, but luckily the driver escaped. He quickly galloped off on the other horse for a relief team and left me with the stretcher cases. Luckily the team was not long in coming up and I have never heard a more welcome sound than the clatter of their hoofs as they sped down the road.

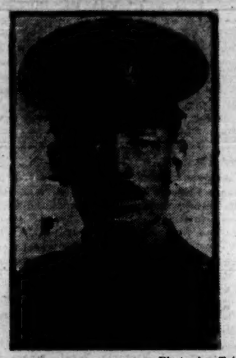

"It was altogether an experience I wish never to repeat, and one I shall certainly never forget. But here I am with all my faculties and my nerves in good shape, and that is more than can be said of many a poor fellow who came through those bad days in June. We are now running a rest station, and will be here at least a month. I do hope you are having better weather in dear old Victoria than we have here. June is gone and we have had no Summer yet."

CAPTAIN P. ALFRED LANDRY

Son of Sir Pierre A. Landry, Judge of the Supreme Court of New Brunswick, who left Victoria with the 48th Battalion as lieutenant. He has seen considerable service in Flanders, and was through the recent heavy fighting at Ypres. He was a member of the firm of Gore & McGregor, surveyors of this city. He is one of the officers who helped to make the reputation of his battalion, and has gained promotion, being at the present time second in command; for the being, of the unit.

POPULAR NATIVE SONS WITH COLORS

Three Sons and a Grandson of Mr. William Lorimer Are Serving With Canadian Expeditionary Force.

Among the Victoria families well represented in the Canadian Expeditionary Force is that of Mr. William Lorimer, of Toronto Street, who has three sons and a grandson with the colors. All are native sons, and all are well and popularly known localy, having, in the course of their respective lives, taken an active part in the athletic and social activities of the community.

A WELCOME ARRIVAL

Lieut. de Saumarez Duke, of the 88th Battalion, Victoria Fusiliers, reading The Colonist at Otterpool Camp, England. Lieut. Duke has been appointed orderly officer on the staff of Brigadier Moore, commanding the 6th Infantry Brigade.

Sergt. Robert M. Lorimer, who left Victoria last February, as sergt.-major of the Ammunition Column, 10th Brigade, C. F. A., has been identified with the 5th Regiment, C. G. A., for years, having held high N. C. O.'s rank for some time. He was considered one of the best of local artillerymen, which, when the standing of the 5th among similar corps of the Dominion is considered, is saying a good deal. When Capt. C. A. Birch, formerly adjutant of the 5th, was authorized to raise a column, one of the first to volunteer was Sergt.-Major Lorimer, and he was, to no small extent, instrumental in the mobilization of an efficient unit. It has been learned since that the Ammunition Column has been divided among different artillery corps in England for service at the front.

Sergt. J. Walter Lorimer, who went with the 88th Battalion, Victoria Fusiliers, on May 23, has a wide circle of close friends, and is known to the majority of Victorians who have had their homes here for some length of time. Some years ago, he was prominently connected with association football and lacrosse, in both of which sports he excelled. Laterly, he devoted his attention to the encouragement of athletics among the younger men, organising clubs and coaching their teams. When he enlisted, his usefulness as a leader was recognized, and it was not long before he was promoted. He has since been made a sergeant. According to the last reports, he has taken a course in bomb-throwing, and, having been awarded a certificate, is instructing a class in that branch of military work.

Pioneer Samuel W. Lorimer left here on October 13, 1915, with the 1st Canadian Pioneers. He, also, is well-known in local sporting circles. Until a comparatively short time ago, his prowess as a soccer player was a matter of common knowledge. As a full back, he was in a class by himself, and the team which boasted him as a part of its defense, was rated as being strong in that department. He has been in France since March.

Driver W. H. Jackson, the grandson, beter known as "Haley," left Victoria with the Ammunition Column of the 15th Brigade, C. F. A., and now is in training at Petewawa Camp.

DETAILS OF SIDNEY REVIEW ANNOUNCED

H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught Will Inspect Officers and Men of Island Camp at 3 o'Clock Tomorrow Afternoon.

H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught will inspect the 143rd Battalion, B.C. Bantams, and the 231st Battalion, Seaforth Highlanders, at the Sidney camp tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, and an invitation to Victorians to attend is extended by military officers in authority.

The review, it is stated, will be confined to the two overseas units, there being no details under canvas on the Island of sufficient size to warrant their inclusion. Col. J. Duff Stuart, D.O.C., as the camp commandant, will be in command, with Lieut.-Col. F. W. Boultbee and Major E. A. Seely Smith, G.S.O., as staff officers.

Lieut.-Col. A. Bruce Powley will command the Bantams, and the 231st will be under Lieut.-Col. Leach. Each will be played along the line of march by their respective bands, the 143rd by the bugle and the brass bands and the 231st by its pipe band.

H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught, accompanied by Col. Stanton, his military secretary, Major Duff, A.D.C., and Capt. McIntosh, A.D.C., will leave the city at about 2 o'clock to motor to the camp. Besides reviewing the troops he will make a thorough inspection of the camp.

It had been the intention of the Royal visitor to visit the Esquimalt defences, spending some time at the naval yard, tomorrow morning, but that part of his activities while in Victoria has been deferred to Tuesday morning, this alteration in the programme being decided on because of the somewhat long trip through the Saanich peninsula fixed for the afternoon.

Although the force to be paraded before the Governor-General is not large, totalling approximately 1,500 men, it is one of special interest. The B. C. Bantams, for instance, are the only battalion of such a character in Western Canada, while the 231st has among its numbers nearly 200 Yukoners, men who have been enlisted by Commissioner Black at Dawson as a result of an appeal made among the "sourdoughs" of the far north.

Held by Police—James Brough, the individual who brought to the police station on Friday night a quantity of fruit for a prisoner, Dave Wiseman, a drug fiend, was arrested last evening, and will be arraigned in the Police Court tomorrow morning charged with being in possession of opium, an offence against the code. Brough was desirous of handing the fruit to Wiseman, but failed to figure upon the possibility of the police first examining it. The examination disclosed a quantity of the drug in small packages concealed in a banana.

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF

Enters an Appeal—Mr. Thornton Fell has given notice of appeal against the assessment by the South Saanich municipality of some property in which he is interested. Application will be made in Supreme Court chambers on Friday for the fixing of a date for hearing.

Evils of Dancing—The evils of dancing and the recent decree of the Vatican dealing with the matter will be dealt with in the Rev. John Gibson Inkster's sermon on "Should Christians Dance?" at the First Presbyterian Church tonight. Cardinal Farley's letter will also be referred to. Mr. Inkster will tell what the Christian's attitude to pleasure should be.

Charge Dismissed—Lee Gar, charged with being in possession of stolen goods, came before the police magistrate for sentence yesterday. He produced a witness in the person of W. S. Bartlett, his employer, to give testimony as to character. In view of the latter's statements, the accused was given the benefit of the doubt and dismissed.

Sunspot Activity—The disc of the sun as viewed from the meteorological observatory, Gonzales Heights, at noon yesterday, disclosed abnormal disturbances in the gaseous envelope. The sunspot activity has become so pronounced as to form an almost continuous band across the disc. Two huge spots, either of which is estimated to measure upwards of 60,000 miles, were conspicuous. Enormous white patches of calcium were also in evidence.

Difficult to Resign—Mr. Angus B. McNeill is finding difficulty in resigning from the Victoria City Council. Last Monday he sent in his resignation to the Council, but it was laid over for a week. Now there can be found no alderman who is willing to sign the motion calling for the acceptance of the resignation and setting of the date for nomination and the by-election. Ald. McNeill told The Colonist yesterday that it is harder to get out of the Council than to get in.

Gets Two Months—Convicted of vagrancy, Bennett Wiseman, a confirmed drug user, was sentenced to two months' imprisonment by Magistrate Jay yesterday. He admitted, in the course of his examination, that he had come here from Seattle because he found it impossible to obtain there the opiates to which he is accustomed. Answering the city prosecutor', he said that he had attempted to smuggle morphine and cocaine from Victoria to Seattle but had been caught and sentenced to seven months' imprisonment. He stated that he had been in the habit of using drugs for twenty years and he preferred morphine to any other.

Prohibition Representative—According to advices from Vancouver, the proposal to send a representative to England to look after the interests of the Prohibition party in connection with the taking of the soldiers' vote on the forthcoming referendum is being discussed in Provincial prohibition circles. Under the terms of the act providing for the taking of the soldiers' vote, as passed at the last session of the Legislature, all interests concerned are entitled to have a representative in England when the taking of the vote is under way and be present at the counting of the ballots. It is possible, too, that the executive committee of the Prohibition will have some recommendations to make to the Government relative to desired changes in the details of the taking of the vote.

Saanich Tax Sale—At 10 o'clock tomorrow morning Assessor R. R. F. Sewell, of South Sanich municipality, will inaugurate the 1916 tax sale of the district. He has, in round numbers, 500 parcels of land to offer, some of which include as many as twenty separate lots. The amount of property on which taxes are delinquent has been reduced materially, however, since it was definitely announced that there was to be a sale. Yesterday the money continued to be received, and before the closing of the offices the assessor was promised a cheque for $3,000 the first thing tomorrow morning from one ratepayer for the redemption of a number of lots. It is announced that those wishing to redeem property will be accommodated during the tax sale, providing that their particular lots have not been disposed of before they make application.

For Patriotic Aid—The following are some of the recent subscriptions received by the Victoria Patriotic Aid Society: Officials of B. C. Provincial Government, $1,832.64; lighthouse keepers, Department of Marine, $347.15; staff and employees of Sir John Jackson (Canada), Ltd., $26.50; employees of E. & N. Railway Co., $254.02; staff of Banks of Montreal, Canadian Bank of Commerce, Dominion Bank, Royal Bank, Union Bank, $149.25; employees of the Dominion Department of Public Works—resident engineer's office, $16; Esquimalt graving dock, $33.60; resident architect's branch, $32.85; piers and breakwaters, $72. P. M. Linklater and employees, $7.50; Producers Rock and Gravel Co. and employees, $103.80; staff of Bank of Toronto, $12.70; Messrs. Rennie & Taylor, and employees, $40; anonymous, $5; employees of C. P. R. ticket office, $7.

Mining Revival—Mr. William Dee, Superintendent of Dominion Telegraphs, returned recently from a tour of West Coast Points, in the course of which he inspected stations as far north as Holberg. He reports that residents are looking forward to a marked revival of activity in the mining industry. The Monitor, situated on the Alberni Canal, which has been abandoned for some time, is being reopened by Mr. Dan Sprinkling, of this city. A coal prospect of a most promising nature has been located on Vargas Island and is to be developed, while a deposit of clay on Kyuquot Inlet is being exploited on a large scale and shipments already are being made to the B. C. Pottery Co. of this city. Mr. Dee observes that the run of spring salmon this Summer appears to be exceptional, large catches being made by the Indians. At Clo-oose he states that there were forty or more canoes trolling when the ss. Tees stood off the community. All were making catches, one Indian landing five fish while the passengers watched.

Spend Longer Time Here—The results of the publicity that Victoria has received in the past few months through the Victoria and Island Development Association are being demonstrated by the arrival here of tourists. On Friday, a touring party of thirty people arrived under the guidance of Gillespie, Kinport & Beard, the well known eastern tourist agents. The same firm, last year, brought a party through here, but then only remained a few hours. The party that arrived here on Friday stayed twenty-four hours. "When people once see Victoria, they appreciate it, and are willing to spend more time here," said Mr. Gillespie, conductor of the party, in conversation with Commissioner Cuthbert. On Thursday, they spent the evening at the Gorge Park. On Friday morning, they went sight-seeing on the observation car. In the afternoon, they were shown over the Provincial Museum. This firm is bringing a party of tourists here next week, which will stay for one day. Next year, the parties will stay for two days.

Ancient Order of Foresters.— The Court Victoria (5930) A. O. F., met, last Wednesday evening when candidates were initiated and a number of applications for membership received. The auditor's report and balance sheet were read, which showed a gain in finances notwithstanding the large number of member of the Court, had been killed in ing dues. Mrs. Hardman wrote to say that she was leaving on July 9, for England, and thanked the Court for its kindness during her bereavement. Mrs. Lamborn, of Victoria West, wrote to say that her son, Douglas J. Lamborn, of the 1st Canadian Pioneers, and a member of the Court, had been killed in action, on June 30. The death benefit of $125 was ordered paid to Mrs. Lamborn. This is the second member of the Court to give his life for the Empire—the previous one being C. J. Wilson, who went away on August 28, 1914, with the Gordons, and was killed on May 24, last year. The proposed changes were made to the by-laws by unanimous vote of the members present. The picnic committee will meet tomorrow evening, in the committee room, Foresters' Hall, to advance the arrangements for holding the basket picnic early in August.

VICTORIANS DOING WELL IN AVIATION

Messrs. Cecil Clayton and Normal Hall Making Splendid Progress at Curtiss School, Toronto.

Bombdr. Archibald Wills, formerly of the reportorial staff of The Victoria Times, and now an N.C.O. with the 68th Battery, C.F.A., in training at Petewawa Camp for overseas service, writes to friends here complaining of the terrific heat.

He says that he was in Toronto for five days on leave and paid a visit to the Curtiss Flying School, where he met Mr. Cecil Clayton, formerly of The Colonist circulation department. Bombdr. Wills continues:

"I saw him (Clayton) performing in the air and he certainly is doing fine. He has put in half his time and expects to go to England about the first of next month. Young Norman Hall (son of Major G. A. B. Hall) is also there and is getting on well. The school has four Curtiss biplanes each with 90 horsepower engines and capable of a speed of 75 miles an hour. They also have a flying boat. There are 30 students there now and 100 on the waiting list.

"We are getting considerable training now and last week the battery was out on a march for two days, bivouacking overnight. It was a great trip. We are training on 12 pounders, the same as we had at Macaulay. There is no word of us leaving here yet. The boys are all anxious to go overseas.

"We had a divisional parade this morning and the 15th Brigade was adjudged the smartest on review. It is a grand spectacle to see the whole division in movement. This is the largest assemblage of artillery ever gathered together in Canada. The grandest sight of all is to see the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery gallop past."

Will Arrive on Tuesday

Mr. Harold S. Cove, local agent for Balfour Guthrie & Company, has received advice that the Harrison Direct line freighter Counsellor, will dock here some time on Tuesday. The vessel comes here on her first voyage from the United Kingdom, via Panama Canal. She has about 1,000 tons of cargo for Victoria and Vancouver.

Queen Is Due

According to a late report yesterday, the Pacific Coast Steamship Company's steamer Queen, which is carrying cargo only, will dock at the Outer Wharf this morning at 8 o'clock, from San Francisco.

DECIDE SCOTT'S FATE AT SEATTLE TOMORROW

One Wing of Liberal Party Wants Former Organizer Back, While Other Is Fighting His Deportation.

Tomorrow morning at Seattle will be decided definitely whether John T. Scott, former Provincial organizer for the Liberal party, and for whom a warrant has been issued here charging him with inducing persons to personate at the recent Vancouver by-election, will be deported from the United States to Canada. The United States authorities are acting, not because of any warrant issued on this side charging him with election irregularities, but because, it is alleged, he took with him to the States a young woman, formerly his stenographer in Vancouver, and married her in Bellingham, while he already had a wife living in Alberta.

Scott is fighting extradition, assisted therein by his attorney, Mr. Jerry M. Finch, former prosecuting attorney for Seattle, who burst into the spotlight during the recent investigation here by the Legislative Committee which, during the recent session of the Legislature, inquired into the notorious "plugging" scandal at Vancouver, when scores of Seattle waterfront habitues were taken to Vancouver and "plugged" for Mr. M. A. Macdonald, Liberal candidate.

It will be remembered that Scott was engaged by the Provincial Liberal committee, at the head of which was Mr. M. A. Macdonald, who signed the cheques with which Scott was paid for his work. In fact, he secured the position upon the recommendation of Mr. Macdonald, whose election methods included the hiring of detectives to "spot" upon the Conservative committee, one sleuth, a man engaged by the Thiel Detective Agency at Vancouver, being actually a member of the Conservative organization and election committee.

Ubiquitous Mr. Finch

It is a remarkable circumstance that the man Finch, who is aiding Scott's fight against extradition to Canada, was also prominent in the defence of Mr. Macdonald before the investigation committee. He was extremely active at Seattle while the investigation here was in progress, "digging up" testimony to refute the overwhelming evidence adduced by the committee showing the participation of the Seattle gangs in the election irregularities which helped along the Liberal candidate's majority. Finch, the evidence before the legislative committee showed conclusively, was active in the efforts made to have witnesses come before the committee and testify that they had been engaged in Seattle to go to Vancouver and vote not for Macdonald but for Mr. Tisdall, the defeated Conservative candidate. Even to this day, despite the facts elicited at the investigation made by the select committee of the Legislature, Mr. Macdonald is stumping the country endeavoring to convince a sceptical electorate that the whole "plugging" conspiracy was the work of the Conservatives. But not a single fact brought out in the examination of the two score or more of witnesses who testified before the legislative committee gave the faintest support to such a claim.

It is quite evident that Mr. Finch, as Scott's legal adviser, is not working with the other wing of the Vancouver Liberal organization—the city body—which has been endeavoring to get at the true inwardness of Scott's manipulations during the recent by-election there. They want to know more of that now famous "crooked" or "eleventh-hour" list of waterfront voters which Scott, as organizer of the Provincial body, sent along on the afternoon prior to the election, to Mr. Ashworth Anderson, chairman of the city voters' list committee, and the names on which were those of "voters who were not to be challenged by the Liberal scrutineers.

Split in Liberal Ranks

The subsequent investigation by the city Liberals into that list, it will be remembered, occasioned a dispute between Scott and Anderson. This activity within the ranks of the Vancouver Liberals has widened the breach between the Macdonald wing and the others, and the outcome is seen in the remarkable situation now in evidence at Seattle, one section of the Vancouver Liberals seeking to have Scott deported so that they may force him to disclose his share in the plot and name the "higher ups" for whom he was operating; the other wing, represented by Jerry M. Finch, fighting Scott's extradition and endeavoring by every means to keep him on the southern side of the International boundary where, by the way, other individuals prominent in the "plugging" conspiracy, to wit, John Clancy, Montey White, Jack White, et al; remained steadfastly despite the efforts of the legislative committee to have them come to Victoria and testify to their share in the worst election scandal yet unearthed in Canada.

But the Provincial authorities are also interested in Scott's return. The warrant issued is still in force. The crime which it charges him with does not permit of extradition proceedings, otherwise such action would long ere this have been undertaken. If Scott is deported to Canada he will undoubtedly be arrested immediately he lands. As the internecine strife in the Vancouver Liberal ranks bids fair to accomplish the purpose the law officers here are content to wait.

The Vancouver party which has been in Seattle all last week watching the deportation proceedings, and which was composed of Mr. Ashworth Anderson and Mr. D. E. McTaggart, the latter a prominent worker in the Vancouver City Liberal organization, returned to Vancouver on Friday, but will be on hand in Seattle tomorrow morning, when the final session of the investigation being made by the United States immigration authorities into Scott's status, will be held.

ESQUIMALT CANDIDATE TO LAUNCH CAMPAIGN

First Meeting Has Been Arranged for July 27—Sentiment Strongly in Favor of Conservatism.

The first guns of the Conservative campaign in Esquimalt will be fired on Thursday evening at a public mass meeting to be held at the Rex Theatre. It is anticipated that Premier W. J. Bowser will be present to address the gathering, and among the other speakers will be Mr. R. H. Pooley, former member for the ridiag, and other prominent supporters of the party.

That keen interest is being taken in the approaching contest is evident in all sections of Esquimalt, and both parties are planning to make a strong bid for success. Among the ranks of the Conservatives the utmost confidence prevails, and the consensus of opinion is that Mr. Pooley will be returned. While the Liberals of the district are making elaborate preparations for their campaign, little doubt is expressed that the Conservative candidate will win by a comfortable margin.

Esquimalt has been divided into four wards for the time being by the Conservative committee, under the presidency of Mr. A. Lockley, and each ward is being separately organized. When the present plans have matured, it is hoped to have the riding thoroughly prepared for the election, with all the wards strongly united in favor of a continuance of Conservative Government.

Ward Organizations

A general meeting of the four wards will be held tomorrow evening at the Conservative headquarters, Comerford Building, near Amiral's Road, for the purpose of completing the preliminary arrangements for the approaching campaign. Nearly all the wards have held meetings to deal with local matters affecting the political situation, and will continue to hold them until their final plans are completed. Ward 1 embraces that territory between Lampson Street and Esquimalt Village; Ward 2, from Lampson Street east to the city limits; Ward 3, the Craigflower Road district to the Potteries; Ward 4, from Craigflower Road to the Gorge.

While activity among the Liberals of the district has possibly been more conspicuous than among the Conservatives during the past few weeks, it should be borne in mind that the Liberals have been faced with the necessity of finding willing candidates for nomination to uphold their interests and have had to organize things from the very beginning, while Conservatism has had a strong foothold in the riding for years and has not required reviving.

Mr. Arthur W. McCurdy and Mr. H. Helgeson will be the names before the Liberal nominating convention to be held on Tuesday next. According to popular prediction, Mr. McCurdy will ultimately secure the namination of the party, although Mr. Helgeson, having big support among the people of the outlying districts, especially in Metchosin, is likely to make a strong bid. The convention will be held at Colwood Hall, and is to be attended only by the specially appointed delegates from the various districts.

DESCRIBES LIFE WITH 48TH CANADIANS

Capt. A. W. Agnew, Wounded Recently, Tells of Experience Under Fire With Victoria Pioneer Unit.

The following interesting narrative has been received from Captain A. W. Agnew, of the 3rd Pioneer Battalion, 48th Canadians, describing some incidents which took place just prior to his being wounded:

"Moved camp again today," he writes, "and this necessitated a long march. We passed many old friends on the road, and several walked or rode along with me and chatted for a while. All seemed cheerful and contented with their lot, but were looking forward to their leave. We passed through a town just before we came to our billets, and no sooner got through it than it was heavily shelled, and many of the houses smashed to pieces. I went back later to see if we could find quarters in the town, but practically every building was shattered. Many families of Belgians, weeping at their loss, were seen, stupefied at the desolation of their homes.

"Today, we have had hostile aircraft over our heads all the time, and, consequently, the men have kept under couver. Tomorrow, we will likely go up to look over some work in the front line trenches. I believe that our work will be very useful, and if we are only given work to do and allowed to put it through, it will be all right."

Two days later, he wrote:

"Did the rounds of the front line trenches yesterday, and they are in passable shape, although there is much work in sight for us—providing drainage, new trenches, dugouts and all kinds of chances to use our engineering knowledge. There is much evidence of the lack of skill used in the construction of some of the trenches. There are some in the second line with no provision made for drainage at all. We have some mining work to do also."

A few days later, he wrote:

Shattered Town

"We moved again yesterday, and did not get here till late at night. This is a wonderful place, without a single house in a town originally of over 30,000 people. Every house is smashed in some way. We have our eyes on some splendid billets, and will be "Johnny on the spot" when the present residents move out.

"We had the first casualty among the officers of the first battalion today. Poor, old Captain Whiteside was laid out outside his billets by a piece of high explosive shell. He was dead when picked up. Captain Whiteside had been through three campaigns before this one. I saw him yesterday afternoon, and he was jollying me about ducking shells. Such is the fortune of war!

"We are now comfortably settled in our new quarters. They are in an old building which had been partially ruined by shell fire. Dugouts have been made within the structure, lined with steel semicircular sections bolted together. They are covered with sand bags full of earth and bricks. In the town adjacent to us, we help ourselves to anything we want, from glassware to a kitchen stove, and, in consequence, our dugouts are lavishly furnished. We have a splendid fireplace in our sitting-room (10 ft. x 12 ft.). The fireplace was transplanted and busked into the walls, and it draws splendidly. There are several fine prints on the walls and numerous war trophies. The ceiling is a bit low, and causes some bad language occasionally when heads are bumped, but, otherwise, we are fairly well fixed.

"Our men are similarly situated, and though their building was hit several times last night, they were untouched. Nothing but a direct hit from a heavy shell will do any harm. I am out all day and sometimes at night. At the present time, we have been engaged in working parties on duty day and night, and our work is likely to increase steadily."

MET MAJOR-GEN. CURRIE

Sgt. Ovington Watt Tells of Rencontre With Leader of 1st Division

In a letter from Sgt. Ovington Watt, 62nd Battalion (Col. Hulme's Huskies), dated from St. Martin's Plain, Shorncliffe, July 5, he says: "I was surprised the other day when Maj.-Gen. A. W. Currie walked into the orderly room and asked for the Colonel. As the Colonel wasn't in he happened to notice me and immediately remembered me, saying: 'Why, hello, Watt, how are you?' at the same time shaking hands. We had quite a good chat. He asked after Archie. (Sgt. Watt and his brother are old 5th Regiment boys. The latter has been at the front, and the former is on the way.)

"Gen. Currie told me he had lost in the recent fighting (June 2 to 4) about 250 officers and 6,000 men. He is high up in military rank now, has the Legion of Honor (French) and is also a C.B., but withal it does not seen to have made any difference.

"There is a likelihood of our battalion being absorbed altogether by some other reserve battalion. We are now only about 300 strong, having sent nearly all the best of our men as reinforcements to France. We have also sent over to date 22 officers. All of our sergeants and corporals who went over have had to revert to the ranks, and a number of officers to a lower rank.

"We seem to have things going properly over at the front now, but no conclusions must be jumped at, as it is going to be a desperate proposition driving the Huns back. I get many good facts about conditions in the firing line as there are many 'casualties' about here. We are reinforcing our divisions in the field with almost every available man we have, and they will need them all before we get the 'Germhuns' where we want them."

Songs on the Top Wave of Popularity

THRILLING patriotic ensembles like "Young America—We're Strong For You" and "We'll Never Let the Old Flag Fall"; hits that are hits, like Al Jolson's singing of "I Sent My Wife to the Thousand Isles"; and comic and sentimental song-successes like "I've Got a Sweet Tooth Bothering Me" from Lew Fields' latest show "Step This Way", and "Songs We Used to Sing in Dixieland," a Remick song-gem that is sweeping the country.

Music of a very different sort is Casals' marvelous handling of the 'cello in Saint-Saens' "Allegro Appassionato" and Haydn's "Minuet in C Major."

Also in the August List

Kathleen Parlow's inspired playing of two brilliant violin compositions by Kreisler and Svendsen, Graveure's inspired rendering of two beautiful old-time hymns and Rothier's great basso in the immortal anthem "La Marseillaise," rank quite as high in artistic interest. The hope has been expressed by military authorities that a good civilian representation will make a point of witnessing the review of the troops at Sidney tomorrow by H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught. They point out that it affords encouragement to the soldiers to see that interest is taken in their work. Both the B. C. Electric Railway Co. and the V. & S. Telephone Operators are given Careful Preliminary Training

The Operator Is an Important Factor in Giving Telephone Service

No part of the telephone system comes more in contact with the public than the operator. For that reason the company pays much attention to her selection, her training and her welfare. The intelligent girl with a becoming manner and pleasant voice is preferred, and her preliminary training is all toward the end that her "Number, please?" will be a welcome to the subscriber who uses the telephone.

The contented operator is naturally more efficient in her work, and, to make her so, rest rooms are established at each exchange. In the large offices these rest rooms are just like clubs, there being lounging places with latest magazines, and a cafeteria in connection.

The operator, and there are nearly 100 of them in Victoria, is well and carefully trained, so that she will act promptly and think quickly in cases of emergency. She is the indispensable human element between the public and the delicate mechanism that transmits a telphone call.

While she is in contact with the public, it can hardly be said that she is in communication with them. She is at the switchboard only to act. Any request or any unusual call is referred to a supervisor, who gives the subscriber her immediate personal attention.

MISS AGNES BRANKIN

A Song of a Nest

There once was a nest in a hollow
Down in the mosses and knot grass pressed,
Soft and warm and full to the brim,
Vetches leaned over it purple and dim,
With buttercup buds to follow.

I pray you hear my song of a nest,
For it is not long—
You shall never light in a Summer quest,
The bushes among—
Shall never light on a prouder sitter,
A fairer nestful, nor ever know
A softer sound than their tender twitter
That wind-like did come and go.

I had a nestful once of my own,
Ah! happy, happy I!
Right dearly I loved them; but when they were grown
They spread out their wings to fly.
Oh! one after one they flew away
Far up to the heavenly blue,
To the better country, the upper day,
And—I wish I was going too.

I pray you, what is the nest to me,
My empty nest
And what is the shore where I stood to see
My boat sail down to the west?
Can I call that home where I anchor yet,
Though my good man has sailed?
Can I call that home where my nest was set
Now all its hopes have failed?
Nay, but the port where my sailor went,
And the land where my nestlings be—
There is the home where my thoughts are sent,
The only home for me—
Ah me!

—Jean Ingelow.

One of the Canadians

Canadian nurses soon find occupation when they reach England. Miss Agnes Brankin was sent to the Duchess of Connaught Hospital at Cliveden while other branches of the Laval Unit were studying in the military hospitals or training for duty. The Laval Unit has been preparing for service in France, where it is probably at work before this.

South America.

Perhaps there is no part of the civilized world about which the majority of Canadians know so little as South America. Of its physical features we have learned something, but, perhaps, the strongest impression that remains from our school days is of the unpronounceable names of the many volcanoes. We know, indeed, that the Amazon, with its tributaries, form wonderful waterways, and that many of its countries are rich in minerals. But of the peoples who live in South America, of what they have done, and what they are doing we know next to nothing. The story of its conquest by the Spaniards and of the civilization destroyed four hundred years ago is to be found in our schoolbooks, but of the civilization of today most of us are very ignorant.

Yet we are told that the South American Republics have become a field in which the commerce of the north may be extended indefinitely, and from which the states and provinces of North American can buy much which they need.

A few days ago an American statesman, Secretary McAdoo, who had returned from South America, reproached the assembled teachers of the nation for their remissness in not having taught the facts of the progress made in South America and the effect it ought to have on the commerce of the United States. Perhaps, this gentleman forgot how few facilities are afforded teachers to learn, in the best way, by travel, of foreign countries. There is a hint that by the reproachful tone he assumed, his own teaching, which ought to have been reliable, was impaired.

However that may be, the incident is one that Canadian teachers and business men may lay to heart. It is time that Canadians, young and old, set themselves to study South America. What have we of moral or material value that will help these neighbors? What have they that we may procure to help in our development? If a knowledge of the language spoken by the civilized people of South America is important to our cousins across the border, it is no less valuable to us. If they ought to be familiar with the needs of the people in various parts of the continent of South America and of the resources of its countries we should not remain in ignorance. This is something for teachers to think about before they meet their pupils again. Where is such knowledge to be procured?

A Vindication.

Strange as it may seem to those who live in quiet ways, and who spend their lives in earning their own living and in helping to make their neighbors happy, there are people who, in the past, have prospered by the increase of the prison population. It is not to their interest that while a man is being punished for his crime he should be shown how to live an honest and useful life. Such people prosper in the centres of crime. The great prison of Sing Sing in New York had become a shame to the state and to the country. A man who had during almost a lifetime won the confidence of all who knew him, by disguising himself as a prisoner found out just how bad prison conditions were. Then he asked leave to try in Sing Sing the humane methods that had been successful elsewhere, and to do whatever else might, in his judgment help the ends he had in view. He was appointed warden of Sing Sing. His methods of reform were so radical that many good men doubted their wisdom. Seeing this, those who had profited by the abuses that had been swept away, conspired against Mott Osborne. Their accusations were such that he was removed from his office. The matter was brought before the courts. He has been vindicated as those who knew him best knew he would be. The old conditions in this prison have gone forever. The warden who was placed in Mott Osborne's place is of his way of thinking. Whether he goes back or not, the reforms he planned and carried out at the risk of his reputation will go on. He has been shown to be one of the reformers of our time. That, like most reformers, he has hoped and trusted too much may be true. But he has proved what few who call themselves Christians really believe, that repentance and reform are possible to great sinners.

An Interesting Plan.

Many mothers find the holidays a trying season. The time sometimes hangs heavy on the hands of children, accustomed to work and to study. If allowed to play about the house with the neighbor's children every day, the noise is more than even patient mothers can bear. The alternative of sending them away to play in yards or fields is not one that particular mothers will adopt.

On the household page of a recent issue of The Christian Science Monitor there is an article containing a suggestion worth considering. It is that the children of the families in the neighborhood shall have an "At Home Day." The idea first occurred to a lady whose children were popular in the neighborhood. The house had a broad verandah, and all the long Summer afternoons the children gathered there. The noise and want of privacy became very trying. The lady consulted the parents of the other children, and found they were almost as much distressed at the absence of their little folk as she was at their presence.

These mothers all agreed that they should take turns in entertaining their little guests. The children of the home should act the part of host and hostesses. The wide verandah would be made the most of one day. On another, children with a wonderful playhouse would send out invitations. A garret fitted up with swings and other gymnastic apparatus was the attraction another day. A lady living in an apartment had her party on the beach or at the picture show, and still another devoted her afternoon to story telling. In every case the little folk were taught to be polite and kind and unselfish. The parties were not held everyday, and in the intervals the children amused themselves quietly at home.

That there is a danger of such gatherings becoming stiff and unnatural everyone knows. That the enjoyment of many little ones would be greatly increased by the presence of some sympathetic mother or friend is equally plain. All depends on the spirit in which the "at homes" are carried out.

In no case was anything elaborate in the way of refreshments a part of the programme alluded to. Cookies or sandwiches were served, but not a meal. This is an example that might well be followed in grown-up entertainments. We would all be so much happier if we were not troubled by the necessity of making and serving expensive cakes or other dishes when our friends come to see us.

A Pension Scheme.

Canadians are interested in the change in the Carnegie Pension Scheme for college professors. About ten years ago Mr. Carnegie endowed a fund for the advancement of learning. Among other plans was that of pensioning teachers in certain colleges in the United States and in Canada when they became old or unable to work. The president of the Foundation was Dr. Henry S. Pritchett. Under his direction a survey was made of the principal institutions of learning in North America, and provision was made for certain of their teachers. The aim was to prevent men who had given their time and talents to the service of the youth of the country and had not received large salaries from suffering in their old age from want. The money was given absolutely, and was in addition to any sum the pensioner might have saved.

It has been found in the course of years that the plan had defects. What these are has not been stated to an inquiring public. It is hinted, however, that gifts do not tend to elevate the characters of college professors more than those of less learned men.

The Foundation, nevertheless, will keep its word. All who have been working under its provisions will get the provisions to which they are entitled. But young men who are entering upon a career must not look forward to receiving the same benefits. A bulletin has been issued, putting forth a new scheme, in which the professors, the colleges and the Foundation shall unite in making provision for old age and disablement. Two plans are advanced. One for insurance, the other for annuities. The latter would be paid to the wife of a teacher after his death as well as to the teacher himself after disablement.

Only those colleges which desire to do so will be included in the new system, and a teacher will not lose its benefits by moving from one college to another. It is claimed that when the teacher contributes to a fund for relief in old age the salaries will not be lowered. This was one of the consequences of the first scheme

There is little doubt that the proposal of the Carnegie Foundation will draw attention to the whole subject of teachers' pensions. If the college professor who receives a moderate salary needs to provide for the time when he is unfit for work, surely the common school teacher, whose salary is still smaller and whose work is more wearing should have similar provision made for him or her. In England and other European countries, teachers, like other civil servants, receive pensions to which they have have contributed part. In Canada no plan has yet found favor.

The Land

Ought British Columbia girls to learn to work on the land? Should the daughters of a farmer or a gardener be ready to take her share of farm labor as well as the sons?

There are among us a few gentlewomen who would give an affirmative answer. They have tried outdoor tasks and they find them pleasant, healthful and profitable. Some of these have had previous training. Others have been compelled by circumstances to undertake new tasks, but they have brought to them a native intelligence, powers of observation and perseverance that have commanded success.

Ought native born women in this province to follow in the footsteps of such pioneers and look upon the land as one of the means by which they could gain a livelihood for themselves or assist fathers and husbands.

For at least two generations Canadian women have left men to do the work of the farm, and accepted housekeeping as their share of farm life. A wife had plenty to do if she worked for hungry men, washed and cleaned, made and mended, and looked after the children. Even milking, when butter and cheese factories took the place of the dairy, was left to the men who were stronger to handle the big cans. The daughters went to school, helped mornings and evenings, and when grown up usually sought employment in the city or taught school. Many returned to become the wives of farmers. Others found husbands among their fellow workers in the city. Sometimes a farmer's wife with a love of flowers made a garden and planted vegetables to justify what might otherwise be considered a waste of precious time. When prosperity came help was hired in the house and more time devoted to beautifying the home and its surroundings.

This division of labor will perhaps account for the surprise, amounting almost to incredulity, with which the accounts of the achievements of English women on the land is received in many quarters.

In this province especially, perhaps on Vancouver Island, farming is different from that in other parts of Canada. There is less land to begin with. It is harder to clear and the climate is such that work may go on out of doors during the greater part of the year. Add to this that timber is such a profitable crop that it is not wise to destroy it for the sake of what may be grown on cleared timber land.

These things tend to the land being divided into small holdings. It is nearly a quarter of a century since Mr. Robins, then the manager of the Nanaimo Collieries, conceived of the wisdom of laying out five-acre lots where industrious miners might raise their own food and help to supply the city population.

Strawberry growers at Gordon Head and elsewhere on the Saanich Peninsula have shown that such plots carefully cultivated may be profitable. In some cases the owners of these holdings are wage earners in the city.

There is room near every industrial centre in the province for many market gardens, poultry-runs, orchards and aviaries. If women and girls as well as men and boys could share this work far more profit could be made. The principals of the schools tell us that in the school gardens girls do as good work and sometimes better.

The housework on one of these small holdings is not nearly as hard as on a large farm where help is employed. Would the wife be happier if she could help her husband out of doors and would the crops be better and more profitable?

Would it be possible for three or four girls to manage an orchard, a small fruit farm or a poultry-run together? On the answers to such questions and many more that might be asked depends the desirability or not of the serious study of agriculture by girls. Gardening is another matter. There are hundreds of ladies in Victoria who can testify to the great pleasure to be gained from an occupation that has given delight since our first parents walked in the Garden of Eden.

WEATHER CONDITIONS

Moderate Summer Temperature Here, While Intense Heat Prevails in South

The showers which fell during the early hours of yesterday morning freshened the atmosphere and reduced the dust preparatory to exceptionally ideal conditions throughout the day. It was most propitious weather for the Red Cross fete, at which Their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess and Princess Patricia of Connaught were present. The various picnics and outings which were planned as an observance of the Saturday half-holiday which recently became a fixture in the business life of the city were thoroughly enjoyed.

While the weather was ideal in Victoria, with smiling skies and moderate Summer temperatures for which this city is famed, the day in other parts of the continent showed many of the vagaries of the season. Intense heat was experienced in the south on the Pacific Slope, and cold and rain to the north.

The temperature reached the designation "hot" through the States of Washington and Oregon, especially on the eastern slopes of the Coast Range, where the recorded heat ranged from 80 to 90 degrees. Intense heat was experienced throughout the State of California. San Francisco, where normally the fresh wind from the Pacific greatly tempers the heat of day, reported a temperature ranging up to 80 degrees yesterday, while the Sacramento Valley, less than a hundred miles away, wilted under heat marked by temperatures as high as 106 degrees.

In northern British Columbia, and especially in the Cariboo region, abnormally cool temperatures were experienced and in many instances heavy rain.

The Prairie Provinces reported yesterday a continuation of the ideal conditions which make for another bumper crop such as was experienced during 1915. Fair weather continues, with temperatures ranging from 75 to 80 degrees. The intense heat which has been general in the provinces of Ontario during the past several days shows little signs of abatement.

BOMB EXPLODES AMONG CROWD

Fiendish Work of Some Unknown Miscreant in San Francisco Kills or Injures Many Spectators of Parade.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—At least six persons were killed and over forty others injured by the explosion here today of a timed bomb in the midst of a throng viewing a preparedness parade. The police arrested Frank Joseph, but said he had not been charged with the crime.

Chas. M. Fickert, district attorney, issued a statement attributing the deed to a mind unbalanced by arguments for and against preparedness, which have occupied attention here. The parade was not interrupted.

Dead and Injured

Lists of dead and injured compiled by the police tonight are:

The dead are:

Mrs. Howard E. Knapp, Alameda, Cal.

Dr. George Painter, Berkeley, Cal.

Arthur Nelson, Larkspur, Cal.

O. H. Lamborn, Alameda, Cal.

Adam Fox, San Francisco, Cal.

George Lawler, Mill Valley, Cal.

Seriously injured:

Arthur Nelson, aged 19, Larkspur, Cal.

Howard E. Knapp, Alameda, Cal.

Mrs. Kingsley Van Loo, Oakland, Cal.

Harry Turnbull, fractured skull, San Francisco.

Miss Pearl Seemann, aged 19, leg blown off, Oakland, Cal.

Mrs. Lowymore, leg blown off and other leg amputated, Oakland.

In Midst of Crowd

The explosion occurred at Stuart and Market Streets, two blocks from the ferry building. The bomb concealed in a suit case packed with cartridges, bullets, marbles, bits of glass, iron pipe and scrap iron, blew a gap through the crowd, hurling women and children to the ground. The holiday throng, cheering a contingent of veterans of the first California infantry of the Spanish-American war, and members of the Grand Army of the Republic, who were forming in Stuart Street, became a shambles. The blare of fifty bands and the roar of drums drowned the cries of the injured. The sidewalk was strewn with torn bodies, spattered wite blood.

"Two women standing beside me were blown to bits," said Mrs. Kinsley Van Loo, of Oakland, who, with her two children, was injured.

Threats in Letter

All the newspaper offices in San Francisco yesterday received a communication written in Roman scrip with an indelible pencil, many of the words being heavily underscored. The communication was signed "The Determined Exiles from Militaristic Government. Italy, Germany, United States, Italy, Russia, Russia.' In several instances the writer repeated himself.

The communication read: "Editor—Our protests have been in vain in regards to this preparedness propaganda, so we are going to use a little direct action on the 22nd, which will echo around the earth and show that Frisco really knows how, and that militarism cannot be forced on us and our children without a violent protest.

"Things are going to happen to show that we will go to any extreme, the same as the controlling class, to preserve what little democracy we still have. Don't take this as a joke, or you will be rudely awakened. Awaken (sic) we have sworn to do our duty to the masses, and only send warnings to those who are wise, but who are forced to march to hold their jobs, as we want to give only the hypocritical patriots who shout for war, but never go, a real taste of war.

"Kindly ask the Chamber of Commerce to march in a solid body. If they want to prove they are no cowards. A copy has been sent to all the papers. Our duty has been done so far."

Every possible precaution, police officials said tonight, was taken, but the innocent looking suit case attracted no attention.

Great Force of Bomb

The force of the bomb was astonishing. Glass windows blocks away were shattered, and a great hole was torn in the sidewalk where the explosion occurred. Handfuls of empty cartridges, blown through the crowd by the explosion, were picked up in the gutters by the souvenir hunters. A woman's gold watch was blown through the air and landed in a fruit stand a block and a half away.

Through this violence the parade wended its way without a break. The veterans of the civil war, waiting in Stuart Street to fall in line, escaped death by a narrow margin, and proceeded with the march. An ambulance summoned to care for a fainting veteran stood across Stuart Street when the explosion occurred.

"It looked as if the sidewalk went straight up into the air,' said Col. Thomas O'Neill, former sheriff of San Francisco, who was in line with the volunteers. There was a loud noise, lots of smoke and dust and cries of the wounded."

One police officer standing beside his horse twenty feet from the scene of the explosion. Both were knocked down, the man falling on top of the animal.

Police Theories

Several theories were put forth tonight by the police. One was that the owner of the suit case had intended to set it out along the line of the preparedness parade, but was delayed and, knowing the bomb was timed, left it standing beside the saloon. The officials were not certain whether it was a bag or suit case that held the bomb. They have recovered bits of the metal parts of the handle. They were searching tonight for one man who was reported to have said he saw the suit case left on the sidewalk before the explosion.

One of the marchers in the parade, who was near the bomb when it exploded, but escaped injury, said:

"I whirled with the sound of the blast. It was like trying to dive through a tidal wave to get through the mass of men, women and children that charged towards me. I can't understand why I was not trampled to death."

When the parade dispersed the division of California Spanish war veterans who were nearest the explosion marched in a body to the steps of the city hall, and threats were made in an indignation meeting that a gathering of anarchistic speakers against preparedness, scheduled for tonight, would be broken up.

Many divisions in the forepart of the parade knew nothing of the explosion and terrifying scenes behind them until they bought newspaper extras. The official count of the parade indicated that 51,319 persons were in line.

The competitors from Victoria carried off the bulk of the honors, Billy Kennedy, the crack local oarsman, taking no fewer than five firsts. Following is the summary of results:

Evinrude race—1. Ditchburn; 2. Fletcher.

Men's single sculls—1. Kennedy; 2. Yates.

Ladies' single sculs—1. Miss Robertson; 2. Miss Smith.

Tandem canoe race—1. Kennedy and Sweeney; 2. Kingsley and Hiscocks.

Single paddle canoe race—1. Kennedy; 2. Sweeney.

Mixed doubles dinghy race—1. Miss Smith and Mr. Yates; 2. E. Richardson and Miss Richardson.

Boys' swimming race—1. Mercer; 2. Cameron.

Obstacle race—1. Kennedy; 2. Sweeney.

Greasy pole—1. Sweeney.

The dance held after the regatta in the Shawnigan Athletic Association club room was also a great success, some two hundred dancers taking the floor to the music provided by Miss Michelin's orchestra.

The Flower Show held in conjunction with the regatta by the Women's Institute of Shawnigan and Cobble Hill, this being the second annual event of the kind, was also most successful, there being a large number of entries in the classes for vegetables, fruits and uowers. The judges, Mrs. Pemberton and Mrs. Leather, had a hard task to decide, where the entires were so numerous and of such a high class. Mr. Fred Pemberton opened the show and congratulated the ladies on the arrangement of the exhibits and the excellent competition shown.

Bapcos in Rare Form on Local Diamond—Ladysmith Miners Completely Shut Out—Balcom Struck Out Eleven.

Amateur baseball was introduced to Victoria baseball fans for the first time this season yesterday afternoon at the Royal Athletic Park, when the newly organized team of the Bapcos met the Ladysmith Miners before a large crowd of interested fans.

Mr. Pendray, of the British-America Paint Company, formally opened the game by tossing the first ball. Balcom did mound work for the Bapcos. He was in excellent form, and let the miners down with a string of cyphers, allowing only three hits and striking out eleven men. He had almost perfect control and allowed only two free bases. Plows, catching for the locals, did fine work behind the plate, and the infield in both teams showed some great work. Pettigrew and Conti, playing second base on their respective teams, made some remarkable stops, as did also the two first basemen, both picking them off the ground well. No judgment of the outfielders can be made, as they had an easy time, only two balls being caught during the nine innings. The Bapcos had a lot of speed on bases, and they proved a wide awake team, as the score box shows, 14 tallies on 16 hits.

The teams will play a return game today at 10 o'clock at the Royal Athletic Park, with Milne on the mount for the locals.

PHENOMENAL BOWLING IN ESQUIMALT GAME

Navy Defeats Albions in Easy Fashion—Paymaster Booth Takes 6 Wickets in 11 Balls for Cost of Only 2 Runs

The Navy made another big score yesterday, playing against the Albions on the Canteen ground. Only four of the Albion batsmen were able to do anything against the Navy bowlers, Trimen being high man with 28, and the whole side was retired for 81. The Navy batsmen were all in good form, all but two of those who faced the bowlers getting well into double figures, their score reading 206 for the loss of 8 wickets.

The bowling analysis of Assistant Paymaster Booth could only be described as [illegible] wickets in 11 balls for the cost of but two runs.

FIVE C'S SECURED DRAW WITH GARRISON

Virtue Cup Standing

	P.	W.	D.	Pts.
Garrison	9	6	2	20
Five C's	7	6	1	19
Incogs	8	6	1	19
Albions	8	3	0	9
Victoria	8	3	0	9
Congregationals	7	2	0	6
Civil Service	9	0	0	0

Draw at Work Point

The match at Work Point yesterday between the Garrison and the Five C's was certainly a remarkable day's cricket. It was expected to produce a close game, but the Five C's were not at all up to their usual form in any department, and it looked, until at any rate within an hour of the finish, as if they had no chance to avoid a most decisive defeat, but the final result was a draw.

The Garrison won the toss and went in to bat first, Montgomery and Paten opening their innings. These two batsmen made 71 and 41 respectively, both having lives given them early in their innings through the dropping of catches. The fielding of the Five C's was totally unlike what is usually expected of them, and aided the Garrison not a little in running up a big score. Neither Radcliffe nor Lea were at their best with the ball, and a lot of loose ones were mixed up with good length balls by all the Five C's bowlers, few of which escaped punishment from the Garrison batsmen.

When Payne went on to bowl a decided improvement was seen for a while and the Garrison wickets fell more rapidly but the score had reached 202 when Roberson decided to declare, leaving the Garrison bowlers an hour and 45 minutes in which to get the churchmen out.

This they started in to do with every appearance of finishing the job in quick time. Payne was out with the first ball of the innings from Wells, and it was not until May and Tucker got together that a very pronounced rot was stayed. The telegraph read for the Five C's innings as follows: 1 for 0, 2 for 2, 3 for 7, 4 for 18, 5 for 22, 6 for 24, and there was still over an hour left for play; 66 was the total score when time was called, May and Nicol being the not-outs, with 8 and 3 respectively, Tucker being in an hour and a half for 30. The stonewall tactics of the last named batsman and his partner, May, turned what looked like an inevitable and overwhelming defeat into a draw. It was an extraordinary ending, but all in the game as played for coveted silverware.

Victoria Beat Civilians

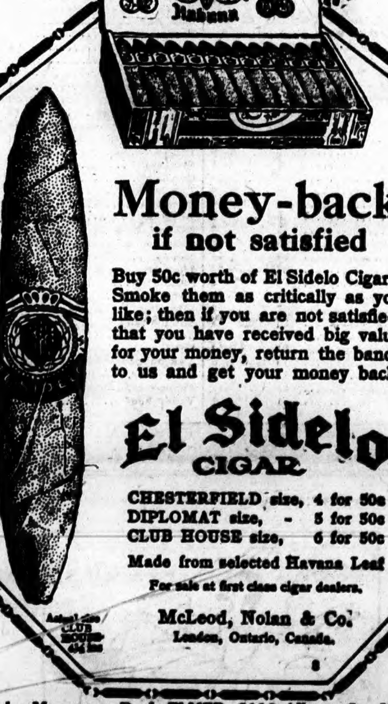

An interesting game at the Jubilee Hospital resulted in a win for Victoria by six wickets over the Civil Service. Victoria batted first and, after a bad start, recovered owing to spirited batting by Hill (24) and Laurence (21 not out). Verrall also played steadily for 21 at a critical time.

The Civil Servants fared very badly at their first attempt, no one being able to stand against some really fine bowling by H. A. Goward, except [illegible], who, despite a little luck, deserved great praise for his resolute hitting.

The feature of the day was undoubtedly Goward's fine bowling, he having the very fine analysis of 7 wickets for 17 runs, while he was backed by good fielding, particularly by Hill and L. Wyles.

Incogs Had No Trouble

The Congregationals had a very bad afternoon at the University School, where they were pitted against the Incogs. Their bowling was loose, their fielding very slack, and they displayed bad judgment between wickets. This, against such a strong team as the Incogs, was bound to spell defeat, and the defeat was decisive. Ackroyd gave a fine display with the bat for the winners, and Collett played a first-class innings for the losers. He was also responsible for a magnificent one-handed catch off his own bowling, which dismissed Allen. Schwengers bowled well, only having 18 runs hit from his bowling in 7 overs.

DEUTSCHLAND STAYS

BALTIMORE, Md., July 22.—A visit of Capt. Frederick Hinsch, superintendent of the German merchant submarine Deutschland's pier, to the custom house this afternoon, gave rise to a report that he had filed the submarine's clearance papers. The record of today's business, however, contained no entry of the underwater craft having cleared, and later an employee of the customs declared that no application for clearance papers had been filed.

Capt. Hinsch, himself, when asked about the matter, said:

"You ought to know that the captain is the only one who can file clearance papers."

Capt. Paul Koenig, commander of the boat, did not leave the immediate vicinity of the pier all day.

BOMB EXPLODES AMONG CROWD

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—At least six persons were killed and over forty others injured by the explosion here today of a timed bomb in the midst of a throng viewing a preparedness parade. The police arrested Frank Joseph, but said he had not been charged with the crime.

Chas. M. Fickert, district attorney, issued a statement attributing the deed to a mind unbalanced by arguments for and against preparedness, which have occupied attention here. The parade was not interrupted.

Dead and Injured

Lists of dead and injured compiled by the police tonight are:

The dead are:

Mrs. Howard E. Knapp, Alameda, Cal.

Dr. George Painter, Berkeley, Cal.

Arthur Nelson, Larkspur, Cal.

O. H. Lamborn, Alameda, Cal.

Adam Fox, San Francisco, Cal.

George Lawler, Mill Valley, Cal.

Seriously injured:

Arthur Nelson, aged 19, Larkspur, Cal.

Howard E. Knapp, Alameda, Cal.

Mrs. Kingsley Van Loo, Oakland, Cal.

Harry Turnbull, fractured skull, San Francisco.

Miss Pearl Seemann, aged 19, leg blown off, Oakland, Cal.

Mrs. Lowymore, leg blown off and other leg amputated, Oakland.

In Midst of Crowd

The explosion occurred at Stuart and Market Streets, two blocks from the ferry building. The bomb concealed in a suit case packed with cartridges, bullets, marbles, bits of glass, iron pipe and scrap iron, blew a gap through the crowd, hurling women and children to the ground. The holiday throng, cheering a contingent of veterans of the first California infantry of the Spanish-American war, and members of the Grand Army of the Republic, who were forming in Stuart Street, became a shambles. The blare of fifty bands and the roar of drums drowned the cries of the injured. The sidewalk was strewn with torn bodies, spattered wite blood.

"Two women standing beside me were blown to bits," said Mrs. Kinsley Van Loo, of Oakland, who, with her two children, was injured.

Threats in Letter

All the newspaper offices in San Francisco yesterday received a communication written in Roman scrip with an indelible pencil, many of the words being heavily underscored. The communication was signed "The Determined Exiles from Militaristic Government. Italy, Germany, United States, Italy, Russia, Russia.' In several instances the writer repeated himself.

The communication read: "Editor—Our protests have been in vain in regards to this preparedness propaganda, so we are going to use a little direct action on the 22nd, which will echo around the earth and show that Frisco really knows how, and that militarism cannot be forced on us and our children without a violent protest.

"Things are going to happen to show that we will go to any extreme, the same as the controlling class, to preserve what little democracy we still have. Don't take this as a joke, or you will be rudely awakened. Awaken (sic) we have sworn to do our duty to the masses, and only send warnings to those who are wise, but who are forced to march to hold their jobs, as we want to give only the hypocritical patriots who shout for war, but never go, a real taste of war.

"Kindly ask the Chamber of Commerce to march in a solid body. If they want to prove they are no cowards. A copy has been sent to all the papers. Our duty has been done so far."

Every possible precaution, police officials said tonight, was taken, but the innocent looking suit case attracted no attention.

Great Force of Bomb

The force of the bomb was astonishing. Glass windows blocks away were shattered, and a great hole was torn in the sidewalk where the explosion occurred. Handfuls of empty cartridges, blown through the crowd by the explosion, were picked up in the gutters by the souvenir hunters. A woman's gold watch was blown through the air and landed in a fruit stand a block and a half away.

Through this violence the parade wended its way without a break. The veterans of the civil war, waiting in Stuart Street to fall in line, escaped death by a narrow margin, and proceeded with the march. An ambulance summoned to care for a fainting veteran stood across Stuart Street when the explosion occurred.

"It looked as if the sidewalk went straight up into the air,' said Col. Thomas O'Neill, former sheriff of San Francisco, who was in line with the volunteers. There was a loud noise, lots of smoke and dust and cries of the wounded."

One police officer standing beside his horse twenty feet from the scene of the explosion. Both were knocked down, the man falling on top of the animal.

Police Theories

Several theories were put forth tonight by the police. One was that the owner of the suit case had intended to set it out along the line of the preparedness parade, but was delayed and, knowing the bomb was timed, left it standing beside the saloon. The officials were not certain whether it was a bag or suit case that held the bomb. They have recovered bits of the metal parts of the handle. They were searching tonight for one man who was reported to have said he saw the suit case left on the sidewalk before the explosion.

One of the marchers in the parade, who was near the bomb when it exploded, but escaped injury, said:

"I whirled with the sound of the blast. It was like trying to dive through a tidal wave to get through the mass of men, women and children that charged towards me. I can't understand why I was not trampled to death."

When the parade dispersed the division of California Spanish war veterans who were nearest the explosion marched in a body to the steps of the city hall, and threats were made in an indignation meeting that a gathering of anarchistic speakers against preparedness, scheduled for tonight, would be broken up.

Many divisions in the forepart of the parade knew nothing of the explosion and terrifying scenes behind them until they bought newspaper extras. The official count of the parade indicated that 51,319 persons were in line.

Amateur baseball was introduced to Victoria baseball fans for the first time this season yesterday afternoon at the Royal Athletic Park, when the newly organized team of the Bapcos met the Ladysmith Miners before a large crowd of interested fans.

Mr. Pendray, of the British-America Paint Company, formally opened the game by tossing the first ball. Balcom did mound work for the Bapcos. He was in excellent form, and let the miners down with a string of cyphers, allowing only three hits and striking out eleven men. He had almost perfect control and allowed only two free bases. Plows, catching for the locals, did fine work behind the plate, and the infield in both teams showed some great work. Pettigrew and Conti, playing second base on their respective teams, made some remarkable stops, as did also the two first basemen, both picking them off the ground well. No judgment of the outfielders can be made, as they had an easy time, only two balls being caught during the nine innings. The Bapcos had a lot of speed on bases, and they proved a wide awake team, as the score box shows, 14 tallies on 16 hits.

The teams will play a return game today at 10 o'clock at the Royal Athletic Park, with Milne on the mount for the locals.

There was a good crowd in attendance, the weather was fine and the programme was excellently handled, the events being all run off on time, Mr. Hiscocks making an excellent starter and Col. Wilmot an equally excellent finish judge.

The competitors from Victoria carried off the bulk of the honors, Billy Kennedy, the crack local oarsman, taking no fewer than five firsts. Following is the summary of results:

Evinrude race—1. Ditchburn; 2. Fletcher.

Men's single sculls—1. Kennedy; 2. Yates.

Ladies' single sculs—1. Miss Robertson; 2. Miss Smith.

Single paddle canoe race—1. Kennedy; 2. Sweeney.

Mixed doubles dinghy race—1. Miss Smith and Mr. Yates; 2. E. Richardson and Miss Richardson.

Boys' swimming race—1. Mercer; 2. Cameron.

Obstacle race—1. Kennedy; 2. Sweeney.

Greasy pole—1. Sweeney.

The dance held after the regatta in the Shawnigan Athletic Association club room was also a great success, some two hundred dancers taking the floor to the music provided by Miss Michelin's orchestra.

The Flower Show held in conjunction with the regatta by the Women's Institute of Shawnigan and Cobble Hill, this being the second annual event of the kind, was also most successful, there being a large number of entries in the classes for vegetables, fruits and uowers. The judges, Mrs. Pemberton and Mrs. Leather, had a hard task to decide, where the entires were so numerous and of such a high class. Mr. Fred Pemberton opened the show and congratulated the ladies on the arrangement of the exhibits and the excellent competition shown.

PHENOMENAL BOWLING IN ESQUIMALT GAME

Navy Defeats Albions in Easy Fashion—Paymaster Booth Takes 6 Wickets in 11 Balls for Cost of Only 2 Runs

The Navy made another big score yesterday, playing against the Albions on the Canteen ground. Only four of the Albion batsmen were able to do anything against the Navy bowlers, Trimen being high man with 28, and the whole side was retired for 81. The Navy batsmen were all in good form, all but two of those who faced the bowlers getting well into double figures, their score reading 206 for the loss of 8 wickets.

The bowling analysis of Assistant Paymaster Booth could only be described as phenomenal, he getting 6 wickets in 11 balls for the cost of but two runs.

FIVE C'S SECURED DRAW WITH GARRISON

Virtue Cup Standing

	P.	W.	D.	Pts.

Five C's	7	6	1	19
Incogs	8	6	1	19
Albions	8	3	0	9

Draw at Work Point

The match at Work Point yesterday between the Garrison and the Five C's was certainly a remarkable day's cricket. It was expected to produce a close game, but the Five C's were not at all up to their usual form in any department, and it looked, until at any rate within an hour of the finish, as if they had no chance to avoid a most decisive defeat, but the final result was a draw.

The Garrison won the toss and went in to bat first, Montgomery and Paten opening their innings. These two batsmen made 71 and 41 respectively, both having lives given them early in their innings through the dropping of catches. The fielding of the Five C's was totally unlike what is usually expected of them, and aided the Garrison not a little in running up a big score. Neither Radcliffe nor Lea were at their best with the ball, and a lot of loose ones were mixed up with good length balls by all the Five C's bowlers, few of which escaped punishment from the Garrison batsmen.

When Payne went on to bowl a decided improvement was seen for a while and the Garrison wickets fell more rapidly but the score had reached 202 when Roberson decided to declare, leaving the Garrison bowlers an hour and 45 minutes in which to get the churchmen out.

This they started in to do with every appearance of finishing the job in quick time. Payne was out with the first ball of the innings from Wells, and it was not until May and Tucker got together that a very pronounced rot was stayed. The telegraph read for the Five C's innings as follows: 1 for 0, 2 for 3, 3 for 7, 4 for 18, 5 for 22, 6 for 24, and there was still over an hour left for play; 66 was the total score when time was called, May and Nicol being the not-outs, with 8 and 3 respectively, Tucker being in an hour and a half for 30. The stonewall tactics of the last named batsman and his partner, May, turned what looked like an inevitable and overwhelming defeat into a draw. It was an extraordinary ending, but all in the game as played for coveted silverware.

Victoria Beat Civilians

An interesting game at the Jubilee Hospital resulted in a win for Victoria by six wickets over the Civil Service. Victoria batted first and, after a bad start, recovered owing to spirited batting by Hill (24) and Laurence (21 not out). Verrall also played steadily for 21 at a critical time.

The Civil Servants fared very badly at their first attempt, no one being able to stand against some really fine bowling by H. A. Goward, except Pite, who, despite a little luck, deserved great praise for his resolute hitting.

The feature of the day was undoubtedly Goward's fine bowling, he having the very fine analysis of 7 wickets for 17 runs, while he was backed by good fielding, particularly by Hill and L. Wyles.

Incogs. Had No Trouble

The Congregationals had a very bad afternoon at the University School, where they were pitted against the Incogs. Their bowling was loose, their fielding very slack, and they displayed bad judgment between wickets. This, against such a strong team as the Incogs, was bound to spell defeat, and the defeat was decisive. Ackroyd gave a fine display with the bat for the winners, and Collett played a first-class innings for the losers. He was also responsible for a magnificent one-handed catch off his own bowling, which dismissed Allen. Schwengers bowled well, only having 18 runs hit from his bowling in 7 overs.

DEUTSCHLAND STAYS

BALTIMORE, Md., July 22.—A visit of Capt. Frederick Hinsch, superintendent of the German merchant submarine Deutschland's pier, to the custom house this afternoon, gave rise to a report that he had filed the submarine's clearance papers. The record of today's business, however, contained no entry of the underwater craft having cleared, and later an employee of the customs declared that no application for clearance papers had been filed.

Capt. Hinsch, [illegible], when asked about the matter, said:

"You ought to know that the captain is the only one who can file clearance papers."

Capt. Paul Koenig, commander of the boat, did not leave the immediate vicinity of the pier all day.

THE BEAUTY OF SUNLIGHT

is that every garment washed with it bears the impress of purity; a purity begotten of sweet, cleansing oils, and maintained by absolute cleanliness in manufacture; a purity sealed by the co-operation of workers united for the purpose; a purity demonstrated by the "$5,000 guarantee" which rests upon every bar of SUNLIGHT SOAP.

A substitute for Sunlight is not as good and never can be. Confer upon the genuine—Sunlight Soap.

The Best Rubber Heel Costs Only 10c More

The ten cents extra charge upon Goodyear Wingfoot Air Heels makes all the difference between the better rubber heel and the ordinary rubber heels.

If Goodyear were to make—as Goodyear might—a heel which would sell at the standard price of ordinary heels, the heel would be full value for your 50c. But it would not be the best heel that Goodyear could produce—would not truly represent Goodyear standards of excellence.

In Wingfoot Air Heels you get better heels. It is worth while investing 10c extra to receive bigger returns in wear and comfort.

There's more wear, more springiness in Wingfoots because they are made from purer, better rubber. There's more comfort and more life, because Wingfoots have air cushions with raised edges that lift the foot up, give gaiety to the step, and combat slipping.

The time used is Pacific Standard, for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the tables the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning. The height is in feet and tenths of a foot above the average level of lower water.

KEELS WILL BE ON GROUND TOMORROW

Plant of Cameron-Genoa Mills Shipbuilders Ltd. Assuming a Businesslike Appearance —Another Building Finished

Building operations at the new plant of the Cameron-Genoa Mills Shipbuilders Limited, are beginning to assume an imposing aspect. The work is progressing steadily, and it was stated at the plant yesterday that if labor were available still greater progress would have been made. Ship carpenters and laborers who are capable need have no complaint about lack of work, as they will readily be given employment at the shipbuilding plant.

The men are now busy getting the keel blocks cut to be placed in position. The keels will be on hand tomorrow, and all the lumber necessary for the first ship is now on the ground. Supplies and machinery are arriving steadily, and the air compressor which will supply the power for driving the drills and hammers will be delivered at the plant tomorrow. Amongst the machinery recently received is a steel hoist which will be used for lifting all the heavy timbers into position.

Storehouse Complete

Another new building just completed is the storehouse, in which will be kept all the tools and other supplies. This structure is 40 by 24 feet in dimension. The shipping dock is now finished and the boiler-house and band-saw mill are in operation, steam having been on in the boilers since Friday. The staff in the draughting loft, composed of five men at present, is busily engaged on plans and in the making of the patterns which will be used in the construction of the vessels.

There are now about fifty men employed at the plant, and this number will be considerably increased during this week.

KENKON'S REPAIRS

Difficulty Is Experienced in Arranging for the Work on Account of Limited Use of Drydock

It will probably be definitely known tomorrow just what will be done in the matter of repairs to be made to the Kenkon Maru No. 3, now in drydock, when the specifications of the damage sustained by the vessel will be gone over and the most feasible plan decided upon.

It is no light matter to decide what is best to be done in the circumstances, the greatest difficulty being the limited time allowed by the Admiralty for the use of the drydock. Several plans have been under discussion, and until the owners, who are Japanese, make up their mind to what extent the repairs will be carried on here nothing definite can be said. Mr. Inui was yesterday inclined to call for tenders for the whole work to be done on this Coast. The vessel will be repaired, as far as possible, in the drydock and floated at the expiration of the time allotted her, namely August 4, and if local firms undertake to complete her she will again be drydocked on the first occasion on which the drydock may again be used by the vessel. If other than local concerns gets the contract, she may possibly be taken to the United States to complete repairs.

INABA MARU SAILS

The Nippon Yusen Kaisha liner Inaba Maru left this port for Kobe about 7:30 o'clock last night, exactly two weeks behind her schedule, having been delayed at Seattle by the strike. She carried a good number of passengers and a heavy cargo. Miss E. Gammock was the only cabin passenger boarding the vessel at Victoria. She is bound for Colombo. Thirty steerage passengers left here on the Inaba, ten of whom were divers who havev been engaged for months on thhis Coast in the salvage operations on the Kenkon Maru No. 3.

MISSING AT SEA

Government Boats at Honolulu Give Up Search for Five Soldiers Who Put to Sea in Small Boat

HONOLULU, T. H., July 22.—The navy tug Navajo and the lighthouse tender Columbine abandoned the search yesterday for five enlisted men of the corps of engineers from Fort Shafter who put to sea last Saturday for a pleasure cruise in a fifteen-foot whaleboat. The missing men are:

Cpl. William O'Reilly, of Mount Vernon, Ind.; Pte. Raymond W. Rinker, son of Mrs. Minnie Kirby, of San Diego, Cal.; Pte. Thomas W. Murphy, son of the Rev. Hodge Murphy, Marlotta, Ill.; Pte. Michael Clarke, San Francisco, and Pte. Silas P Birdsall, San Francisco.

The whaleboat was equipped with auxiliary power in addition to sail.

Japanese fishermen joined with the naval authorities in the search.

VESSELS PASSING

The barge Simla, in tow of the tug Defiance, with 22,000 barrels of oil from Port San Luis for Vancouver, passed up at 8:45 o'clock yesterday morning.

The Japanese steamer Tokai Maru, from Formosa with 3,000 tons of sugar for the Refinery at Vancouver, passed up at 6:30 o'clock yesterday morning. She will load at Puget Sound ports for Vladivostok after discharging at Vancouver.

The N.Y.K. liner Inaba Maru reached this port at 6:30 p.m. yesterday and left for Kobe at 7:30 p.m.

MARINE NOTES

It is now expected that the liner Monteagle, which is running some days behind schedule, may reach here tomorrow. She has 90 saloon passengers and a good steerage list, and is bringing 6,000 tons of Oriental cargo.

Local agents for the N. Y. K. line are advised from Tokio that the liner Tamba Maru is due to arrive at Victoria on August 30 on her next trip, and will sail from Seattle on September 9. The longshoremen's strike has thrown this vessel away off her schedule.

The contract for the erection of the concrete lighthouse tower, fog alarm building and dwelling at Triple Island, Brown Passage, has been awarded to Snyder Bros. & Brethour, Ltd., of Vancouver, and work will be commonced at once.

It is reported that the British steamer Penrith Castle, which left Victoria on June 30, after replenishing her bunkers at Union Bay, is aground near Muroran, Japan, and vessels are on the scene to offer aid. She ran ashore in a fog while bound for Vladivostok with cargo loaded at Baltimore. She is a vessel of 3,663 tons, and is owned in Liverpool.

On her way up the Coast to load general cargo at Vancouver and paper at Powell River, the steamer Waikawa will pick up 1,417 tons of paper at Portland which the Waimarino failed to call for owing to the strike. Both vessels are owned by the Union Steamship Co., of New Zealand.

The steamer Turret Crown, on her way here from the Atlantic to enter the British Columbia ore carrying trade, is reported to havev arrived at San Pedro, Cal.

Local agents are advised that the N. Y. K. liner Shiduzoka Maru left Hong Kong on July 19 for Victoria via Yokohama, and is due here on August 17.

Mr. W. R. Dale,, agent for the N.Y.K. line, is advised by the Seattle office that the liner Yokohama Maru will probably get away for the Orient, calling at Victoria on Wednesday, July 26, five days behind her schedule.

If I Record My Vote In Favor of Prohibition on Sept. 14 Next

AND THE B.C. PROHIBITION ACT BECOMES LAW

Shall I Have Helped to Reduce the Consumption of Liquor?

Experience—the true test—proves to the contrary; in Saskatchewan it has REDUCED the consumption of Beer by 13,234 gallons, and INCREASED the consumption of Spirits by 14,966 gallons; SEVEN MILLION GALLONS MORE WHISKY was consumed in the United States since July 1, 1915, than in any corresponding period in past years.

What Would Be the Effect of Prohibition Upon Home Life?

Since it is proven that the consumption of liquor is not reduced by prohibiton, the inevitable result will be to convert the dwelling house into a saloon.

What Would Be the Effect of Prohibition on Labor?

Five thousand men now employed in hotels and breweries will be thrown out of employment—this does not include a large number of men employed in contingent trades.

What Would Be the Effect of Prohibition on Public Funds?

The large revenues now paid by license holders to cities, municipalities and Provincial Government would be destroyed and taxation greatly increased in consequence.

What Would Be the Effect of Prohibition on Real Estate Values?

It would render almost worthless thousands of buildings, stores and premises throughout the Province. Most of them would be added to the already large number of vacant premises, and further depression of values would result.

What Would Be the Effect of Prohibition on Tourist Traffic?

Every time we come to the surface we "blow" about Tourist Traffic—the Government has spent nearly two million dollars on the Malahat and Strathcona undertakings—largely to attract Tourists. Country Hotels cannot remain in business without the convenience and support of their license. Should prohibition close the hotels, what will become of the Tourist Traffic?

"The Elopers," featuring Teddy McNamara at Pantages

DICKINSON & DEAGON at Pantages

THEATRE GUIDE

Pantages—High class vaudeville, all week.

Feature Films

Royal Victoria—William Farnum in "The Wonderful Adventure," all week.

Dominion—Marguerite Clark in "Silks and Satins," beginning Monday.

Majestic—Features a matinee fairy tale special for children.

PANTAGES THEATRE

It's a laughing show at the Pantages this week. There is comedy in everything. Teddy McNamara is present. If comedians were only in the demand they were a quarter century ago he would be another Frank Daniels, a second James T. Powers. He is a mass of St. Vitus fun. His comely sister Nellie, also of the old Pollards, sings sweetly, there are six well-costumed girls in "The Elopers," and a young, very pretty and graceful dancer, Jessie Maker, who is good enough for any Winter garden or "Follies" show.

The big feature will be the production of "The Elopers," the La-Salle Musical Comedy Company's biggest success, but in tabloid form. All the best features have been maintained and the number will run for twenty-four minutes, requiring three men and a beauty chorus of eight young women.

Will Morris, the pantomime cycling tramp, will be back with his side-splitting antics and his splendid trick bicycle work. La Zar and Dale, black-face comedians, in "Joining the Union," are credited with having a burlesque offering which produces some twenty laughs per minute.

Another featured act will be that of Dickinson and Deagon, formerly with "The Candy Shop." They have a potpourri of song, mirth and dancing entitled "A Vaudeville Variety," and should crowd the topliners in the matter of interest.

Davett and Duval will be seen on their return in the comedy success, "Holding Out." Nion Duval is one of the cleverest of feminine funmakers, and it is promised that the act will be an instantaneous success.

Florence Rayfield, billed as a dainty comedienne, has a reputation of fully living up to her billing.

The fourteenth instalment of "The Iron Claw" is entitled "The Plunge for Life." The identity of The Laughing Mask, hero of Pathe's "The Iron Claw" serial, is still veiled. In the last episode he—or she—disclosed his—or her—features to the astonished Margery Golden, heroine of the serial. But his or her back was turned on us, and Pearl refuses to tell. In the latest episode, "The Plunge for Life," showing this week, The Laughing Mask, pursued by the police and suspected as being the perpetrator of the crimes committed by The Iron Claw, takes up his abode in a cave high up on the Palisades.

He is discovered there later and has to flee. Margery is with him at the time, and together they jump over the cliff. The police find that Legar has also taken a place for safety near that of the Mask, and he, too, makes the perilous jump to the river below. The Mask later goes to the Golden household to see Margery and is discovered there by the police. He makes his escape and runs to a trolley car which is passing some distance off. Commandeering this, he throws off the motorman and takes charge of the car. It jumps the track as it crosses a bridge and falls into the street below, a twisted, splintered wreck. The detectives, following the Mask, run up, but no trace of his body is found. Now the question is made even more complex. Not just "Who is the Laughing Mask?", but "Where is the Laughing Mask?"

ROYAL VICTORIA THEATRE

Following is a brief outline of the story of "The Wonderful Adventure," the latest William Fox photoplay starring William Farnum, which Captain Lawton says is his most successful work to date, and which is the attraction at the coming week at the Royal Victoria.

A scene from "The Wonderful Adventure," in which William Farnum is featured at the Royal Victoria Theatre.

The downfall of John Demarest, a wealthy New York contractor, begins when he becomes madly infatuated with a beautiful mystic, Mazora (Dorothy Green). This woman, whose evil influence proves the bitter bane of Demarest's life, acquaints him with the intoxication of a powerful drug, to which he becomes an abject slave. Though possessed of station and a beautiful wife and child, Demarest fatuously allows the drug's insiduous and sapping delights to strengthen its hold upon him till the hours when he is not under its subtle influence are passed in the arms of Mazora.

At last things reach a pitch where the breaking point is near. At this crisis Demarest meets John Stanley, a mining engineer from the West, whose likeness to Demarest facially is startling. But Stanley is possessed of a clean, manly soul, while Demarest by this time has reached a stage where, maddened by the drug's effects, he abuses his wife and child. Stanley is frankly and flatly broke and confides his troubles to Demarest, who persuades Stanley to impersonate him (Demarest) in business and at home. Demarest then submerges himself and abandons the dregs of his life to indulgence.

In the meantime Stanley is occupying a cruelly anomalous position. He has grown to love Demarest's beautiful wife and she, without for an instant guessing that he is not Demarest, yet notices with wonder and deepening tenderness the "change" in her husband. Stanley steels himself bravely agaist his love and maintains toward the woman to whom his heart goes out the same attitude of neglect that Demarest did. He never yields to his temptation to clasp her in his arms and press on her lips hot kisses. Instead, he is cold, reserved and distant. How the vexed problem is finally solved and the lives of Mrs. Demarest and Stanley are united makes a photoplay romance of entrancing power and thrilling interest.

DOMINION THEATRE

Little Marguerite Clark, who has graced the garb of prince, pauper, orphan, Spanish girl, little Irish lass, Swiss maiden and others too numerous to mention, will be seen for the first time in "Silks and Satins." This beautiful photo romance produced by the Famous Players Film Co. will be shown at the Dominion Theatre on the Paramount programme next week. The Famous Players have been carefully selected for this petite star a cast, scenes and director, J. Searle Dawley, that make this production stand foremost among feature photoplays.

In this unusual romance Miss Clark is a modern girl who is to marry a certain young dandy against her wishes. Through the careless manoeuvring of a table, a drawer is dislodged, which had heretofore been unseen, revealing a diary with an avenue of escape from her predicament inscribed in it by an ancient relative, of the Eighteenth Century, who had been in a like predicament. The plot is a combination of an old love story with one of modern origin. Little Felicite, the stellar figure in both romances, portrayed by Miss Clark, reads the following love affair from the newly discovered diary:

To avoid meeting the man chosen by her father to be her husband, Felicite dons her maid's garments and runs gaily down the road. Her beauty attracts the attention of Henri, the son of the Marquis De Sagna, and a relative of the family. Bent on marrying the girl, Henri embraces her. Jacques, a soldier of fortune, passing by on horseback, comprehends the situation and rescues her from Henri's clutches. She is grateful to her saviour and love results as time progresses. Etienne, to whom she is engaged, leaves for Paris; while on his journey her father succumbs to a heart attack, and Felicite is taken to the home of the Marquis. Etienne hears of her plight, but is too cowardly to fight for her; therefore, he proceeds to search for a swordsman who will rescue his bride for him. In a gaming house he witnesses the expert swordsmanship of one of the men in disposing of an undesirable character. He offers the young gentleman a sum of money to rescue his bride. The soldier of fortune, who happens to be Jacques, is proud of the opportunity to be of service in such a worthy cause. He departs for the Marquis' chateau, without knowing that he is to save his own sweetheart.

What follows is of vital interest to Felicite, who, upon completing the diary, determines to pursue the course set for her by her ancestor.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

They might have given a different title to "His Picture in the Papers," the Triangle-Fine Arts comedy to be seen on the Columbia screen for the first three days of the week. It would have been very appropriate to have called it, "It Pays to Advertise." Douglas Fairbanks, as the hero of the story, gets his picture on the front page of the New York city papers, by strenuous methods, well-suited to his energetic disposition. Fairbanks could not take a "silent" part even in photo-drama.

Fairbanks, as the hero of "His Picture in the Papers," is the son of a food product manufacturer, whose "Prindle's Twenty-Seven Varieties" are vegetarian strictly. But th big, red-blooded son prefers a big red-blooded juicy beefsteak and is amased to find he has attractive company in the effort to get the satisfying steak. The daughter of a railroad magnate, who is also a vegetarian and believer in the Prindle foods, meets the hero in a restaurant where she, too, has gone to get "something to eat" after a vegetarian banquet.

It is love at first sight, but to win out, the hero has to get a partnership with his father, who sets the task of getting his picture in the front pages of the papers as the price the youth must pay. He lands, but there are some highly amusing and spectacular scenes in the course of the strenuous action of this lively play.

There is another comedy on the Columbia first programme for the week. It is "Better Late Than Never," with William Collier in the leading role, and with splendid supporting cast. Collier, veteran of the stage, has deserted to the motion picture camp. He is playing exclusively with the Sennett Keystone studio, making laugh-producers for the Triangle organization. This is the second Collier play to come to the Columbia, and it is a good one.

"The Price of Power" will be the feature film Thursday to Saturday.

MAJESTIC THEATRE

There has been a long-felt want of pictures which appeal to little ones, and in the feature announced, "Rumpelstiltskin," is unfolded a pretty little story which will delight both young and old.

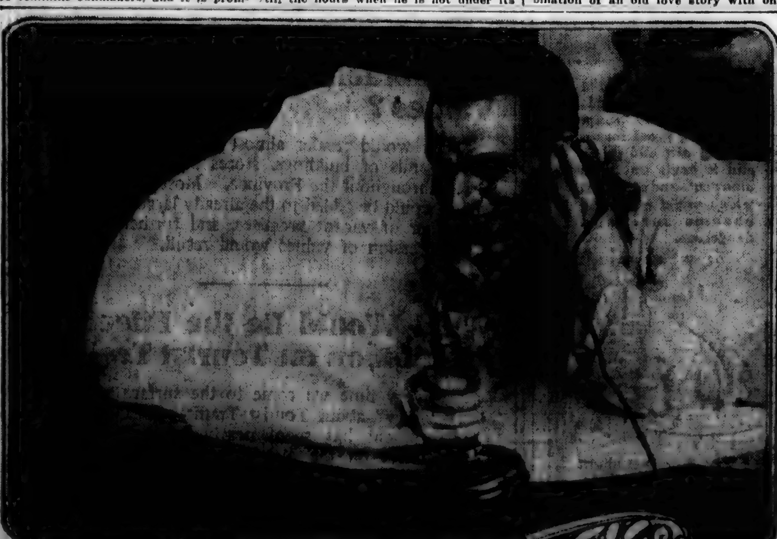

Most little ones know the story from their nursery book and will take a delight in seeing Simple Simon and other well-known personages which live in a child's imagination, on the screen.

The evening programme will follow the children's at 5:30, when the features for first half of the week are a three-reel Essanay feature "Fifty-Fifty," and an episode of the "Pictures of Marguerite" series with Marguerite Courlot taking the leading role. Capital comedies complete a very attractive programme.

Fox Gets William Farnum

Upon the legitimate stage William Farnum achieved fame and wealth as Ben Hur, Ingomar, the Prince of India and other classical roles. In joining the William Fox forces, Mr. Farnum announced his intention of permanently abandoning the spoken for the silent stage. He believes in the vast possibilities of the film and is enthusiastic over his work for William Fox, who has an exclusive contract with this most popular of players. Under the Fox management Mr. Farnum will be seen in "Samson," "A Gilded Fool," "The Nigger," "The Plunderer" and "The Bondman."

Nance O'Neil is unquestionably the greatest of all American emotional actresses. In fact, it is not too much to say that in the portrayal of fiery passion and stormy emotion, she has no rival, but stands supremely alone in her great genius. Miss O'Neil's stage career, before she made her screen debut under the William Fox standard, was a notable one. She has appeared in practically every great emotional role ever written. London paid as enthusiastic tribute to her wonderful gifts as New York. Her home on Riverside Drive, New York, is one of the show places of the city. In it are amassed priceless art treasures from all over the globe. Miss O'Neil has appeared as the star of such William Fox triumphs as "Kreutzer Sonata," and "Princess Romanoff" and "The Witch."

Facts and Trifles.

Mr. Anthony A. Guest relates the following amusing episode: "Some fourteen years ago I was in a chess room looking on at a game between two weak players. When it was finished one of them left, and the other asked me to play. By way of a joke I said 'I will play you if you will give me a Knight.' 'Oh, certainly,' he replied, in a superior manner, of course thinking I was a duffer. We played accordingly, and I purposely let him win. Then I said, 'I think it's an advantage to give a Knight. You castle earlier and get an attack. If you don't mind, I should like to give you a Knight.' He smiled at this, and assured me I should not have a chance. However, after some persuasion, he consented to let me try, and I won the game, remarking, 'You see, that proves what I said. Now it is your turn to give me a Knight.' We played again, he giving me the odds, and he won. After four or five games, in which we gave the Knight alternately, and the odds-giver each time won, he became quite bewildered, and said at the end: 'I believe you are right after all; I had no idea of it before; but it does seem to be no advantage to give a Knight.'"

Jean Sothern is one of the daintiest and most charming of actresses. Not yet out of her teens, her wonderful dramatic ability earned her a place as co-star with Theda Bara in "The Two Orphans," in which she appears as the pathetic blind sister, Louise. Miss Sothern is a discovery of Mr. Fox's, who found in this charming young woman, who was then playing on his vaudeville circuit, just the rare type of blonde beauty required for Louise.

GREAT CENTRAL LAKE IS MADE OBJECTIVE

Charming Scenes and Varied Recreations Delight Holiday Party Which Makes Trip With Ford Car.

(By Robert Dunn)

"In the clear, ice-cold water of a mountain stream, just at the point of its merging with the upper waters of Great Central Lake, we could see the sandy bottom. It was deep, ten or eleven feet at least, but as transparent as crystal. We anchored, prepared our rods, and my companion made the first cast. 'There they come!' he exclaimed. Stopping my hurried arrangement of cast and flies for a minute, I looked to see a school of trout, large and small, sportively swimming towards the launch.

With the accuracy and delicacy of the practised angler a March Brown touched the water just above the fish. One of the largest saw it, and with a swish of his tail rose to the surface—to find himself a captive. The fight was on and for five minutes he taxed my friend's skill to the utmost, for line and rod were exceedingly light, and the trout weighed between 2 1-2 and 3 pounds. Finally he was a panting and struggling prisoner within the capacious depths of a landing net—a well-conditioned, silver British Columbia trout, as cold to the touch as the glacier water from which he had been taken.

Two Days at Central Lake

This is one incident of many of a visit of ten days to Great Central Lake, a body of water 23 miles in length situated 11 miles from Alberni. The selection of that beautiful spot for the enjoyment of an outing was a happy inspiration born of the announcement that I would be free for ten days in the month of July. I had heard a Ford motor car, of which I am the possessor, laughed at and made the butt of jokes on every side, but my experience with the trusty little vehicle was that, while it might not travel with the noiseless smoothness of some of its aristocratic brothers, it usually got where it was headed even when heavily handicapped. And so I planned to use the Ford as a means towards having a good time. It was loaded down on one side with a large sized box of grub and on the other with tents and blankets. The weight of these, together with my party of four—which includes the writer—brought the rear guards perilously near the tires, but there was a fair clearance, and, with everything moving in grand shape we started on our pilgrimage.

It was about noon when we left Victoria. We got over the Malahat without difficulty, although it will have to be admitted that some of the hills necessitated going into low gear. There had been showers for several days and the roads were in fine condition. Duncan, Westholme, Chemainus, Ladysmith and Nanaimo were left behind in good time. The familiar scenery of the former districts were admired as usual, and the sun was sinking fast when we reached Parksville. From this point to Cameron Lake the run was made without loss of time. A short stop was made en route for the evening meal, which was prepared in one of the innumerable charming spots nearing the water, a fire being built which boiled the water in a few minutes, tea thereby being available having a finer flavor than anything ever served with the accompaniment of fine linen and the other refinements and comforts of home.

We had fixed Cameron Lake as the extreme limit of the day's progress and there is no denying that before that body of water was sighted some of us thought that perhaps we had been too ambitious. But we had made up our minds to pitch our first camp on the shores of the lake and there was to be no changing of plans. And now started a race with time, for tents had to be erected, and for this work poles had to be found. Luck was with us, for a short distance from our objective we sighted an abandoned camp, where were saplings ready for use. These we commandeered, and spurting over the hills which separate Coombes from Cameron Lake, caught our first glimpse of the latter as twilight was falling. All eyes were open for a camping site, and as one was sighted the Ford was brought up with a jerk, canvas, blankets and grub were unloaded, and in almost less time than it takes to tell a large fire was blazing on a charming pebble beach and the tents were in shape for the bedding.

Morning on Island Forest

Here we spent the night. We did not take the time to appreciate the beautiful scenery—the silver moonlight on the placid surface of the water, the turbulent mountain streams pouring down the hillside from the glaciers of Mount Arrowsmith, or the magnificent timber. Everyone was too tired and all turned in and slept dreamlessly. It occurs to me that I might be overstepping the mark in using the word "dreamlessly," for I remember now that I awoke with a start in the belief that a rat or mole or some other creature had crawled over the blanket at my feet. Later I heard that this particular spot is infested with a small species of water snakes, and I shudder to think that possibly one of these reptiles paid us a visit.

Have you ever risen in the morning in the country to find the dew drops hanging from the foliage and sparkling in the first rays of the sun; to breathe the intoxicating perfume of the pine and the fir; to revel in the freshness of nature; to be disturbed by nothing but the lap of the water against the beach; the rush of the streams down the hillside, and, adding to a medley of pleasureable sensations, to discover that your appetite was tremendous? Of course you have! Those who have not, if there are any, have not yet lived.

There isn't much of the poet in my composition, but what little there is was stimulated to fancy by that morning on Cameron Lake, and we all thoroughly enjoyed ourselves until about the end of breakfast, when the smoke of frying bacon and eggs brought the flies and mosquitos. They came in myriads. There were the humming mosquitos which gave notice of their intentions. These were not so bad as the little fellows—some call them 'no-see-ums,' which 'gum-shoe' up to their game, fasten themselves on some exposed place, and are gone, leaving a large red welt almost before their full purpose is realised. If it had not been for this plague we should have left Cameron Lake with nothing but regret. It is only fair to the spot, one of the most charming on Vancouver Island, to say that this nuisance is said to be experienced only in July, the winged abominations mysteriously disappearing in August.

Among Bloody Timber

About 11 a. m. and the hardy little Ford was loaded again and we were on our way along the road which skirts the lake shore; which is one of the most picturesque to be found anywhere on the Island, on the right being the water and on the other sheer precipice, the summit of which is the famed Mount Arrowsmith. The slope is studded with timber and typical British Columbia foliage, through which at intervals tumble streams, running from their source, sometimes hidden and at others in full view as they fall in lacy whiteness over exposed and perpendicular bluffs. Attention is drawn to the quantity of exquisite maiden-hair fern and the ladies make up their mind to get some roots for the home garden on their return.

And now we are leaving Cameron Lake and find ourselves in the midst of the grandest natural park imaginable. The road twists and turns and rises and falls in gentle undulations as it winds its way through what seems to be a vast expanse of stately Douglas fir. The timber is so tall and huge that its branches, far above, meet and intertwine, forming a canopy, and one gets only an occasional glint of the sunlight. A river dashes along towards the lake we have seen, and, as we change our course, now to east and next to west, we glimpse its ripples, or its turbulence, or, perchance, its turgid pools in which mountain trout rise after the buzzing fly. It is a scene which is never forgotten, which never loses its compelling attractiveness, and which in attempting to describe leaves the writer with a feeling of hopeless impotence.

The road opens ahead and on its beats the unshaded sun. Then we know that the foothills have been reached and that we are about to begin the ascent of the range of mountains lying at the eastern gateway to Alberni Canal. As I think I have said before, I have unbounded faith in my car and I knew that she would carry us over the grade. What if she was a bit overloaded? She was a Ford, and all Ford owners are agreed that there never has been such a little fiend for hill climbing turned out of a factory. My passengers, however, were not, so sure. They either mistrusted my judgment or our vehicle—perhaps it was something of both that led to their decision to climb the hill on foot and "give the bus a chance." At any rate that is what they did, and relieved of some 500 or 600 pounds of weight—I sincerely hope that the ladies do not read these lines—the motor bounded up the mountain side with the spirit of a thoroughbred.

Climbing the Mountain

At the summit I waited and smoked and ruminated. By way of pastime I listened to the "hooters" and tried to locate them on the branches of the trees. Of course I failed because to find a grouse in a pine, as all hunters who have tried will agree, is a task at which only those who are practised are successful—market hunters (when game birds were sold) are said to have become very proficient at this kind of "sport." The water in my radiator having given over its bubbling and hissing I was becoming a little disturbed over the tardiness of my companions when, looking down, I saw three perspiring figures toiling upward, carrying coats which had been worn at the start, and saying not very complimentary things about the Alberni hills and my "lack of consideration" in making them foot it the whole way. And this after they had insisted in getting out. It was almost enough to shake even my equitable temper.

No one needed to be persuaded to take a seat, and we were away, my trouble now being to keep the car from making too hasty a descent. Some men engaged in repairing the road looked at our "caravan" as though it was the first horseless conveyance that had ever passed before their eyes. While I'm at it I want to ask a question which I am sure has occurred to many who have gone a-motoring. Why is it that these repair men will tear up the thoroughfare where it seems best? Why is it that they always start their work and make the going hard just when it would be most desirable to you and I to have it good? Isn't it your experience that, when you are put in good humor by the even surface of the roadway and musical hum of the engine, and are congratulating yourself on absence of tire trouble, that you run into one of those patches of loose gravel and sand which sets you grasping at the wheel in terror as you slide from side to side, expecting momentarily to be precipitated down the mountain side or to bring up with a disastrous thump against a stump? But I forgot. Perhaps you drive one of those aristocrat cars which, so they tell me, keep the road themselves, ploughing over all obstacles without a tremor and divining, probably by some system of intuition, when to turn "half-right" or "half-left" in order to keep the safe centre of the King's highway. You must always remember, those of you who have followed me thus far, that I am at the wheel of a Ford.

"Whirled" Into Alberni

We soon topped that hill which looks down on the waters of Alberni Canal, and not many minutes later "whirled"—I use the word appreciating that it may appear incongruous—into Alberni. A few purchases made and we were off again, along another delightful drive. A few miles and we passed Sproat Falls. Those who have visited here do not need to be told that it is an inspiring sight. Interest was added by finding, just below the rapid water, an encampment of Indians and not a few white people engaged in the hooking and smoking of salmon. Heavy lines, weighted at one end, with three or four large hooks just above, were thrown into the stream and rapidly withdrawn. Almost at every cast one or more large fish were brought to the bank. The Indians cleaned them right away and hung the fish to dry and smoke. But we did not hesitate long and now began winding through another dense forest, along a road which was in admirable condition. Without warning, and with a suddenness that accentuated the surprise, we burst on a full view of Great Central Lake. At our left was a large motor car shelter and below us lay "The Ark"—the celebrated domicile of Mr. Joe Drinkwater, a pioneer of the district, the capable custodian of the comfort and entertainment of all sojourners, and, as events proved, "a thorough good fellow."

It isn't my intention to bore with further details of anything more than the fishing. The chances are that, if you've been interested enough to follow this far you'll see the Stamp River; the falls about half a mile through the woods from the lake; and enjoy for yourself the delights which the stream offers the enthusiastic angler. You will yourself smoke a pipe with "Joe" and hear how he built "The Ark" from nothing but cedar and with the crudest of instruments, and, being shown through the structure, will marvel at its scrupulous cleanliness, its simple, comfortable and tasty furnishings. You will be shown and will admire "Room 16," which Joe says is the bridal chamber of the floating hotel. Commodious, opening onto a wide veranda, and looking out upon the very grandest of British Columbia mountain scenery, it would be impossible to imagine any more appropriate setting for the spending of honeymoon days.

Questions Answered

You probably will ask the long-suffering Joe the usual "fool" questions—I know I did—about "the target" which shoots out of the water 150 feet in front of "The Ark;" about the cable which spans the Stamp River at its source; about the large snow with its spreading awning; and other things, as the auctioneer's advertisement reads, "too numerous to mention." And your host will answer each with infinite patience, leaving you under the impression that you were the first to think of such clever queries. He will tell you that your target is a guide to him when he returns with the launch after dark; that the cable is a device for the measurement of the rise and fall of the water; that the snow is for the convenience of parties of ladies and others who wish to be towed by the motor boat as they troll in luxurious indolence, and so forth.

Having been comfortably settled in camp I got busy on my tackle and was up at 4:30 a. m. on the following morning to try my luck. The spoon bait was what I used and I had not been rowing three minutes before a large trout was madly struggling at the end of the line. I got back with eight splendid fish for breakfast. After that I did not trouble rising so early for I did not have to do so to obtain sport with the troll. In a few days this method palled and I devoted myself to the fly and the river. We did not get as large baskets but had more fun. Never did we come back empty handed. There was one pool, a short distance below the falls, to which I became particularly attached. Never did I make a cast, using a March Brown, a Parmachene Bell, or any other kind of a fly, without getting a rise. They came right after it, and, had I been expert in the art, more than three or four would have fallen to my prowess in that spot. The trouble was I had "fallen in" once and did not relish the idea of repeating the performance—the ice water and the dashing river being far from an inviting bathing place.

Unexploited Trout

Do not leave Central Lake, when you go there, without seeing the upper end. "Joe" has a launch which makes the trip in three hours, but it is worth while. We were fortunate in seeing during the run a black bear, quietly disporting himself on the shore; a deer and her young drinking a little further on; a bald-headed eagle surveying us from the branch of a dead tree; a beaver swinging his tail frantically at our approach, and a mink, of which we got just a glimpse as he scurried away through the underbrush.

But the fishing! I hesitate because I don't think the exact truth will be believed. At the head of the lake enter McBride and Drinkwater rivers. They flow directly from the glaciers which can be seen above on either side, the lake—as I should have explained—being set in the middle of two mountain ranges which form for it what may be likened to a mammoth cup. At the mouths of these rivers the fish congregate and it is really so little a trick to catch them that the use of the spoon bait is sheer murder. Some of our party went out in the boat and in a few hours had landed 50 or 60, ranging in weight from 1 to 4 pounds. Some of the bigger ones gave good sport, but the others found it hard to do anything with a line made heavy with a spoon and a sinker. It was on the launch and with the fly that we especially enjoyed ourselves. While so engaged the incident related at the outset occurred. "Joe" gave us a practical illustration of his skill as a fisherman, and I, an amateur, watched in "wonder" as he struck one after another, played them cleverly, and brought them into the boat. It was not long before I was doing the same, a little less neatly, but almost as successfully. Then the ladies took a hand and, without any reflection on the members of our expedition, it is a striking commentary on the gullibility of the trout that one of the former, as well as myself, were able to induce some of them to believe that the fly we were throwing was the genuine article.

Ten days of this recreation and the Ford again was burdened with our camp outfit and we "rambled back" to Victoria without any further repairs than the renewal of a brake and clutch band lining and the changing of one tire, which collapsed at the outskirts of the city.

Cheap Cathartics and Cheap Salts Can't Cure Constipation

ABBEY'S EFFERVESCENT SALT ACTS GENTLY AND GIVES PROMPT RELIEF

Purgative pills, sweet lozengers, cheap salts and other cheap cathartics cannot cure constipation. They merely irritate and sting the tired bowels.

Abbey's Effervescent Salt overcomes constipation in an easy, gentle, normal way. It acts on the liver, stimulates the flow of bile, regulates the bowels and kidneys, and puts the whole system in a vigorous, active condition. Take it first thing on arising in a tumbler of warm water.

FOR THE NERVES there's nothing like Abbey's Vita Tablets—50c. a box.

STUDEBAKER EXPERT GIVES OWNERS HINT

Mr. J. R. Grady, Canadian Sales Manager, Says Stress on Importance of Keeping Good Lubrication

"The car owner who takes pride in telling how he has covered 1,000, 1,500 or 2,000 miles on a gallon of motor oil is practicing false economy," says J. R. Grady, Canadian sales manager of the Studebaker Corporation, Walkerville. "The great mileage record he boasts of per gallon of oil may sound impressive, but he is setting up a wear in the working parts of the motor which will eventually cost more to replace than any amount of oil that would have been used.

"Motor oil, no matter how good, loses its lubricating qualities after being in the motor a certain length of time, especially in hot weather. It disintegrates, leaving only a remnant of what was once good motor oil, and it has no value as far as lubrication is concerned.

"The wise owner will drain all the oil from the crank case of his car every 1,000 miles of service, regardless of how much oil is still there at the time. He will then replace with good, fresh, clean oil. In doing this regularly, he will prolong the life of his car indefinitely.

"Another place where lack of lubrication can do damage is in the rear axle and transmission. For here the action of the gears has the same effect upon grease as the action of working parts of the motor has on oil. It robs the grease in time of the lubricating qualities by the process of disintegration."

Is Jubilee Year of Atlantic Cable

(By P. W. Rolston, Fleet Surgeon, Retired)

The jubilee of the laying of the submarine cable which gave continuous telegraphic connection between Europe and America will be on July 27, 1916. Several previous attempts had been made without success.

Submarine telegraphy was introduced first by Messrs. Brett Brothers of London, Eng. They laid a cable from England to France in 1851, the first of its kind. Soon other cables to the continent were laid. During the Crimean War one was laid under the Black Sea from Varna to Balaclava and was of great service during the war. It was over this cable that the cryptic message "Take Care of Dowb" was sent.

To join Europe and America the first propect was that the mail steamer should call at St. Johns, Newfoundland, and there leave and receive messages carried by fast steamers or carrier pigeons from the mainland of America. Cyrus Field became interested in the matter, joined Messrs. Bretts' Company and greatly supported the plans of laying a submarine cable in the Atlantic.

During the year 1856 telegraphic science had progressed to such a point as to render the project of a cable across the Atlantic feasible. Mr. (afterwards Sir) Charles Bright, the engineer of the Magnetic Company, had in conjunction with Mr. Whitehouse made a series of experiments, in the course of which signals were repeatedly passed through 2,000 miles of the underground gutta percha covered wire belonging to the company. By this the practicability of passing electricity between places so far apart as Ireland and Newfoundland was demonstrated. Several series of soundings were taken by Lieutenants Maury and Berryman of the U. S. Navy and Commander Dayman of the Royal Navy, and the results showed that a plateau of small shells and sand extended between the two shores at a depth varying from 1,500 to 2,000 fathoms.

The enormous depth in which the Atlantic cable had to be laid rendered it necessary to provide a cable that should be capable of sustaining five or six miles of its own weight in the water when suspended vertically, to allow the ship "laying to" if obliged to by storm or other causes, and at the same time the cable had to be heavy enough to sink readily so as to avoid the lashing of the waves during rough weather, and pass without much interference through the currents of the Gulf Stream. After experiments on upwards of sixty kinds of cable made by Glass, Elliot & Co. one form was chosen having a central conductor made of seven No. 22 copper wires twisted into a strand 1-12 inch diameter, then covered with layers of gutta percha over which was a coating of hemp yarn saturated with a mixture of pitch, tar, beeswax and boiled linseed oil as a waterproofing, then covered with a sheathing of 18 strands each of 7 iron wires twisted, making a cable 5-16 inch diameter. The total weight was one ton for each nautical mile.

When the exact model cable was decided on by the company 2,500 miles of it were manufactured. One-half by Glass, Elliot & Co., East Greenwich, the remainder by Newall & Co., Birkenhead. As the United States and British governments were both interested in the project, each government supplied a ship. The new steam frigate Niagara, commanded by Capt. Hudson, was detailed for the work by the U. S. Navy, while the Royal Navy supplied H. M. S. Agamemnon, 91 guns steam line of battleship.

The Agamemnon had not long returned from the Mediterranean, where she had been the flagship of Admiral Lord Lyons. One reason for choosing this ship was that (contrary to the usual practice) her engines were abaft the mainmast, thus the main hold was available for the stowing of the cable. All internal fittings were removed and a huge tank built, in which the submarine cable could be coiled. Only a few guns for signal service were carried. The main deck was appropriated on one side for electric apparatus, and on the upper deck ponderous machines were placed in order to control the passage overboard of the cable.

Joins Agamemnon

In May, 1857, I was appointed senior assistant surgeon to join the Agamemnon then being fitted at Portsmouth, and need hardly state that I was pleased to serve in this novel but memorable voyage.

The executive officers instead of a captain and lieutenant were: Master commanding, C. T. Noddall; W. J. E. Hilliard, Henry A. Moriarty, James Brodie, John I. Brown, Adolphe E. Parkes. These were all navigating officers specially chosen on account of the novel and important duty in which the ship was to be engaged.

As soon as the shipwrights had done their part the ship steamed away to the Thames and was moored off the works of Messrs. Glass, Elliot & Co. at Greenwich, where the cable was being made. Every day the cable was stowed away on board after being thoroughly tested for faults, etc.

While the ship was being loaded and made ready for sea she was one of the London sights of that year, every day crowds visited the ship, and the officers and bluejackets rather enjoyed piloting them around and answering their questions. Now, if Jack is nimble with his feet and hands he is equally nimble with his tongue in finding an answer to any question. I had an amusing illustration of this one afternoon while the ship was being "invaded" by curious visitors. In the ward room a party were looking at a large map on which was marked a curved line showing the intended course of the cable. (Now the shortest distance between Ireland and Newfoundland is found by following a curved line)representing a segment of a great circle. This curvature in the line aroused the curiousity of one lady, for I heard her say "Why is it to be laid like that, and not straight across?" "Why, Marm," said the bluejacket, "because the h'arch is the strongest thing in nature." I was sitting some little distance away and almost exploded with laughter, but the bold assertion of Jack seemed to quite satisfy the lady.

It was a very enjoyable time to me those days at Greenwich, for I met and conversed with so many notable scientists. Mr. Brett, Professor Thomson, of Glasgow, afterwards better known as Lord Kelvin, Cyrus Field, Whitehouse, Clifford Bright Webb and many others whose names have faded from memory. I also met Sir W. Shaughnessy, Director of Indian Telegraphs, who spoke of the great difficulty of maintaining a telegraph line in India owing to the fondness of the elephants for the telegraph poles, which they found very convenient as rubbing posts.

London's Hospitality

In addition to the company of the scientists we also enjoyed the hospitality of London, White Bait dinners at the noted Greenwich Tavern, etc. The Fishmongers' Company gave us a special dinner in their hall, London Bridge, where I was struck by the ceremonial of the noted toastmaster, Harker, who, standing behind the Prime Warden's chair, directed the toasts and the cheering, etc. Our commander, Noddall, made a humorous speech which literally "set the table in a roar," like Yorick, and I must say that he was one of the most amusing story tellers I have met with in a long life. Another of our officers was Capt. Moriarty, who was on this station afterwards. He was well known to Senator Macdonald and other old-timers.

When the cable was all coiled away on board the ship steamed down the Thames and proceeded to Queenstown, where she was joined by the Niagara, which came from Birkenhead, where her half of the cable was made by Messrs. Newall. While the ships were at Queenstown another officer and myself made a trip to Cork, and were greatly amused by attending a trial in one of the courts in session.

When we arrived at the court we found it full of people listening to a case concerning some small transaction in which a coal and wood dealer was the principal party. The trial had already commenced before we arrived and an errand boy of the merchant was being examined by an attorney. The witness was seated on an iron chair on a table high above the rest of the people, and immediately behind him was a member of the Royal Irish Constabulary. So you see there was no opportunity of "tampering with the witness." The method of cross-examining adopted by the attorney was as singular as it was forceful. He prefaced every question by the words "By vartue of yer oath," evidently trying to impress the boy with the solemnity of the occasion and the heniousness of the crime of not telling the truth. The comedy of the affair was in the fact that while the questions and the preface "By vartue of yer oath" were intended for the witness, the jury got the benefit of it because instead of addressing himself to the witness this limb of the law completely turned his back on the boy and fired his questions straight at the jury. From the irascibility of the attorney and the stolidity of the boy it was very evident that a trial of wits was taking place, for in spite of the fact that he was adjured "By vartue of his oath," the boy was not making things at all easy for the attorney. In fact it was quite the other way, for after examining him backwards and forwards over the same ground (never forgetting the preface "By vartue of your oath") for a long time and getting no farther forward, the attorney lost all patience and shouted out, "Yer a prutty fellow to be Attarney Gineral to a Timber Marchant." This last was too much for us, and we escaped into the street with our handkerchiefs stuffed into our mouth to keep from exploding.

Cable-Laying Begins

After taking on supplies the two ships, Agamemnon and Niagara, accompanied by H. M. S. Frigate Leopard and U. S. Frigate Susquehanna, both paddle wheelers, steamed round Cape Clear to Valentia Bay, on the west coast of Ireland. It was arranged that the American vessel should start from the Irish coast and lay cable to a point midway, the British vessel would lay it for the remainder of the way to Newfoundland; so, on August 7 cable laying was begun by laying ten miles of the heavily sheathed shore end out to the Niagara, which steadily steamed away westward, the other vessels of the squadron accompanying watching the operation and by signals learning from time to time the amount of cable paid out. When three days out and after 380 miles of cable had been laid we received to our dismay the signal "Cable parted." It had parted at night during a strong breeze.

Thus ended for that year our voyage westward. The squadron returned to Plymouth and I was appointed to another ship.

In 1858 the attempt was renewed, and after several breaks the cable was landed at Hearts Content, Newfoundland, and Valentia Bay, and on August 17th a message was sent through, "Europe and America are united by telegraph." "Glory to God in the Highest on Earth, Peace and Good Will Toward Men." Messages and replies between Queen Victoria and the American President followed, but unfortunately the transmission gradually failed, and after September 1st ceased entirely, but during that short period 97 messages of 1,102 words were sent from Valentia and 269 messages of 2,840 words from Newfoundland. Two important messages were among those sent. One in which two regiments on the eve of departure for England were ordered to remain and the other giving the cheering news that the mail steamer Europa had arrived safely after being in collision with the Arabia. It was believed that the high power of electric current then used had burnt out the conductor. Since then a much milder current has been used with success. Until after the American Civil War no attempt was renewed: but in 1865 the Great Eastern, the largest vessel afloat, started and laid 1,000 miles of cable from Valentia Bay, when the cable parted and could not be grappled.

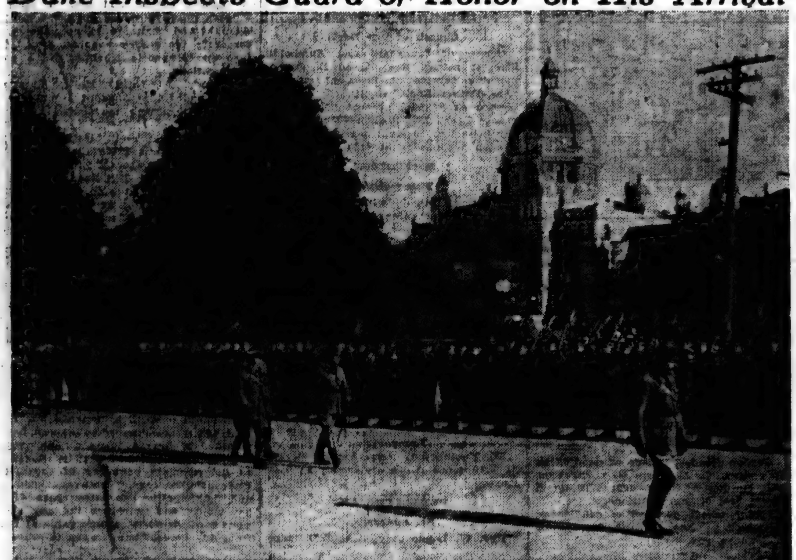

In the summer of 1866 she started again, and not only succeeded in laying the cable from Valentia Bay to Hearts Content, but went back to midocean and successfully grappled for and united the portion laid in 1865 to a fresh one and took that to Newfoundland, thus completing two cables for the service, which since then has been continuous.

Ships That Made the First Attempt to Lay the Atlantic Cable

FRANCE IS LAND WHERE ALL MAKE SACRIFICES

British Soldiers Pay Glowing Tribute to Country's Heroism—Poilu Has Achieved Perfect Understanding of Tommy and Is Proud of Fact That He Knows His Comrade's Characteristics.

The following tribute to the patriotism and self-sacrifice of the French is from an English officer who served in France:

"Yuo ask what we think of the French army and its methods, and how we get on with the French soldiers and the people of the villages behind the firing line.

"It is quite unnecessary for me to attempt to pay any sort of tribute to what you might call the business management of the French army, or to the extraordinary efficiency and valor of the French troops. I imagine the whole world has been recognising the one and paying real homage to the other for some time past. I am not sure whether the world at large is equally aware of the true greatness, the grandeur of the sacrifices France has made. I never want to hear the word "frivolous" used again in connection with our French friends; or, if I do, it will always have a meaning for me such as was never before associated with it. Do you remember a poem of Browning's—I forget the title? It describes how a young officer, a mere boy, brings to Napoleon news of the capture of Ratisbon. He was wounded, you know:

"You looked twice e're you saw his breast
Was all but shot in two.

"Well, Napoleon was mighty pleased, you must know. The news was a big relief to him. His face showed his pride and gladness. And then he looked down at his messenger, and the flash went out of his eye. I hope I have the words right:

"You're wounded?" "Nay," his soldier's pride
Touched to the quick, he said:
"I'm killed, Sire!" And his Chief beside,
Smiling the boy fell dead.

That was the way of it, as I remember; and the frivolity of that boy's answer and smile is the only kind of frivolity I shall associate with the name of France after this war. I give you my word there is nobody French in all this countryside who is not consciously, gladly, steadily and all the time making his or her sacrifice for France today—the sacrifice of themselves. They cannot offer more.

"It is for France."

"Madame, Monsieur, my child—it is for France.' With these words, upon my honor, you might take not only all that belongs to them, all they have not yet been asked to give, but you could take life itself from these people, and it would be 'Smiling the boy fell dead,' over again. The thought of question or discussion, or sacrifice, the avoidance of this or that deprivation, it simply does not occur to these French people. 'It is the war.' 'It is for France.' 'France has need of this.' 'It will help France.' That is all. Further discussion is not only unnecessary, it would be looked on as indecent.

"I have in my mind at this moment a dear old man and his wife, refugees from ——. They had been what you call warm people, retired farmers. They saw the home of their old age and carefully built-up independence—all they possessed—utterly destroyed by German shells. Their relatives were all killed or in the fighting line. On a broken wheel-barrow they carried away a survivor in the shape of an old, blind, and lame sheep-dog, a book or two, and one or two small oddments. In the village of ——, 13 miles from the line, the mayor gave them shelter of a certain small house which stood empty; its owner away in the fighting line. There the white-haired dame contrived to make a home of some sort for her fragile old husband and the veteran sheep-dog. God knows what they lived on, with their kindly, deep-lined, parchment-colored faces.

In that village, it seemed, no place could be found to serve as a mess for my friend, Captain ——, and his company officers, when he arrived. The mayor was, of course, appealed to. He always is. He thought a minute. He had so many problems to solve in these war days. Ah, yes; he thought he could manage. An hour later, Captain —— and his brother officers were comfortably established in a convenient tiny house. They found a white-haired old lady sweeping out the already perfectly clean, paved main room in which they were to eat. All unasked, the same gently smiling old lady helped their batmen to prepare a meal. Outside, a tottering old man, with almost transparent skin was busily raking together odd bits of wood to serve them for fuel.

Late that night, Captain —— paused in passing to flash his torch into an open-sided shed without a door. There he saw the kindly old lady lying asleep. Some rough sweepings served her for a pillow; her husband's coat was about her shoulders, and across that was his thin right arm; for the parchment-faced old man lay beside her. There was no straw for him, and he was awake still.

"Hardly bears talking about, does it? Well, thank goodness, Captain —— is the true sort of Englishman. He soon had the old couple in the little house, and his batmen out of its warm kitchen into the shed, and a comfortable bed, of which his own Wolseley valise formed the foundation, made up for the old couple on the kitchen floor. But, mark you, they never said a word about having ever occupied the house, let alone suggested that our officers had turned them out of it. Captain —— only learned that next day from the mayor, who said in effect: 'But that is nothing; nothing at all. Madame and Monsieur are French, you understand. It is for France, n'est-ce pas? What would you? No apology is needed."

He was right, too. The thing was nothing—as things go in France today. It was just carrying on, so to say; part of the every-day routine of French life in the war. But is it not fine? I have no time, even if I were able, to attempt to do justice to the almost religious fervor of the patriotic devotion which is being shown, not by this man or the other, but by every single man, woman and child in the country.

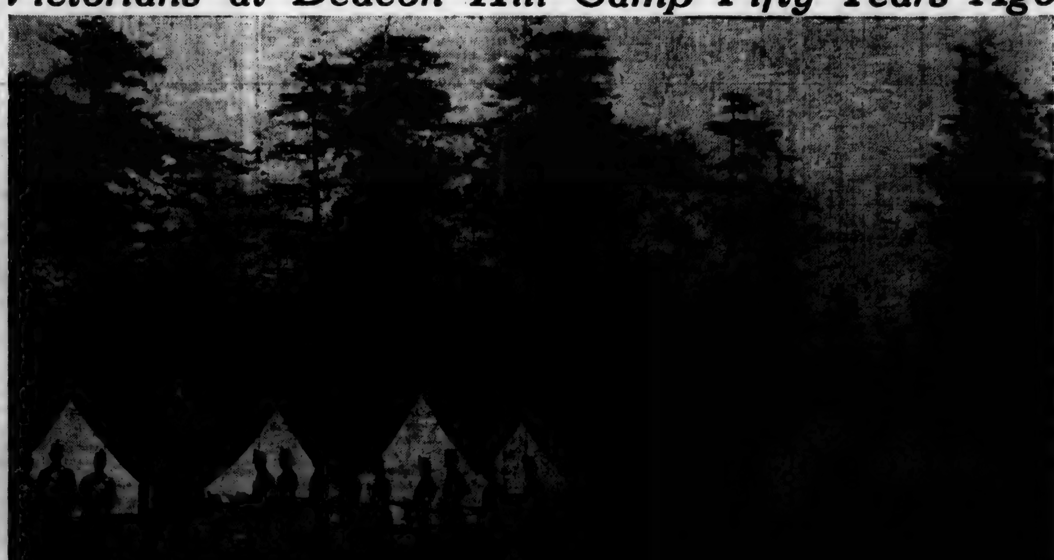

Poilu and Tommy.

"Someone asked young —— the same question you asked me, but his reply was concerned only with the French soldier, the inimitable poilu, who, with the famous '75's' of the French artillery, has won such glory. And do you know what he said was the most wonderful of all the achievements of the poilu? You would never guess. He said it was their achievement of really understanding appreciation of, and friendship with, our Tommy.

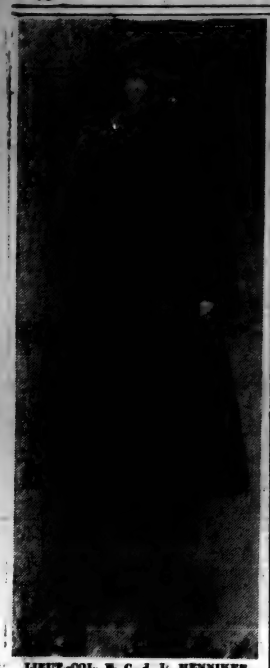

And, mind you, it is wonderful. You know what we are. Who was it said we were incomprehensible but indispensable? Whoever it was, understood us more than most. I won't attempt to explain our fellows to you, but to anyone not possessed of the key—and who has it, outside England? Not every one by any manner of means, even in England—they are assuredly apt to prove very incomprehensible. To the Frenchmen their rough-cast cynicism; their generally sardonic humor, which so effectually disguises from foreign eyes the fact that they have any humor at all; their reticence, the void in them which occupies the place of a dramatic sense; their attitude of good-humored scorn and contempt for any and everything they do not wholly understand—a fairly wide field, you know— their incorrigible apparent harshness, and their consistent abstinence from all the minor graces and politenesses, which is more than mere abstinence, because based on sad hatred and fear of everything of the kind; conceive what an impervious shell these things would represent to the average Frenchman.

Have you smoked "Nobleman" cigars lately?

Victorians at Beacon Hill Camp Fifty Years Ago

Mr. Edgar Fawcett writes: "Under the heading of Fifty Years Ago Today I noted in Wednesday's Colonist the account of the first going into camp of the Victoria Rifle Volunteers, of which I was an enthusiastic member, holding the rank of sergeant. I well remember this occasion, and incidents of the 'tented field.' So far as I can remember the names of those mustered, I have given. The officers are on the left, only one, Captain E. H. Fletcher, now post office inspector, being with us today; also Pte. Jules Dassonville, Cpl. F. R. Sargison, Edgar Fawcett, sergeant, and Pat Deasy, drummer-boy. We mustered ninety odd, but it was only at night that we were at full strength, as nearly all left for their various avocations after breakfast. We had many social entertainments in the evening. One of these was a dinner to the Govrnor, which was prepared wholly by local talent. The cooks on this occasion were Lieut. Wood, who was Solicitor-General, Chaplain Thomas Somerville, and your humble servant. We had fish, roast, grouse and chicken with pastry, and two kinds of vegetables that I prepared. After dinner there was an impromptu concert. There was something going on every evening, so there were many visitors. So ends another reminiscence of Old Victoria! In the above group the three officers—Captain Green, Captain Dorman and Captain E. H. Fletcher—are on the extreme left, and included among the others are Sergts. Woollacott, C. S. Finlaison, Pte. R. Plummer, Pte. J. Dassonville, Pte. Lakin, Cpl. F. Sargison, Sergt. J. P. Kennedy, Sergt. Edgar Fawcett, Pte. Homfray, Pte. E. Wootton, Pte. Dacey, and Drummer Pat Deasy, besides Mr. Kepley, of Clover Point."

INCREASED PROTECTION

Saanich Contemplating Installation of Municipal System—Will Confer With City Official

A municipal system of fire protection is being planned by the Municipality of Saanich, and on Tuesday next a committee of the district council will meet Fire Chief Davis and discuss the requirements of such a system. For the past two years fire protection has been supplied by the city for that portion of the municipality immediately adjacent to the northern boundary of the city. Under the agreement between the city and municipality the latter pays $150 per month and in return the city stations a motor chemical apparatus at the Dunedin Street hall, whence alarms from the area covered by the agreement are answered. But this arrangement affects only a small portion of the municipality, the while the whole district is bearing the cost.

It is now proposed by Saanich to install a volunteer force, purchase hose and hose-reels and hereafter operate its own system of fire protection. The municipality fully appreciates the value of the service hitherto rendered by the city's department, but seeks to make its system of protection wider in its scope, something which the city department is not in a position to do.

MINERAL OUTPUT IS INCREASED BY $3,000,000

Annual Report Shows Total Production for 1915 of Well Over $29,000,000—Rising Prices and Opening of New Properties Help to Make Industry Prosperous.

British Columbia's mineral output during 1915 aggregated in value $29,447,508, an increase over the previous year of $3,058,683, or nearly 12 per cent. These are the final figures just compiled by Mr. Fleet Robertson, Provincial Mineralogist, and will be incorporated in the annual report of the Department of Mines now on the press. The gross value of the metallic minerals recovered in 1915 was $20,762,149, an increase over 1914 of nearly $5,000,000, or 31 per cent, a remarkably satisfactory showing. When it is considered that the production for the present year will show substantial increases over 1915 consequent upon the continued high prices for metals and the opening up of new properties, the prospects for the mining industry of the province in 1916 are exceptionally bright. It is now assured that the 1916 output, in point of value, will establish a new high figure for the industry.

In this increased prosperity the measures approved by the government at the recent session of the Legislature will have a most important bearing. The provision whereby government assistance will be given for the opening up of trails and roads to promising mineral areas, and the simplified methods whereby prospectors may secure leases of reverted crown granted claims and secure the full benefit of the development work done by them has already resulted in increased interest. The policy will mean a speeding up of development work on areas which in time will undoubtedly become shippers of importance.

A feature of the operations of 1915 was the exceptionally large production of copper and zinc, two metals which the war demand has caused a very large advance in price and consequent greater and more profitable production. The output of copper aggregated 56,918,405 pounds of a value of $9,826,500, the largest production in the history of the province. The great increase in the output in the coast district compared with the boundary district, the latter hitherto the premier copper producing area, was most marked.

Enormous Value Produced

It is estimated that since mining assumd any proportions in British Columbia, as far back as 1852, there the aggregated value of the mineral output has been $516,270,253. From 1852 to 1892 the output was valued at $81,090,000. Since the latter year the value of the province's output has aggregated $435,000,000, the last ten years being the heaviest producers.

The report is replete with valuable statistical tables, maps of leading mining districts and mines, price tables, statistics of output of various districts, and, in addition, a mass of information of the greatest value to those engaged in the industry. Reports from the department's inspectors are appended, giving the very latest information concerning new areas, their geological peculiarities, etc. Excellent illustrations accompany the report.

The quantities and values of the various mineral products for the year 1915 compared with 1914 and 1913 are shown in the following table:

Customary Measure—Gold (placer and (pounds; coal and coke, tons of 2,240 lbs. ode), silver, ounces; lead, copper and zinc

The report says: "The metalliferous output for 1915 was the greatest in the history of mining in the province, being nearly 14 per cent. greater than the former record year of 1912. Yet the year 1915 opened under very inauspicious conditions as far as mining was concerned; the war had only fairly started, and at that time the final issue was in doubt, while the duration of the conflict was then quite unknown. Under these circumstances it is not to be wondered at that the metal market was so uncertain that producers felt timid as to the future, particularly as the opening months of the year saw the prices of all the metals, except zinc, much below normal.

"Apparently no one foresaw or appreciated the trend of modern warfare, with its unprecedented use of artillery, nor realized the tremendous amounts of metal that would be consumed thereby. How great this consumption of the metals has been can scarcely be appreciated when expressed in figures, but some conception of the enormous expenditure of metals can be obtained from a calculation published by the Mining and Scientific Press, and based upon French official statements, that 4,500,000 shells were used by the section of the French Army in Champagne during a four days' bombardment along a twenty-mile front. The editor, T. A. Rickard, calculates that thee shells contained about 18,000,000 pounds of copper, 30,000,000 pounds of lead and 8,000,000 pounds of zinc. To apply these quantities to the total output of British Columbia made during the year 1915, it will be seen that the year's output of copper would have lasted that small section of the French Army about twelve and one-half days, the lead output for six days and the zinc output for six and one-half days.

"The close of 1914 found many of the mines shut down and most of the large producers restricting their output under a common agreement to do so. Then came the enormous demand for shells of all sorts, from all the Allies, necessitating the use of an amount of copper, lead, zinc, and other metals which soon depleted the stocks, so that by May and June the prices of the metals began to soar, and all the mines that were in a position promptly to supply the demand were pushed to make as great an output as possible.

Prices Were High

"These higher prices for metals continuing throughout the remainder of the year, stimulated the mineral production very greatly and rendered the margin of profit on production much higher.

"Of all the metals produced in British Columbia, silver was the only one th price of which was not raised by the war, for the reason that it is not used in war materials. The price of silver fell off very considerably; in 1913 the price of silver in New York varied between 63 and 57.8 cents, averaging for the year 59.8 cents; in 1914 the average price for the year was 54.8 cents, while for 1915 the average price for the year was only 49.7 cents. This low price of silver acted as a deterrent to production in many of the silver-lead mines of the Slocan, Ainsworth and Nelson Divisions, the ores of which contain, on the average, about twicee the value in silver that they do in lead.

"It is to be noted that this past year the value of the copper output was practically 50 per cent of that of the gross metalliferous production of the province. It is a matter of congratulation also that zinc is now being refined in the province—and there is every prospect that within a short time copper will also be refined here, thus enabling us to ship these products in a marketable form.

"The tonnage of ore mined in the lode mines of the province during the past year was greater than that of 1914, being 2,690,110 tons, showing an increase over that of the previous year of 514,139 tons. The tonnage mined in 1915 was produced by the various districts in about the following proportions: Boundary, 45.77 per cent; Rossland, 12.60 per cent.; Cassiar, 24.04 per cent.; the Coast District, 8.38 per cent.; Slocan District, 4.25 per cent.; Ainsworth, 1.58 per cent.; Nelson, 0.87 per cent.; East Kootenay, 1.85 per cent.; and all other parts of the province. 0.66 per cent.

Gold

"The production of placer gold during the past year was worth about $770,000, an increase, as compared with 1914, of $205,000, chiefly due to a better season than usual in the Atlin and Cariboo districts. The production of placer gold is nearly all from the Atlin and Cariboo districts; about 90 per cent. of the total coming from these two sections. The snowfall of the winter of 1914-15 was unusually light, and, as this is the principal source of the water supply, it was anticipated that the quantity of water available for hydraulicing would fall short of the usual quota. In hydraulic mining the gold output is in direct proportion to the number of days in which water was available for piping, hence there seemed little hope for even a normal production of placer gold during the season of 1915. But the snow melted very gradually—not much faster than the water could be used—while the absence of spring freshets prevented the great waste of water usual at such times. Subsequent summer rains in the Cariboo District also very much assisted in keeping up the water supply. In the Barkerville section of the Cariboo District the larger hydraulic companies made a greater output than usual, while an increased number of individuals appear to have been working in a small way; this is also true of the Quesnel and Quesnel Forks sections, which report much larger amounts of gold recovered than has been the rule for some years past. In the Atlin District the shortage of water was very noticeable, some of the companies being only able to work effectively for half the season. On the other hand, some of the companies were evidently working in richer ground; it is not known whether this was by good luck or by intentionally attacking only the richer parts, in an attempt to compensate for the water shortage. Very little summer rain fell and its absence was much felt during the latter part of the season. Notwithstanding these drawbacks it would appear that a somewhat increased production was made in this district. The Similkameen and Tulameen rivers produced more gold this year than for some years back and give promise of again being a factor in the placer gold industry. Vernon District also yielded some gold from hydraulic operations in Siwash Creek. Yale Mining Division made an unusually good output, owing to the very low water in the rivers exposing the bars. The Fort Steele Mining Division made a better output than for some years past.

Gold From Lode Mining

"The value of the gold produced from lode-mining in the province during the year 1915 was $5,167,934, an increase, as compared with the previous year, of $58,930, or about 1.15 per cent. This greater production of lode gold is due to an increased tonnage of ore mined in the Boundary and Rossland districts, and to new mines recently opened in the Skeena and Omineca districts. These increases were, however, somewhat offset by decreases in the Nelson and Coast districts. The only large stamp-mill in operation in the province is at the Nickel Plate mine at Hedley, in the Osoyoos Mining Division, which this past year milled some 74,265 tons of ore having a value of over $900,000. There are smaller stamp-mills operating at the Poorman, Queen, Mother Lode and other mines in the Nelson Division; and in addition, there are stamp-mills at the Jewel mine, Greenwood; Coronation mine, Lillooet, and Engineer mine, Atlin, which operated during the year.

"The following are the values of the gold product of the three most important camps: Rossland, $2,947,489; Boundary, $1,816,273; and Nelson, $190,846. About 78.5 per cent. of the gold production of the province is obtained from the smelting of copper-bearing ores, the remainder mainly from stamp-milling. The gold production of the various districts is estimated to have been approximately as follows: Rossland, 142,595 ounces; Boundary, 87,870 ounces; Nelson, 9,233 ounces; Skeena, 8,034 ounces; Coast, 2,490 ounces; Omineca, 1,524 ounces; all others; 1,275 ounces.

Silver

"The total amount of silver produced during 1915 was 3,366,506 ounces, valued at $1,588,991, a decrease in amount, as compared with the previous year, of 235,674 ounces; and, owing to the decrease in the market value of this metal, the value of the silver output in 1915 was $287,745 less than in 1914. The Slocan District—including the Ainsworth, Slocan, Slocan City and Trout Lake mining divisions—produced about 62.9 per cent. of the total provincial output of silver this year, and the Fort Steele Mining Division about 14.3 per cent., all from argentiferous galena. The remainder is chiefly derived from the smelting of copper ores carrying silver. The following table shows the silver production from the different mining divisions: Slocan and Slocan City M. D. produced 1,812,550 ounces, 53.84 per cent.; Fort Steele, 481,258 ounces, 14.30 per cent.; Ainsworth, 289,565 ounces, 8.60 per cent.; Boundary, 273,795 ounces, 8.13 per cent.; Skeena, 175,179 ounces, 5.20 per cent.; Trail Creek, 159,584 ounces, 4.74 per cent.; Omineca, 79,155 ounces, 2.38 per cent.; Coast, 66,033 ounces, 1.96 per cent.; Trout Lake-Revelstoke, 16,740 ounces, 0.49 per cent.; Nelson, 9,405 ounces, 0.27 per cent.; all others, 3,242 ounces, 0.09 per cent. Total, 3,366,506 ounces.

Lead

"The lead production for 1915 was 46,503,590 pounds, having a market value of $1,939,200, showing, as compared with the previous year, a decrease in amount of 4,121,458 pounds, or 8.67 per cent.; but owing to the increase in the market value of this metal, the value of the output was $167,323 greater than in 1914. This amount of lead represents the amount of metallic lead actually received and paid for by the smelters. The average market price of this metal was considerably higher than for the previous year, being 4.6 cents a pound as compared with 3.9 cents. The lead production, derived chiefly from the Slocan and Fort Steele mining divisions, as is shown in the following table: Fort Steele M. D. produced 26,582,050 pounds, 57.20 per cent.; Slocan, 14,925,345 pounds; 32.10 per cent.; Ainsworth, 3,436,184 pounds, 7.37 per cent.; Nelson, 967,775 pounds, 2.07 per cent.; Omineca, 249,279 pounds, 0.53 per cent.; all others, 342,957 pounds, 0.73 per cent. Total, 46,503,590 pounds.

Copper

"The amount of copper produced by smelting in the province in 1915 was 56,918,405 pounds fine copper, valued at the average New York market price for copper at $9,835,500. These figures represent the amount of copper actually recovered, as nearly as it is possible to ascertain; the amount of copper really in the ores mined would be approximately 25 per cent. greater. As compared with the year 1914, these figures show an increased production in amount of 11,908,706 pounds, or about 26.46 per cent., and in value the increase is $3,714,181, or 60.7 per cent. The amount of copper produced during the year 1915 is the largest in the history of copper mining in the province; the highest previous production, made in 1912, was 51,456,537 pounds, valued at $8,408,513. The apparently abnormal increase in the value of the production this year is due to the high average market value of the metal for the past year, due to the phenomenal demand for munitions of war.

"Owing to the heavy demand for war purposes, principally for brass to be used in shells, the market price of copper increased steadily during the year. The year opened with copper at about 12.7 cents a pound in the New York market, and at the end of December it was 22.25 cents; the average price for the year was 17.273 cents, as compared with an average price of 13.6 cents in 1914. This higher market value of the metal assisted materially in raising the value of the copper produced, thereby greatly stimulating production.

"The large increase in quantity of copper produced this year is due to a greatly increased production from the Granby Company's Hidden Creek mine, at Anyox, on Observatory inlet, and to a return to a nearly normal output from the Boundary District. A slight decrease occurred at the Britannia mine, due to a shut-down for some time owing to a snowslide; but this decrease is more than made up by the output from the Rocher Deboule mine, in the Omineca Division, a new mine. Nelson Division shows a considerable decrease, which is, however, more than compensated by an increase from the Trail Creek Mining Division.

Coast Production

"The big mine and smelter of the Granby Company at Anyox were operated continuously throughout the year, and the tonnage treated was gradually increased, until, at the end of the year, 2,000 tons a day was being smelted. The reserves of good grade ore at this mine are very considerable and are given in the annual report of the company for the fiscal year ended June 30th, 1915, as amounting to 9,620,612 tons, with an average copper content of 2.19 per cent.; in addition to which there is practically an equal tonnage of low grade ore. The Granby Company this year produced from its mines in Skeena and Boundary 66.5 per cent. of the province's copper production. Another important producer of copper in the northern portion of the province is the Rocher Deboule mine, near Hazelton. After developing for a couple of years this property commenced shipping in June, and by the end of the year had shipped 17,000 tons, carrying 2,788,000 pounds of copper, besides gold and silver values.

"In the Boundary district the Granby Company's mines at Phoenix and smelter at Grand Forks were operated to nearly full capacity since the end of January. The recovered copper content of the ore, however, was less than in any previous year, and this fact, together with a slightly lessened tonnage, accounts for a smaller copper output than in the years 1912 and 1913; in 1914 the smelter was closed for about one-third of the year, and so the output was less than in any of the years previously mentioned. The British Columbia Copper Company, which operates the Mother Lode mine at Deadwood and a smelter at Greenwood, was, in former years, another large producer of copper in the Boundary District. During the last two years, however, the company's production has declined very materially. At the smelter one furnace was operated during the last half of 1915 and a production of about 1,340,000 pounds of copper was made.

Increasing Production

The following table shows the production of the various districts for the years 1913, 1914 and 1915:

	1913	1914	1915
Boundary	28,621,978	16,428,959	17,402,462
Rossland	2,538,661	3,779,830	4,651,681
Coast, Omineca & Cassiar	14,446,967	24,189,621	34,514,957
Yale-Kamloops	37,273	14,528	295,164
Nelson and other	815,126	586,764	51,911
	46,460,305	45,009,699	56,918,405

"The average assays of the copper ores of the various camps, based upon the copper recovered, were as follows: Boundary, 0.708 per cent.; Coast, Omineca and Cassiar, 1.94 per cent.; and Rossland, 0.686 per cent.

"Copper mining is now the most important form of mining in the province, and this year it practically equalled in value the entire total value of the other lode minerals produced, and exceeded, considerably, the value of the coal and coke production. It forms 47.4 per cent. of the total value of metalliferous mines and 33.4 per cent. of the total mineral production.

Zinc

"The total quantity of zinc produced in 1915 was 12,982,440 pounds, valued at $1,460,524, the average New York price, less 15 per cent., being taken as the basis of valuation. This shows an increase, as compared with the year 1914, of 5,115,973 pounds, or 65 per cent., in amount, and of $1,114,399, or 322 per cent. in value. These figures are so very much higher than have ever before occurred in the zinc production of the province that comparisons are almost out of the question. The former highest recorded productions were in 1909, when 8,500,000 pounds of zinc was produced, worth $400,000, and in 1914, when the production was 7,866,467 pounds, valued at $346,125. It will be seen, therefore, that this year's output has been, in value, about four times as great as that of former record years. The price of spelter in the New York market averaged for the year 1913, 5.65 cents a pound; for 1914, 5.21 cents; but for the year 1915 it averaged 13.23 cents; while the average for the month of June, 1915, was 21.2 cents, and for the month of December, 1915, the average price was 15.39 cents. Of the total output of 12,982,440 pounds, 8,684,572 pounds came from the Slocan District, 3,127,209 pounds from Nelson Division, 678,940 pounds from Ainsworth Division and 491,719 pounds from East Kootenay. The largest producer in the province was the Standard, in Slocan Division, which is credited with 3,778,857 pounds, followed by the H. B., in Nelson Division, with 2,387,514 pounds, and the Silverton Mines, Slocan, with 1,385,559 pounds; while the Zincton mine, in Nelson District, produced 739,695 pounds; the J. L. Retallack Mines, in Ainsworth, 376,000 pounds; the Lucky Jim, in Slocan, 788,157 pounds; and the Rambler-Cariboo, 540,660 pounds.

Other Minerals

"The situation in regard to iron ore remains unchanged, no material advancement having been made in the utilization of the numerous deposits throughout the province. At present there is no market in the province for iron ore, and, as a consequence, very little development work has been done. There are, undoubtedly, a number of iron-ore deposits in different districts which are of considerable size, and which are, as a rule, very free from injurious elements. In considering the possibility of the successful establishment of an iron and steel industry, other factors besides availability of ore are important—namely, a sufficient market for the products, a supply of fuel near by at a price comparable with what it is in the East, and a steady supply of suitable labor. So far as is at present known, there is on the Coast no developed body of haematite or other ore of iron, such as would be desirable to mix with the magnetites for blast furnace smelting. A deposit of haematite is being developed on the Zymoetz River. No ore has been used or shipped from the Province during the past year, and, so far as can be learned, but little prospecting or development work has been done on iron claims.

Coal

"The gross production of coal in 1915 was 1,972,580 long tons, of which [illegible] tons was made into coke, leaving the net production at 1,611,129 tons. These figures show a decrease, as compared with 1914, of 193,368 tons gross and of 199,838 tons net. The quantity of coke

Victoria Soldiers Who Are in Hospital

The above photograph shows a number of British Columbian and Manitoban soldiers who are now convalescing at the Duchess of Connaught Hospital, England. Among them are six Victorians. Standing in the back row, from left to right, are Cpl. J. Mann, Sergt. McDonald and Pte. R. M. Waage-Mott, all of whom left this city with the first draft from the 50th Gordon Highlanders, which was subsequently absorbed into the 16th Battalion Canadian Scottish. Cpl. Mann was formerly a member of the Victoria detective department and is still in England, where he is being treated for wounds sustained some time ago. Thirty-two fragments of shrapnel entered his body during the fighting at Ypres. Sergt. McDonald, shown using a crutch, was wounded seriously in the leg. The two men kneeling in the middle row are also of Victoria, as is also the one sitting down on the right. The soldier seen seated on the grass to his right is of Winnipeg, as well as the man in the wheel-chair, while the two men in khaki shirts are Vancouver soldiers, who left B. C. with one of the first drafts.

Canadian Farriers Are Doing Some Hard Work

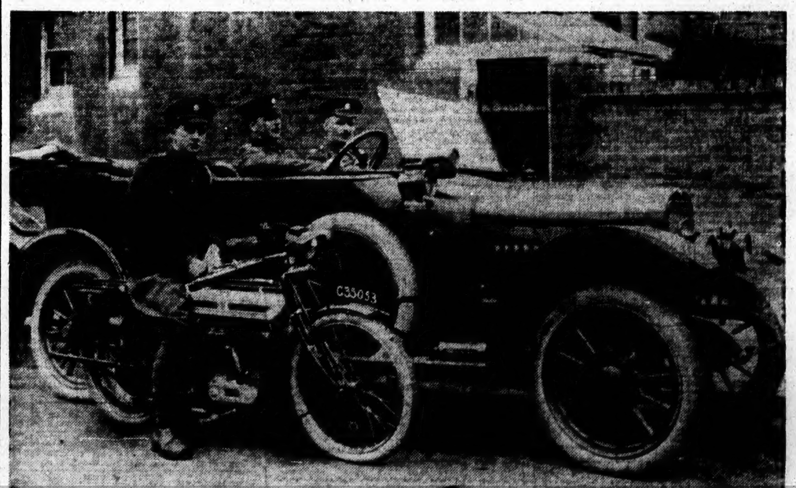

Pte. A. G. G. McGregor, of Victoria, who is a farrier with the C.E.F., and who formerly was a member of the Victoria police force, enclosed the above group photograph in a letter to his father, dated "somewhere in France." He is standing second from the right. The others he describes as follows: "First of the left is Johnson, of Toronto; next your humble servant; next a Belgian by the name of Jimmy, who has been to Canada on ships, so he knows a lot of places and can talk English; next is Shannon, of Saskatoon, who is the head chef for about 300 Belgians and Frenchmen; next is Cochrane, of North Bay, Ont.; next Monnery, of Toronto; and last, Adams, an Englishman from Ottawa.

Pipers, 67th Battalion, Western Scots

From a snapshot taken of the pipe band of the 67th Battalion, Western Scots, while engaged in the entertainment of the troops of its own and other units en route from Canada to England on the SS. Olympic. Some faces familiar to Victorians may be recognized.

Serves as Dispatch Rider in War Zone

Pte. Frank Jackson is seen seated on a motor cycle in the above picture. He is a son of Mrs. M. E. Jackson, of Victoria, and is well known among all those identified with the motor car business in this city. He left Victoria with the mechanical transport corps on Christmas Day and now is attached as dispatch rider to the 85th Siege Battery Ammunition Column in France.

MARKET IS STRONG ON SHORTS' BUYING

Chief Movement Is Again in Specialties—United States Steel Furnishes Large Proportion of Day's Trading.

NEW YORK, July 22.—For a midsummer week-end session, today's market was unusually active, broad, and strong. Special stocks again afforded the basis for a large proportion of the total sales, being in further demand by the total sales, being in further demand by the bears or short interest, that faction suffering additional impairment of "paper profits."

Motor issues were particularly prominent, with gains of from 2 to 3 points in Willys-Overland and Maxwell, and 10 for General Motors. Munitions and allied shares were better, together with tobaccos, American Hides and Leather preferred, American Beet Sugar, and the zinc issues. United States Steel was the real leader, trading in that stock representing nearly 20 per cent of the whole, at an extreme advance of 1⅛, most of which was retained. There was a better tone to shares of the independent steels, notably Lackawanna and Republic, together with Colorado Fuel and American Car.

Rails were again relegated to a place of minor importance, even the investment issues moving sluggishly. Reading closed with a fractional gain, but Wisconsin Central forfeited 4 points of its recent advance. Shipping shares were also backward, with no material change in prices. Total sales of stocks were only 173,000 shares.

The bank statement reflected a substantial cash gain, the actual increase being about $13,500,000, and was in excess of all estimates, while loans showed further contraction, with an increase of almost $13,000,000 in reserves, bringing the total excess up to $108,000,000, against $53,546,000 two weeks ago.

Bonds were steady today on nominal trading. International issues were firmer. Total sales (par value), $1,055,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

WINNIPEG GRAIN MARKET

WINNIPEG, July 22.—Wheat closed 3⅛c up for July and 3⅛c for October and December. Oats was ⅜c up for both months. Barley dropped ½c, while flax gained ⅝c on July and 1⅛c on October and November.

It was a bull market on crop reports. The trade was big and broad, but mostly of a speculative nature. A few days ago the farmers were on the selling side, but most of them are now buying. The advance is too quick for the exporters, who took some wheat from the cash market, but balked at the futurep rices.

The cash trade showed a good general demand for the first grades, but poor stuff is affected by the advance in futures.

Oats was also in good demand, and as the offerings were liberal, a big trade developed.

Barley was strong. Wheat has gained 4½c and 4½c in Winnipeg during the week with most of the gain today. Stocks in terminals show a decrease of 1,250,000.

made was 245,871 tons, which is an increase of about 11,294 tons as compared with 1914. For purposes of comparison the following table is shown:

"1913—Coal, gross, 2,570,760; less made into coke, 433,277; coal, net, 2,137,483; coke made, 286,045.

"1914—Coal, gross, 2,166,428; less made into coke, 355,461; coal, net, 1,810,483; coke made, 234,577.

"1915—Coal, gross, 1,972,580; less made into coke, 361,451; coal, net, 1,611,129; coke made 245,871.

"The consumption of coal in the Province during the past two years has been sadly interfered with by the war, through its retarding or stopping of many industries; this has had a reflex action on the transportation lines, which are the largest consumers of coal. The market for the Coast collieries was seriously affected by the diminished sales of bunker coal to ocean steamers, as a result of war conditions on the Pacific Ocean steamer trade. The competition of fuel oil has been keenly felt, and the adoption of this fuel by the three transcontinental railways for use in British Columbia has removed a steady and growing market for coal.

"The total production of coke, amounting to 245,871 tons, is an increase over that of 1914 of 11,294 tons (2,250 lb.), despite the fact that the Hosmer plant—which last year made an output of over 34,000 tons of coke—was closed down. This total production, while not as great as for the years 1912 and 1913, is nevertheless about 10 per cent greater than the average output for the last ten years. The high market price of copper has kept the copper smelting plants of the Interior very busy, with a subsequent increased demand for coke, while, on the Coast, the copper smelting plant of the Granby Company at Anyox has occasioned the restarting of the Canadian Collieries coke ovens at Comox, where this past year 5,450 tons of coke was made.

Collieries of Coast District

"The collieries of the Coast District, which includes those on Vancouver Island and in the Nicola-Princeton fields, mined 1,120,008 tons of coal in 1915, while 2,053 tons were taken from stock, making 1,122,061 tons distributed from these collieries in 1915. This amount was distributed thus:

"Sold as coal in Canada, 582,650; sold as coal in the United States, 266,038; sold as coal in other countries, 22,918; total sold as coal, 871,606; used under companies' boilers, etc., 108,475; used in making coke, 17,960; lost in washing, etc., 124,020; total, 1,122,061; less coal taken from stock, 2,053; gross output, 1,120,008.

"The total sales of the Coast collieries for the year show, as compared with the sales of the previous year, a decrease of 65,784 tons, equivalent to 7 per cent. The consumption in that part of British Columbia served by the Vancouver Island collieries shows a decrease of 102,433 tons, or about 17 per cent, from the preceding year; the amount exported to the United States was 50,593 tons greater, and 22,918 tons of coal was exported to other countries. On Vancouver Island, four companies produced coal this year—the Canadian Collieries, Limited; the Western Fuel Company, the Pacific Coast Coal Mines and the Vancouver-Nanaimo Coal Company; the majority of these companies operate two or more collieries. The combined gross output of the Island collieries was 1,020,942 tons.

"In the Nicola and Princeton coal fields of the Coast district, the Middlesboro Colliery Company produced 47,803 tons of coal; the Princeton Colliery, 15,548 tons; the Inland Coal and Coke Syndicate (formerly Coal Hill Syndicate), 34,710 tons; and the Pacific Coast Colliery Company, 1,005 tons. The total output of this portion of the sub-district was 99,066 tons.

"There were only two companies operating in this district this past year—the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company, operating two separate collieries, the combined output of which was 790,028 tons, and the Corbin Coke and Coal Company, which made an output of 62,544 tons; making a gross output for the district for 1915 of 852,572 tons of coal. The Hosmer Mines, Limited, has been closed down. The following shows the distribution made of the coal of this district:

"Sold in Canada, 82,594; sold in the United States, 30,020; total sold as coal, 152,614; used in making coke, 343,491; used under boilers, etc., 59,962; total, 556,067; coal taken from stock, 3,495; gross output, 852,572.

The greater part of the gross Provincial production is still being mined by three companies—the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company, of East Kootenay; the Canadian Collieries and the Western Fuel Company, of Vancouver Island, which mined, collectively, 82.80 per cent of the gross output, their respective production representing 40.05 per cent, 21.7 per cent and 21.07 per cent of such total. Of the other collieries: In the Coast district, on Vancouver Island, the Pacific Coast Coal Mines, Limited, produced 129,431 tons, and the Vancouver-Nanaimo Coal Company 47,976 tons; and in the Nicola Valley Section of the district, the Middlesboro Colliery Company mined 47,803 tons, the Inland Coal and Coke Company 34,710 tons, the Princeton Coal and Land Company 15,548 tons, and the Pacific Coast Syndicate some 1,005 tons of coal.

"Of the gross amount produced in the Province, there was sold for consumption in Canada, 665,244 tons; sold for consumption in the United States, 636,058 tons; sold in other countries, 22,918 tons: making the total coal sales for the year 1,324,220 tons of 2,240 lb. In addition to the coal sold, there was used in the manufacture of coke 361,451 tons, and used under companies' boilers, etc., 168,437 tons; while 124,020 tons were lost in washing and screening. The coke sales of the Province for the past year amounted to 245,962 tons, of which 132 tons were taken from stock.

Building Materials

"The production of building materials during 1915 was even less than in the year 1914, due, no doubt, to the continued financial depression and the war, which have retarded construction work, especially in the Coast cities. The diminution of production has been general in all kinds of material, with the exception of rough building stone, which shows gross production for 1915 valued at $267,450, or nearly three times what it was the previous year; this is accounted for by the use of several thousand tons of large granite blocks for the Government piers at the Outer Wharf, Victoria. The outputs of sand and gravel and of brick show heavy decreases, and the cement production is only about one-half what it was in 1914. As far as can be learned, none of the gypsum companies or marble quarries made any appreciable output.

"For the past year, although the statistical returns are not as complete as desired, a production of about $1,571,181 is accounted for. Approximately 87 per cent of this output comes from the Coast district, and the larger part of this finds its market in the Coast cities."

"WHY WOMEN CANNOT SLEEP."

The highly organized, finely strung nervous system of women subjects them to terrors of nervous apprehension which no man can ever appreciate.

The peace of mind, the mental poise and calmness under difficulties, which are necessary for happy womanhood, are only possible when the sensitive organism is in a perfectly healthy condition. If there be any derangement in this respect no remedy in the world so completely restores womanly health as the wonderful "Favorite Prescription" invented by Dr. R. V. Pierce.

Chatham, Ont.—"A few years ago I suffered a general break-down and got very weak and thin. I was in an awful state. I was very much discouraged and at times thought I would lose my mind. I knew of Dr. Pierce's medicines so I got his 'Favorite Prescription.' It gave me immediate relief, and completely cured me in a very short time. My sister used it with good results also. She was in a very delicate condition. I got her to take it and two bottles cured her completely.

"I take great pleasure in recommending Dr. Pierce's medicines; they are all that is recommended of them."—Mrs. Margaret Bryant, 57 Park Ave., Chatham, Ont.

WANTED Rags!

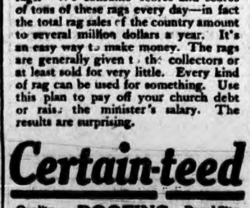

Millions of dollars' worth of Rags collected annually

The General says:

My output of Certain-teed Roofing has grown to such enormous proportions that I am having difficulty in getting enough rags of good grade to supply this demand.

I also need a lot of rags of lower grade for making my standard quality roofing and also a still lower grade for making my Competition quality roofing.

I will pay the best market price for roofing rags anywhere in any quantity. If they can be shipped in carload quantities and in assorted grades, we can have them shipped direct to any of our big mills, but if in smaller quantities or unassorted, we will arrange with one of our packers or assorters near you, to buy your rags and prepare them for our use in the different grades.

Churches, Societies, Charitable Institutions and others are making good revenue by collecting all kinds of old rags. We consume scores and scores of tons of these rags every day—in fact the total rag sales of the country amount to several million dollars a year. It's an easy way to make money. The rags are generally given to the collectors or at least sold for very little. Every kind of rag can be used for something. Use this plan to pay off your church debt or raise the minister's salary. The results are surprising.

BRAVO, CANADIANS! IS BANQUET'S THEME

"Bravo, Canadians!" was the toast of toasts at the annual dinner of the Worshipful Company of Gardeners in the historic Bakers' Hall in the heart of the ancient square mile which constitutes the City of London, held on June 14. The "Gardeners" are one of London's celebrated guilds. They look back upon some six hundred odd years of existence and their feasts are Empire-famed. This year the honor of presiding was conferred upon Mr. William Perkins Bull, K. C., of Canada, and, as if by the special dispensation of fate, the day of the dinner was the very day when Great Britain was ringing with praise for the fresh glory brought to British arms by the Canadian troops in Flanders—the recovery of 1,500 yards of trenches captured round Ypres a few days previous by the Germans. "Bravo, Canadians!" was the sentiment on the lips of all London on the day, and it was appropriately the thought uppermost in the minds of the "Gardeners" and their guests during the evening. The Canadians were "over everything" round Sanctuary Wood and Maple Copse and Canada was "uber Alles" in Bakers' Hall.

As representatively Imperial a gathering as has assembled at a public dinner during the war gathered round the Gardeners' board under Mr. Bull's chairmanship. On his right sat the Lord Mayor of London, Colonel Sir Charles Wakefield, back only a few hours from a visit to the British front; Surgeon-General Carleton Jones, of the Canadian army; Sir John Ure Primrose, Bart.; Sir Richard McBride, of British Columbia, and Sir John Taverner, of Victoria. The dining company was of a distinctly khaki hue, many British officers being present in uniform, with Canadians prominent among them. The new Master of the Gardeners' Company, Captain B. Hansford, C. B., who has recently been decorated by the King for eminent service in recruiting, sat on the chairman's left. Many well-known Canadians were there; Mr. George McLaren Brown, of the Canadian Pacific Railway (at the table d'honeur); Major D. A. Clark, M. D.; Lieut.-Col. A. T. Shillington, M. D.; Major C. E. Doherty, M. D.; Mr. F. D. Benjamin, Mr. John T. Ryan, Lieut.-Col. John McCombe, Capt. Jeffrey Bull, Capt. Richard Parsons, M. D., Mr. William Phillips, Lieut. R. B. Duggan, Major Donald, Capt. W. L. Gibson, Mr. T. W. Goulding, Major G. W. Badgerow, M. D., Mr. Charles Cambie and Mr. T. R. Whitley.

Back of the chairman's seat, as a splendid mural decoration, the Imperial and Canadian colors were entwined, while between them hung The Evening News news-bill of the day, reading "Bravo, Canadians!" and bearing in the middle the maple leaf. Others well known in London political and commercial life, who were among the guests of honor, were Sir Richard Cooper, Bart., M. P.; Lieut. H. R. Cripps, Alderman and Sheriff Touche of the City of London, Sheriff Shead of London, Canon Masterman, M. A., the Mayor of Shoreditch, George R. Sims and A. C. Probyn Williams.

Historic Function

Mr. Bull opened post-prandial proceedings after a typically Lucullan "Gardeners'" feast with an expression of his pride, as a Canadian, in being privileged to preside over one of London City's historic functions. The time had come when it was absurd to speak of "outposts of the Empire" or of "the ramotest corners of the Empire." The Empire was a circle, and the City of London was that point within the great Imperial circle from which every colony was equidistant. The Empire must begin after the war to think more of herself and less of the foreigner and his interests. The Empire could feed itself and British statesmanship had no greater duty before it than to proceed now and in the most comprehensive manner to take steps to that end. He told of the old German resident of Winnipeg who decided to have a local "old master" immortalize the German's ancestors in oils. The painter having done so on the strength of a verbal description furnished by the Teuton, the latter, when the masterpiece was finished, remarked: "Dot vos der old man all right, but mein Gott, how he has changed!" The Germans of Germany would be "changed" even more, said the speaker, when the British armies and their gallant Allies had finished with them. After proposing the toast of His Majesty King George, the chairman called upon the Lord Mayor of London, Sir Charles Wakefield, to proceed to deliver a wonderfully graphic and moving little speech recounting his experiences at the front less than seventy-two hours previous.

Bravo, Canadians!

"I watched nine battalions of London City volunteers at a church parade on Sunday and then attended divine service in the field. The chaplain's text was: 'Fight the good fight with all thy might.' Our men are doing that." (Then, turning to The Evening News' placard at his back, the Lord Mayor continued): "Yes, Bravo, Canadians! Bravo, Australians! Bravo, Britons all! I wish those of us condemned to stay at home might look, as I looked, into the faces of our intrepid lads in Flanders and France—wherever they come from, whether London, Canada, Australia, Ireland, Scotland or New Zealand—and see in those faces the unmistakable look of radiant confidence, the joyous spirit of sacrifice, the indomitable resolve to 'stick it' at whatever cost and however long the work in hand requires. I saw a detachment of 200 men, London men, at the church parade. They looked a smallish group compared to others standing near them. 'That was a full London regiment a fortnight ago,' said the officer in command. 'That's all that's left after two weeks' fighting.' These men, my friends, have gone through hell. They are willing, those left to tell the tale, to go through it again, and again, and again. With men of such fibre and such resolve, I feel our cause is safe. Naturally I was proud to be face to face with London City boys—some of whom spoke to me and rejoiced my heart by remembering that they had come forward and enlisted at the Mansion House in response to personal appeals from myself. Happy I was to be assured by old officers of our regular army that these London clerks and artisans and merchants and brokers have been turned by the melting-pot of field-service into 'lion-hearted warriors of the best kind.'"

Empire Patriots

Surgeon-General Carleton Jones was loudly cheered when he rose to reply to the toast of the Imperial Forces. He was proud, he began, to be able to claim that he belonged to a family entitled by Act of the British Parliament to call themselves British Empire Patriots—the families numbering altogether some 30,000 souls who had remained loyal to their Mother Country at the time of the American Revolution, and, emigrating to the North, had laid the foundations of the Dominion of Canada of today. Canada was doing her bit for the Allied cause and for the overthrow of the hated enemy, for he is a hated enemy. He was pleased to think that among the outstanding results of the Great War would be an inevitable drawing together of all the far-flung elements of the Empire. There must be a complete regeneration of the status of the 'Colonists'—a term which, the speaker emphasized, they do not like. They had courageously and enthusiastically taken their part in the preservation of the Empire in war. They felt they had a right to participate in the promotion of the Empire's weal in peace. Their aspiration ran in but one direction—to enhance according to their powers the might of the common nation of which they were a part and parcel.

Imperial sentiments of the same rugged sort were then expressed by Sir John Taverner, K. C. M. G. Australians, like Canadians, justifiably anticipated the hour when Great Britain would call the men of the Colonies into the Imperial Council chamber, not as a war measure, but as a permanent peace-time practice.

The chairman then called upon Mr. Frederic William Wile of The London Daily Mail staff, for ten years correspondent of that journal and The New York Times in Berlin. "An hour after war broke out with England," said Mr. Bull, "the Kaiser gave this order: 'Put Frederic William Wile into gaol!' He wrote 'Men Around the Kaiser' and he represents The Daily Mail; that's enough!" Mr. Wile, who is an American (a native of Indiana), said he was one of these well-known "neutrals" whose impartiality was of the sort which didn't care how Germany was licked, as long as the licking was "good and quick." He believed with Mr. Roosevelt that the U. S. A. "belonged in the war alongside the nations which were shedding their life-blood in order that right, not might, should be enthroned as the ruling force in the world's affairs." Mr. Wile aroused his hearers' enthusiasm with an urgent appeal for strong and farsighted measures to break for ever the lucrative hold the German trader had so long enjoyed on Britain's "super-generous open markets." He knew from his day by day reading of the German press that the Germans were mobilizing for "the war after the war," and that nothing but prompt counter-measures in this country would enable Britain to face the "coming war" with prospects of success.

Proceedings came to a close with a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Bull for presiding over so successful a dinner. In acknowledging the vote, Mr. Bull referred briefly to the honor the Lord Mayor of London had done him in creating him a freeman of the city and in promising to open the Canadian Military Hospital which Mr. Bull has recently established near his home in Putney.

Alkali Makes Soap Bad for Washing Hair

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain unlaified cocoanut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats the most expensive soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.
